Two Chinese Killed And Five Wounded In Second Breakout

Indian Spokesman Says Order Is Restored at Compounds in Panmunjom

Panmunjom, Oct. 2 (AP)—Indian guards armed with guns and clubs today killed two Chinese prisoners and wounded five others in the second mass breakout attempt in two days by restive anti-Communist war prisoners.

The Indians yesterday quelled with guns a riot of North Koreans who refused to return home, killing one and wounding five.

Casulties in two days of violence—the first time blood has been shed since the Indians took custody—total three dead and 10 wounded, the Indian command announced.

An Indian spokesman said order had been restored at the compounds five miles southwest of Panmunjom in the demilitarized zone. The outbreak lasted only a few minutes.

Other Developments

The other developments:

1. The UN command formally protested that the neutral nations repatriation commission favored the Communists in drawing up rules of procedure for explanations to prisoners by agents from their homelands.

2. The repatriation Commission paved the way for the twice delayed interviews to begin—possibly by Monday, one Indian source said—by selecitng sites for rebuilding explanation centers. Both the UN command and the Communists had protested the original facilities.

3. Five North Koreans who told the commission they had changed their minds and wanted to return to communism were handed over to the Reds. More than 100 of the 22,600 reluctant POWs have returned to Communist control since the end of Operation Big Switch.

Return Is Demanded

An Indian spokesman said Friday's riot was touched off when five hospitalized POWs demanded that another prisoner, taken to the hospital after attempting suicide, be returned to the compound.

The Indians refused. The five prisoners rushed out of the hospital and shouted to a compound housing 500 men. The others took

Board of Inquiry to Meet Saturday; Union to Obey Its Orders

New York, Oct. 2 (AP)—Striking longshoremen marked time today in major east coast ports pending an expected early end to the costly walkout via Taft-Hartley Act machinery.

After President Eisenhower invoked the labor law at midday yesterday and appointed a three-man inquiry board to report by Monday midnight, observers were optimistic that the struck ports would reopen by next Tuesday or Wednesday.

The board will hold its first meeting here tomorrow.

Appointed by the President to the board of inquiry were David L. Cole, former director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service; Dr. Harry R. Carman, dean emeritus of Columbia College, and the Rev. Dennis J. Comey, Philadelphia "waterfront priest" who founded and directs the St. Joseph College of Industrial Relations.

His Firse Use of Law

It was the first time Eisenhower invoked the emergency provision of the Taft-Hartliey Act since he took office.

President Truman used the law's labor injunction 10 times, including once in 1948 against the ILA.

The crippling strike started at midnight Wednesday, with all but military shipping idled from Portland, Maine, to Hampton Roads, Va.

The striking union, the International Longshoremen's Association, says it will abide by any formal no-strike order—a federal injunction sending dockers back to work during an 80-day cooling off period.

Picketing by the ILA, ousted from the AFL for failing to rid its ranks of racketeers, was orderly yesterday. Police, fully mobilized to cope with possible violence along the sprawling New York-New Jersey waterfront, had little to do.

One Aspect Unsolved

But one volcanic aspect of the situation remained unresolved: The new union, ILA-AFL, is keeping hands off in the strikebound ports. However, its membership drive continues unabated, and friction is expected to increase between the rival unions even though a strike truce is declared.

The old ILA struck against the

Warning Is Given on Full School

Superintendent Laidlaw Advises Study Now on Overcrowding at KHS by 1960 Date

Superintendent Arthur J. Laidlaw told the Kingston Board of Education last night that Kingston High School would face a critical registration problem about 1960 and suggested that some thought be given to its solution.

He pointed out that total registration in the city's public schools as of last Monday was 5,376 compared to 5,148 on the same day last year, an increase of 4.4 per cent.

The heaviest concentration is in the first and second grades, he told the board. Registration of pupils in the first grade is 140 more than last year, an increase of 35 per cent, and in the second grade it is more than 100 higher than last year, an increase of 30 per cent.

These are the grades which will reach the high school level about 1960.

Laidlaw pointed out that the Myron J. Michael School had increased from 701 to 781, which was 13 per cent higher than last year.

Warns on Overcrowding

This is a problem the board of education should be planning for, he said. He explained that some schools on Long Island were running three classes a day and that many others were running two a day.

Laidlaw said the increase was largely a "fringe area problem," that outlying areas were sending more and more children into city schools. This applies to situations like Leavittown, he said, which now houses about 70,000 people, and also to Kingston. He said he even anticipated state legislation directed toward the solution of the fringe problem.

To Attend Meeting

It was announced that President Clarence S. Rowland, Mrs. Vincent Connelly and Attorney Louis Bruhn of the board would attend a meeting of the New York State School Boards Association in Syracuse on October 25, 26 and 27. Bruhn is the voting delegate.

The probationary appointment of Marguerite Norman as a substitute teacher in the elementary schools at a salary of $3,000 was approved by the board. She has a BS degree from Albany State Teachers College and several years teaching experience in schools in Albany and Ulster county.

The board granted an application by Marion Z. Meyers for a leave of absence for the school year 1953-54 because of illness.

It approved a request by Hubert Hoderath to attend the New York State Vocational Education Conference at Lake Placid October 11-14 and requests from Principal Theron Culver of the high school and Principal M. Clifford Miller of the Myron J. Michael School to attend the principals conference of the State Education Department in Albany on October 8 and 9.

To Purchase Truck

The board also approved the purchase from Kingston Truck Sales and Service of one truck at a cost of $2,600 less $800 allowance on a 1947 Power Wagon.

A contract for the printing of 450 school directories was awarded to The Leader Company which submitted a bid of $67.

A communication was received from the state bureau of apportionment advising the board that a check for $221,225 had been forwarded to the Ulster county treasurer, representing an estimated one quarter of the total apportionment of public money to

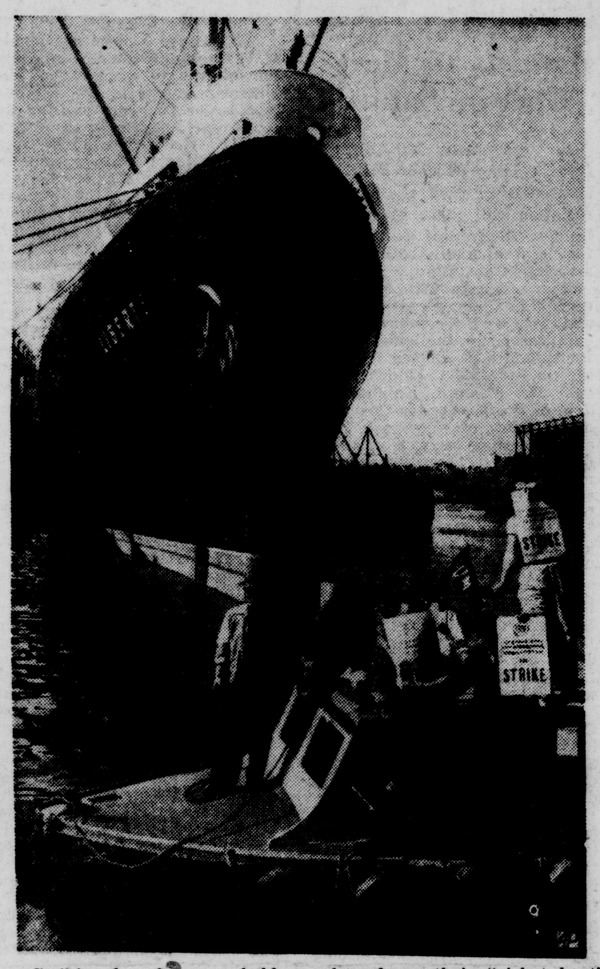
Board Regrets Highland Move

Pickets Cover Waterfront



Striking longshoremen hold up placards as their "picket boat" moves in front of liner Liberte in her New York pier Oct. 1. Motorboat, carrying members of the International Longshoremen's Association, which was expelled by AFL, rode the waterfront as their picket line. The Liberte docked in the morning without the aid of tugboats as the East Coast was paralyzed by the striking longshoremen.

Rules Made For Conduct At Contests

No Official Notice Is Received Prior to Session; All Bottles Prohibited

The Kingston Board of Education adopted a resolution last night expressing regret that Highland Central School authorities had taken action to sever athletic relations between the two schools and incorporating a set of rules to govern students and spectators at future contests.

The board took action after receiving a report concerning events which occurred last Friday night at municipal stadium from Chairman William Rylance of the physical education committee.

The board stated in the resolution that it felt it would be "unfair to indict the large majority of the students of the high school who behaved themselves properly for the actions of a small few who misbehaved."

No Highland Notice

It pointed out further that at the time of the meeting last night it had received no official notice from Highland Central School of the "severance of relations" with Kingston High School but had seen a newspaper report that such action had been taken. The story, which appeared in The Freeman Wednesday, carried a statement by Supervising Principal William Yates of Highland Central that the board of education had acted at a special meeting Tuesday evening "to discontinue athletic relations with Kingston High School effective immediately."

The local board recommended in its resolution that police protection be furnished by the city at all future athletic contests of Kingston High School held at the municipal stadium "to avert any similar occurrence in the future."

Rests on Parents

The resolution pointed out that it felt the problem rested not only with the board "but on every parent in the city, the police department, the churches and the courts. The board hopes that the above agencies will cooperate with them in assuring proper conduct by the spectators as well as the students at any future contest."

Incorporated in the resolution were these rules:

That no soda be served in the stands except in paper cups, that no soda be taken from the refreshment stand in bottles and that no bottles of any kind be brought into the stadium by spectators or students.

Must Stay in Stands

That students are to remain in the stands during the time when the athletic contests are actually in progress and, with respect to football, are to be permitted out of the stands only during half time intermission.

That student marshals are to be continued "in view of the fine job they have done in the past and particularly that done at Friday night's contest in keeping the students and spectators from the playing area of the field."

That anyone whose conduct is offensive, or whose language is abusive or profane, will be removed from the stadium.

That anyone found in the stadium with a bottle in his possession will be requested to dispose of the same or remove himself from the stadium.

To Give Students Data

That the rules "insofar as they apply to students should be made known to them at a general assembly."

"The board feels that if the above rules are enforced that in all probability there will be no repitition of the occurence that took place at the last game."

The physical education committee is composed of Rlyance, Attorney Louis Bruhn and Richard Kalish.

It was announced that two high school boys suspended as a result of events at the stadium Friday night would be given an opportunity to appear before the committee at a special meeting at 8 a. m. Monday, Oct. 5. The committee will meet at that time with Principal Theron Culver. The boys will be notified that they should appear with a parent and that other members of the family may attend if they desire.

The suspension of the two boys "has had a terrific effect on the student body," President Clarence S. Rowland remarked.

Park Woodlands Closed to Public

Bear Mountain, Oct. 2 (AP)—The woodland area of the Palisades Interstate Park system in New York state was closed to the public beginning last night.

Park police said the action was taken after two fires broke out late yesterday, one in the Harriman State Park, near Tuxedo Park, and the other on the grounds of the U. S. Military Academy, near Fort Montgomery.

The supervised playground areas and the communication lanes of the park system will remain open.

Registration Set Next Wednesday For Night School

Registration for the night school sponsored by the Kingston Board of Education will take place Wednesday, Oct. 7, at 7:30 o'clock in the high school building, it was announced today by Hubert Hoderath, director of the adult education program.

As in former years, classes will be formed provided qualified teachers are available and if there is an attendance of from 12 to 15 interested persons.

Begin Monday, Oct. 19

Hoderath pointed out today that practically all of the newly-formed classes will get underway Monday night, Oct. 19. He also advised that students enrolled in the regular day schools will not be enrolled for the evening courses.

In past years, Hoderath said, the following courses have been taught:

Academic Field — English, public speaking, Spanish, social studies, physics, chemistry, algebra, geometry, trigonometry and parliamentary procedures.

Child study — The Pre-School Child and child psychology.

Business—Bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, business arithmetic and business machine operation.

Hobbies—Art work, dramatics, woodwork, sewing, art metal work, weaving, ceramics and the making of hooked rugs.

Vocational — Auto-mechanics, electrical work, machine shop practice, toolmaking, mechanical drawing, blueprint reading, sewing, food preparation and garment machine operation.

Americanization — English, American History and government.

Hoderath also said today that there has been some interest shown in the formation of a class in photography. "Persons interested in this activity and others as well are requested to register next Wednesday night so that the authorities may determine if enough persons are vitally interested to form such classes."

Another possible class to be formed, it was said, is in the care and repair of farm machinery.

A small registration fee will be collected.

Badia Gets 18 Years

Pensacola, Fla., Oct. 2 (AP)—A Circuit Court jury convicted Charles Richard Della Badia, 18, White Plains, N. Y., on kidnaping and robbery charges last night after deliberating an hour and 45 minutes. Judge D. Stuart Gillis sentenced him to 18 years in prison. Ten years of the sentence will run concurrently with a 10-year sentence imposed last week after he was convicted of being an accessory to rape of a 23-year-old Pensacola divorcee. Della Badia, an ex-marine, was charged with two others in the kidnaping and armed robbery of Dan Adams, a Saufley Field sailor, last June. Adams was the companion of the raped woman. Two other men were convicted last week on rape charges.

Wicks' Elevation Was Precedent in Executive Branch

Senate Secretary King Speaks Briefly at Ceremonies at Capitol

Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston took the oath as New York state's 59th lieutenant governor at a ceremony attended by a small group of persons at the lieutenant governor's office in Albany at noon Thursday.

The oath was administered by Sydney F. Foster, presiding justice of the state Supreme Court, Appellate Division, Third Department.

Senator Wicks, as temporary president of the Senate, assumed the duties and responsibilities of lieutenant governor on the resignation on Wednesday of Lt. Gov. Frank C. Moore. The move was automatic, under provisions of the state Constitution.

In a brief address preceding the swearing in ceremony, William S. King, secretary of the Senate, pointed out that the ceremony was a precedent-setting one.

Only Second Time

"The resignation of Governor Moore yesterday marked only the second time such an event had occurred in the 177 years New York state has had a lieutenant governor," King said. "On the first such occasion, when Addison Gardner of Rochester resigned to become a member of the Court of Appeals in 1847, his successor was elected under special legislation enacted that year.

"In taking the oath of office today, Senator Wicks becomes the 59th lieutenant governor in the history of the state. Although the present governor, Thomas E. Dewey, is the 47th governor of the state, 58 men have held the office of lieutenant governor.

"It is of historic interest that the new lieutenant governor is a resident of Kingston, the first capital of the Empire State, where the oldest public building in America—the Senate House, built in 1676—still stands."

Oath Is Taken

Following King's remarks, Lt. Gov. Wicks took the following oath:

"I do solemnly swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States, the Constitution of the State of New York, and that I will faithfully perform all the duties of the Lieutenant Governor, including the duty of acting as Governor when necessary, during the present vacancy in the office of Lieutenant Governor, according to the best of my ability."

Lt. Gov. Wicks will continue to serve as temporary president and majority leader of the Senate, along with filling state's No. 2 post. He has been a member of the Senate for 28 years, and represents the 34th District, comprising Ulster, Greene, Sullivan and Delaware counties.

Motion Is Denied

Albany, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Appellate Division today unanimously denied a defense motion to dismiss the conspiracy indictment against James A. Leary, Saratoga county Republican boss. The court also denied "in all respects" defense motions to: 1. Hold separate trials on conspiracy and perjury indictments against Leary. 2. Be permitted to inspect the minutes of the special Saratoga grand jury proceedings. 3. Obtain a bill of particulars to enable Leary's counsel to prepare his defense.

Dies After Fall

Middletown, Oct. 2 (AP)—A fall from a 60-foot cliff at Rio Dosa, N. M., proved fatal to John Williams, 15, of Mount Hope, while he was on a vacation trip, friends reported today. They said the youth fell Wednesday and died of his injuries today in an El Paso, Tex., hospital.

Lt. Gov. Wicks Saw Fay to Keep Work Going in Area, He Says

Acting Lt. Gov. Arthur H. Wicks said today he had conferred four or five times with convicted labor extortionist Joseph S. (Joey) Fay in Sing Sing prison in an effort to prevent strikes in his senatorial district, because he was interested in uninterrupted work for the people of his district.

Wicks, who is Senate Republican majority leader, was sworn in as acting lieutenant governor only yesterday to succeed Lt. Gov. Frank Moore, who resigned.

"That's right," Wicks told the Associated Press when asked about a published report (in the New York Journal American) that he had visited the notorious Fay.

Not With Raceway

Wicks declared emphatically that his talks with Fay dealt only with labor matters and never with the scandal-ridden Yonkers Raceway or with any other race track.

"I visited Fay on several occasions with relation to labor situations in my district, because I thought Fay would be helpful," said Wicks.

Millions in Projects

"We have millions of dollars worth of projects there, the Delaware water project and the thruway and so on."

To a question as to how he thought Fay might be helpful, Wicks said he thought Fay possibly had enough influence, even from behind prison bars, to quell jurisdictional disputes.

"When a jurisdictional dispute arose, I would ask him if he could help." Wicks said. "He would

Columbia Sheriff Mismanaged Job, State Unit Says

Correction Bureau Sees No Offenses Enough to Warrant Any Indictment

Hudson, Oct. 2 (AP)—There is ample ground to suspect that Sheriff Milton V. Saulpaugh "grossly" mismanaged the Columbia county jail, the State Correction Department says.

But the department says its legal adviser feels there is not encugh evidence to warrant any indictment.

The department report, issued yesterday, dealt largely with food purchases.

The study was based on testimony of Saulpaugh, some of his aides and several food merchants in connection with the state-ordered probe of vice and crime in Columbia county.

The report recommended six changes in the keeping of inventories and reports by the jail's chef. It said "necessary measures" should be taken unless Saulpaugh had them carried out within 30 days.

Released by Carlin

The report was released by Raphael F. Carlin, chief counsel to Paul W. Williams, special prosecutor for the probe.

It concluded: "Although there is ample ground to suspect grossly negligent management, and even pilfering, the latter on an apparently small scale, still Mr. Carlin's legal opinion was that

Committee Says Start Toward Span Is Progressing Well

Four From Chamber Talk With Loughran, Who Says East Road Plans Ready

A Chamber of Commerce committee reported today following a meeting with James F. Loughran, chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority, that "satisfactory progress is being made" toward starting construction of the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge.

The committee composed of Adrain Kaplan, Chamber of Commerce president; J. Ellis Briggs, George W. Schneider and Lawrence J. MacAvery, conferred with Loughran in the authority's office at 22 Ferry street.

Details of the project, as outlined at the session were not revealed, but Loughran told a Freeman reporter later that plans have been completed for the clearing and rough grading of the eastern approach.

The next steps are the advertising for bids and awarding of contract, but no tentative dates for these were given. Loughran also said he explained "all points pertinent" to plans and progress and that the committee appeared to be satisfied.

Clearing and rough grading for the eastern approach which will extend from Route 32 in the Flatbush area to the Hudson river started during the summer.

Quartet Returns From 2,200-Mile Trip

These four sun-tanned young people, after completing a 16-week 2,200-mile horse-back jaunt from Austin, Texas, pitched camp near West Shokan last night. Completing the long saddle trip were (l-r) Cayla Hitzig, Nini Galpin, Rupert Hitzig and Bruce Whiteley. The group was scheduled to receive a big welcome ovation today at the Hitzig farm in Bearsville. (Freeman Photo)

After 16 Weeks in Saddle, 'Cowpokes' Camp in County

Four young folk pitched camp near West Shokan last night after 2,200 miles and 16 weeks in the saddle.

They looked sun-tanned, hale and hearty, but they'd had enough horse-back riding.

"School?" said Rupert Hitzig, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hitzig of Bearsville, in reply to a question, "it'll be a vacation to get back!"

Making the trip, which began June 15 in Austin, Tex., were Rupert and his sister, Cayla, 17, Nini Galpin, 23, and Bruce Whiteley, 16. Miss Galpin is the daughter of Cdr. and Mrs. George L. Walling, now residing in London where Cdr. Walling is stationed, and Bruce is the son of Mrs. Karin Whiteley of New York, now visiting in Woodstock.

An official welcome is planned at noon today at the Hitzig farm.

After four hours of scouring the brush in two counties a photographer and a reporter from The Freeman caught up with the four jeans-wearing cowpokes on the Peekamoose road at Watson Hollow as they neared West Shokan just before the sun went down.

Cayla estimated they had averaged roughly 35 or 40 miles a day since leaving Austin. Eight horses were reduced to seven somewhere along the way when one went lame.

Yes, she had been keeping a

Two Chinese Killed And Five Wounded In Second Breakout

Indian Spokesman Says Order Is Restored at Compounds in Panmunjom

Panmunjom, Oct. 2 (AP)—Indian guards armed with guns and clubs today killed two Chinese prisoners and wounded five others in the second mass breakout attempt in two days by restive anti-Communist war prisoners.

The Indians yesterday quelled with guns a riot of North Koreans who refused to return home, killing one and wounding five.

Casulties in two days of violence—the first time blood has been shed since the Indians took custody—total three dead and 10 wounded, the Indian command announced.

An Indian spokesman said order had been restored at the compounds five miles southwest of Panmunjom in the demilitarized zone. The outbreak lasted only a few minutes.

Other Developments

The other developments:

1. The UN command formally protested that the neutral nations repatriation commission favored the Communists in drawing up rules of procedure for explanations to prisoners by agents from their homelands.

2. The repatriation Commission paved the way for the twice delayed interviews to begin—possibly by Monday, one Indian source said—by selecitng sites for rebuilding explanation centers. Both the UN command and the Communists had protested the original facilities.

3. Five North Koreans who told the commission they had changed their minds and wanted to return to communism were handed over to the Reds. More than 100 of the 22,600 reluctant POWs have returned to Communist control since the end of Operation Big Switch.

Return Is Demanded

An Indian spokesman said Friday's riot was touched off when five hospitalized POWs demanded that another prisoner, taken to the hospital after attempting suicide, be returned to the compound.

The Indians refused. The five prisoners rushed out of the hospital and shouted to a compound housing 500 men. The others took

Board of Inquiry to Meet Saturday; Union to Obey Its Orders

New York, Oct. 2 (AP)—Striking longshoremen marked time today in major east coast ports pending an expected early end to the costly walkout via Taft-Hartley Act machinery.

After President Eisenhower invoked the labor law at midday yesterday and appointed a three-man inquiry board to report by Monday midnight, observers were optimistic that the struck ports would reopen by next Tuesday or Wednesday.

The board will hold its first meeting here tomorrow.

Appointed by the President to the board of inquiry were David L. Cole, former director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service; Dr. Harry R. Carman, dean emeritus of Columbia College, and the Rev. Dennis J. Comey, Philadelphia "waterfront priest" who founded and directs the St. Joseph College of Industrial Relations.

His Firse Use of Law

It was the first time Eisenhower invoked the emergency provision of the Taft-Hartliey Act since he took office.

President Truman used the law's labor injunction 10 times, including once in 1948 against the ILA.

The crippling strike started at midnight Wednesday, with all but military shipping idled from Portland, Maine, to Hampton Roads, Va.

The striking union, the International Longshoremen's Association, says it will abide by any formal no-strike order—a federal injunction sending dockers back to work during an 80-day cooling off period.

Picketing by the ILA, ousted from the AFL for failing to rid its ranks of racketeers, was orderly yesterday. Police, fully mobilized to cope with possible violence along the sprawling New York-New Jersey waterfront, had little to do.

One Aspect Unsolved

But one volcanic aspect of the situation remained unresolved: The new union, ILA-AFL, is keeping hands off in the strikebound ports. However, its membership drive continues unabated, and friction is expected to increase between the rival unions even though a strike truce is declared.

The old ILA struck against the

"I visited Fay on several occasions with relation to labor situations in my district, because I thought Fay would be helpful," said Wicks.

Millions in Projects

"We have millions of dollars worth of projects there, the Delaware water project and the thruway and so on."

To a question as to how he thought Fay might be helpful, Wicks said he thought Fay possibly had enough influence, even from behind prison bars, to quell jurisdictional disputes.

"When a jurisdictional dispute arose, I would ask him if he could help." Wicks said. "He would

Superintendent Laidlaw Advises Study Now on Overcrowding at KHS by 1960 Date

Superintendent Arthur J. Laidlaw told the Kingston Board of Education last night that Kingston High School would face a critical registration problem about 1960 and suggested that some thought be given to its solution.

He pointed out that total registration in the city's public schools as of last Monday was 5,376 compared to 5,148 on the same day last year, an increase of 4.4 per cent.

The heaviest concentration is in the first and second grades, he told the board. Registration of pupils in the first grade is 140 more than last year, an increase of 35 per cent, and in the second grade it is more than 100 higher than last year, an increase of 30 per cent.

These are the grades which will reach the high school level about 1960.

Laidlaw pointed out that the Myron J. Michael School had increased from 701 to 781, which was 13 per cent higher than last year.

Warns on Overcrowding

This is a problem the board of education should be planning for, he said. He explained that some schools on Long Island were running three classes a day and that many others were running two a day.

Laidlaw said the increase was largely a "fringe area problem," that outlying areas were sending more and more children into city schools. This applies to situations like Leavittown, he said, which now houses about 70,000 people, and also to Kingston. He said he even anticipated state legislation directed toward the solution of the fringe problem.

To Attend Meeting

It was announced that President Clarence S. Rowland, Mrs. Vincent Connelly and Attorney Louis Bruhn of the board would attend a meeting of the New York State School Boards Association in Syracuse on October 25, 26 and 27. Bruhn is the voting delegate.

The probationary appointment of Marguerite Norman as a substitute teacher in the elementary schools at a salary of $3,000 was approved by the board. She has a BS degree from Albany State Teachers College and several years teaching experience in schools in Albany and Ulster county.

The board granted an application by Marion Z. Meyers for a leave of absence for the school year 1953-54 because of illness.

It approved a request by Hubert Hoderath to attend the New York State Vocational Education Conference at Lake Placid October 11-14 and requests from Principal Theron Culver of the high school and Principal M. Clifford Miller of the Myron J. Michael School to attend the principals conference of the State Education Department in Albany on October 8 and 9.

To Purchase Truck

The board also approved the purchase from Kingston Truck Sales and Service of one truck at a cost of $2,600 less $800 allowance on a 1947 Power Wagon.

A contract for the printing of 450 school directories was awarded to The Leader Company which submitted a bid of $67.

A communication was received from the state bureau of apportionment advising the board that a check for $221,225 had been forwarded to the Ulster county treasurer, representing an estimated one quarter of the total apportionment of public money to

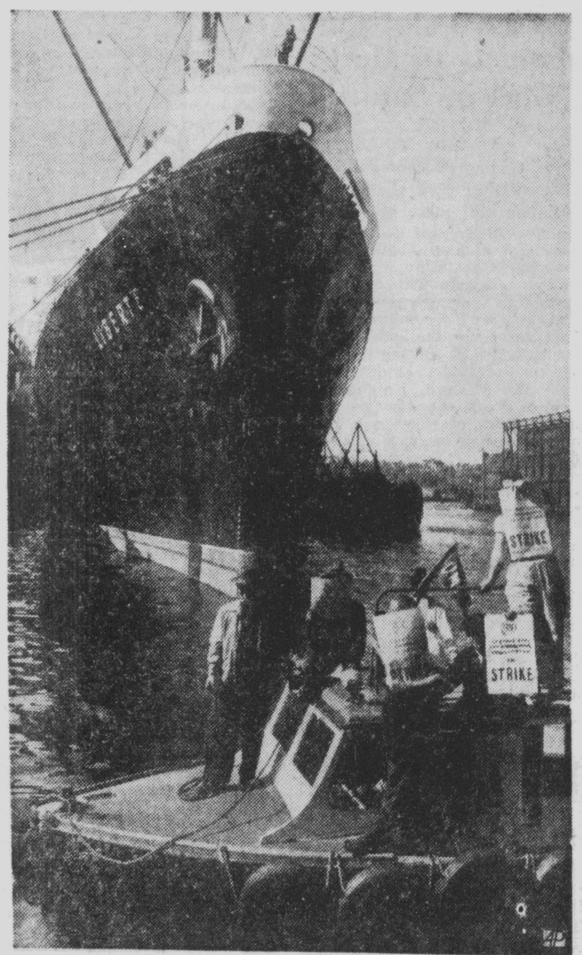
These four sun-tanned young people, after completing a 16-week 2,200-mile horse-back jaunt from Austin, Texas, pitched camp near West Shokan last night. Completing the long saddle trip were (l-r) Cayla Hitzig, Nini Galpin, Rupert Hitzig and Bruce Whiteley. The group was scheduled to receive a big welcome ovation today at the Hitzig farm in Bearsville. (Freeman Photo)

Board Regrets Highland Move

Pickets Cover Waterfront



Striking longshoremen hold up placards as their "picket boat" moves in front of liner Liberte in her New York pier Oct. 1. Motorboat, carrying members of the International Longshoremen's Association, which was expelled by AFL, rode the waterfront as their picket line. The Liberte docked in the morning without the aid of tugboats as the East Coast was paralyzed by the striking longshoremen.

Columbia Sheriff Mismanaged Job, State Unit Says

Correction Bureau Sees No Offenses Enough to Warrant Any Indictment

Hudson, Oct. 2 (AP)—There is ample ground to suspect that Sheriff Milton V. Saulpaugh "grossly" mismanaged the Columbia county jail, the State Correction Department says.

But the department says its legal adviser feels there is not encugh evidence to warrant any indictment.

The department report, issued yesterday, dealt largely with food purchases.

The study was based on testimony of Saulpaugh, some of his aides and several food merchants in connection with the state-ordered probe of vice and crime in Columbia county.

The report recommended six changes in the keeping of inventories and reports by the jail's chef. It said "necessary measures" should be taken unless Saulpaugh had them carried out within 30 days.

Released by Carlin

The report was released by Raphael F. Carlin, chief counsel to Paul W. Williams, special prosecutor for the probe.

It concluded: "Although there is ample ground to suspect grossly negligent management, and even pilfering, the latter on an apparently small scale, still Mr. Carlin's legal opinion was that

Committee Says Start Toward Span Is Progressing Well

Four From Chamber Talk With Loughran, Who Says East Road Plans Ready

A Chamber of Commerce committee reported today following a meeting with James F. Loughran, chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority, that "satisfactory progress is being made" toward starting construction of the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge.

The committee composed of Adrain Kaplan, Chamber of Commerce president; J. Ellis Briggs, George W. Schneider and Lawrence J. MacAvery, conferred with Loughran in the authority's office at 22 Ferry street.

Details of the project, as outlined at the session were not revealed, but Loughran told a Freeman reporter later that plans have been completed for the clearing and rough grading of the eastern approach.

The next steps are the advertising for bids and awarding of contract, but no tentative dates for these were given. Loughran also said he explained "all points pertinent" to plans and progress and that the committee appeared to be satisfied.

Clearing and rough grading for the eastern approach which will extend from Route 32 in the Flatbush area to the Hudson river started during the summer.

After 16 Weeks in Saddle, 'Cowpokes' Camp in County

Four young folk pitched camp near West Shokan last night after 2,200 miles and 16 weeks in the saddle.

They looked sun-tanned, hale and hearty, but they'd had enough horse-back riding.

"School?" said Rupert Hitzig, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hitzig of Bearsville, in reply to a question, "it'll be a vacation to get back!"

Making the trip, which began June 15 in Austin, Tex., were Rupert and his sister, Cayla, 17, Nini Galpin, 23, and Bruce Whiteley, 16. Miss Galpin is the daughter of Cdr. and Mrs. George L. Walling, now residing in London where Cdr. Walling is stationed, and Bruce is the son of Mrs. Karin Whiteley of New York, now visiting in Woodstock.

An official welcome is planned at noon today at the Hitzig farm.

After four hours of scouring the brush in two counties a photographer and a reporter from The Freeman caught up with the four jeans-wearing cowpokes on the Peekamoose road at Watson Hollow as they neared West Shokan just before the sun went down.

Cayla estimated they had averaged roughly 35 or 40 miles a day since leaving Austin. Eight horses were reduced to seven somewhere along the way when one went lame.

Yes, she had been keeping a

Rules Made For Conduct At Contests

No Official Notice Is Received Prior to Session; All Bottles Prohibited

The Kingston Board of Education adopted a resolution last night expressing regret that Highland Central School authorities had taken action to sever athletic relations between the two schools and incorporating a set of rules to govern students and spectators at future contests.

The board took action after receiving a report concerning events which occurred last Friday night at municipal stadium from Chairman William Rylance of the physical education committee.

The board stated in the resolution that it felt it would be "unfair to indict the large majority of the students of the high school who behaved themselves properly for the actions of a small few who misbehaved."

No Highland Notice

It pointed out further that at the time of the meeting last night it had received no official notice from Highland Central School of the "severance of relations" with Kingston High School but had seen a newspaper report that such action had been taken. The story, which appeared in The Freeman Wednesday, carried a statement by Supervising Principal William Yates of Highland Central that the board of education had acted at a special meeting Tuesday evening "to discontinue athletic relations with Kingston High School effective immediately."

The local board recommended in its resolution that police protection be furnished by the city at all future athletic contests of Kingston High School held at the municipal stadium "to avert any similar occurrence in the future."

Rests on Parents

The resolution pointed out that it felt the problem rested not only with the board "but on every parent in the city, the police department, the churches and the courts. The board hopes that the above agencies will cooperate with them in assuring proper conduct by the spectators as well as the students at any future contest."

Incorporated in the resolution were these rules:

That no soda be served in the stands except in paper cups, that no soda be taken from the refreshment stand in bottles and that no bottles of any kind be brought into the stadium by spectators or students.

Must Stay in Stands

That students are to remain in the stands during the time when the athletic contests are actually in progress and, with respect to football, are to be permitted out of the stands only during half time intermission.

That student marshals are to be continued "in view of the fine job they have done in the past and particularly that done at Friday night's contest in keeping the students and spectators from the playing area of the field."

That anyone whose conduct is offensive, or whose language is abusive or profane, will be removed from the stadium.

That anyone found in the stadium with a bottle in his possession will be requested to dispose of the same or remove himself from the stadium.

To Give Students Data

That the rules "insofar as they apply to students should be made known to them at a general assembly."

"The board feels that if the above rules are enforced that in all probability there will be no repitition of the occurence that took place at the last game."

The physical education committee is composed of Rlyance, Attorney Louis Bruhn and Richard Kalish.

It was announced that two high school boys suspended as a result of events at the stadium Friday night would be given an opportunity to appear before the committee at a special meeting at 8 a. m. Monday, Oct. 5. The committee will meet at that time with Principal Theron Culver. The boys will be notified that they should appear with a parent and that other members of the family may attend if they desire.

The suspension of the two boys "has had a terrific effect on the student body," President Clarence S. Rowland remarked.

Washington, Oct. 2 (AP)—The mutual security treaty between the United States and South Korea was signed yesterday, and Secretary of State Dulles voiced a hope it would be ratified early next year by the Senate.

Parking Lot Awaits Enforcement Man

Although traffic barriers have been removed, and motorists are able to get into the county parking grounds on John street, the area has not been officially opened to the public.

Parking meters are still covered, and there is no charge being made at present, but when the lot is officially opened the fee will be five cents an hour, with provision on the meters for three coins, enabling parkers to remain for three hours.

Three Hour Limit

It is presumed that the free parking privilege will continue until the Ulster County Board of Supervisors designates an attendant to enforce the three hour limit, beginning at 8 a. m.

Outside appointment of an attendant, the lot appears ready for official opening, the paving job having been completed.

Entrance to the lot is from John street and the exit is on Crown street.

The new driveway on Wall street is for official cars parking in the separate section near the court house.

State and Federal Irrigation

State and federal irrigation experiments in the James river valley of South Dakota boosted corn production from about 22 to over 81 bushels per acre.

Sullivan Grand Jury Indicts Three Men

Monticello, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Sullivan county grand jury today indicted three Bronx men for the Labor Day slaying of prosperous Brooklyn butcher Israel Present.

Charged with first degree murder were Raymond Rico, 23, Matthew Terrigno, 21, and Thomas O'Hara, 17.

Present, 48, head of the Brooklyn Kosher Butcher Assn., died after being robbed of $150. Badly beaten, gagged and his legs bound with his own belt, his body was found on the lawn of his summer cottage Labor Day morning.

An autopsy report said Present had been strangled by the gag.

The trio, now in Sullivan county jail, will be arraigned Monday morning. District Attorney Benjamin Newberg said he would move for trial in the November term of county court.

Baptists to Meet Here on Saturday

An estimated 120 delegates from 17 Baptist churches in the Hudson River Central Baptist Association will meet at the First Baptist Church of Kingston for the 95th annual meeting of the association Saturday.

The program will begin with registration of delegates at 9:45 and close with the fellowship banquet, served by the ladies of First Baptist, at 5:30. During the course of the program, delegates will hear Dr. Allan R. Knight, president of the Missionary Convention of the State of New York, in the annual sermon as well as reports from member churches and committees. The Women's Auxiliary, the Pastor's Conference and the Laymen's Conference will meet in separate sessions at 11:30. A basket lunch will be held at noon.

Missionary to Talk

Miss Helen Tufts, American Baptist Missionary to Moulmein, Burma, will address the association at 3:30. Following the address, the choir of the New Central Baptist Church of Kingston will sing.

A meeting of the Hudson River Central Youth Fellowship will be held at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. Earl Spencer of the First Baptist Church of Poughkeepsie will address the group.

Local Baptists prominent in the affairs of the association are: George Matthews, lay member of the Missionary Committee; Mrs. Nellie Klothe, clerk and corresponding secretary of the association; Mrs. Joseph W. Frankel, of Saugerties, member of the board of trustees; and the Rev. Donald E. Brown, chairman of the Pastor's Conference.

Bulldog Not Rabid, Veterinarian Reports

A Boston bulldog which was picked up on West Chestnut street by Dog Warden Henry VanSteenburg Wednesday and suspected of having rabies, is not a rabid dog, Dr. G. F. Hoppenstedt, of the county health department, said today.

The dog, frothing at the mouth, went up on the porch of the John N. Cordts house on West Chestnut street. He was subdued there by the dog warden and brought to Dr. Hoppenstedt. Meanwhile, its owner has been discovered and it will be returned.

The funeral of Scott R. Smith of Albany avenue extension, town of Ulster who died in Kingston Sept. 29, was held Thursday at 2 p. m. from the parlors of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street. The Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church, conducted the service. On Wednesday night Kingston Lodge, 10, F & AM, conducted ritualistic services. Burial took place in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Mrs. Laura S. Fielder

Mrs. Laura Snedeker Fielder, widow of Judge George B. Fielder, and mother of Elise Fielder of 236 Clinton avenue, died early today. The funeral will be held Sunday at 8 p. m. from the parlors of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery, Brooklyn, at the convenience of the family. Friends may call at the parlors Saturday between 7 and 9 p. m.

Mrs. Phebe Cheshire Dimmler

Mrs. Phebe Cheshire Dimmler of Flatbush died today in Kingston following a short illness. Mrs. Dimmler taught in the Flatbush schools for 35 years retiring five years ago. She was a member of Lake Katrine Grange, 1065, Lake Katrine Home Bureau and the TXT Club of Flatbush. She also was a member of the Flatbush Reformed Church. Mrs. Dimmler is survived by her husband, John A. Dimmler. Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. from the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith avenue. The Rev. Herbert I. Killinder will officiate. Burial will be in Mt. Marion Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home any time from Saturday afternoon on.

Roscoe J. Perry, Jr.

The funeral of Roscoe J. Perry, Jr., of 2 Ponckhockie street, was held Thursday at 9 a. m. from the Frank H. Simpson Funeral Home, 411 Albany avenue, thence to St. Mary's Church where at 9:30 a. m. a Missa Cantata Mass was offered by the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly for the repose of his soul. Responses to the Mass were sung by the children's choir under the direction of Theodore Riccobono. While the body reposed at the funeral home, hundreds of friends and relatives called. There were many floral tributes and spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards. Tuesday night the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Martin J. Drury, PRVF, called and said prayers for the dead. Wednesday night the Ladies' Society, Santa Maria, called in a body and was led in the recitation of the Rosary by Father Farrelly. The Mass was largely attended by relatives and friends. Burial took place in St. Mary's Cemetery where Msgr. Drury gave the final absolution and blessing. Bearers were Charles Brocco, Thomas Turck, Louis Perry and Joseph Sottile, all uncles of the deceased.

Raymond V. Leahy

The funeral of Raymond V. Leahy, retired New York city patrolman, was held this morning at 9 o'clock from the Jenson and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street, and 9:30 at St. Joseph's Church where a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. John D. Simmons. A large number of relatives and friends attended the services. The children's choir sang responses during the Mass and the soloist was Martin Kelly who sang Pie Jesu at the offertory. Following the last blessing, he sang In Paradisum. During the bereavement hundreds called at the chapel to express words of sympathy to the members of the family and to offer prayers. Wednesday evening the Rev. James Dunnigan of St. Ann's Church recited the Holy Rosary and last evening at 8 o'clock Msgr. Stephen P. Connelly also led in recitation of the Holy Rosary. Many beautiful floral tributes and scores of Mass cards testified to the high esteem in which he was held. Bearers were Edward Murphy, Edward Leahy, Michael Haggerty, Francis Dougherty, Edward McCaffery and John Ormond. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, where Father Simmons gave the final absolution at the grave.

employers group, the New York Shipping Association (NYSA), in a contract dispute over wages and welfare benefits. It seeks a 13-cent hourly wage raise. The NYSA has offered 8½ cents. The current basic wage for longshoremen is $2.27 an hour. Sixty thousand longshoremen are affected.

It's What They Want

AFL union officials were not pleased by the President's invocation of the Taft-Hartley Act. Said Paul Hall, AFL Seafarers International Union secretary-treasurer:

"An injunction is just the sort of thing the Ryan-Anastasia group wants. They were forced into this strike to perpetuate themselves in power. An injunction will take them off the hook."

Hall was referring to Joseph P. Ryan, ILA president under indictment for alleged larceny of union funds and currently ill in a hospital, and Anthony (Tough Tony) Anastasia, supporting Ryan's union in Brooklyn.

New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey drew wrath from the independent ILA yesterday when he arrived here to confer with heads of the ILA-AFL and officials of the New York-New Jersey Waterfront Commission, organized to clean up and supervise the docks.

Dodgers Stiffen, In Two Innings In Home Opener

Brooklyn, Oct. 2 (AP) — Roy Campanella disregarded a painful hand injury and insisted on remaining in the Brooklyn starting lineup today as the Dodgers returned to Ebbets Field, fighting to come back after dropping the first two World Series games to the New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium.

Campanella, hit on the right hand by Allie Reynolds in the opener, took whirlpool treatments after yesterday's game, soaked the hand in epsom salts and slept with a heating pad on the hand.

Until Campanella turned up, insisting he would be ready to go, Manager Chuck Dressen had expected to start Al (Rube) Walker behind the plate.

The fans were slow in arriving as the park had been sold out to its capacity for days. The only tickets sold today were 3,000 standing room at $4 a copy. The house was expected to total about 34,000, half the Stadium attendance.

The lineups:

New York, (AL)	Brooklyn (NL)
McDougald, 3b	Gilliam, 2b
Collins, 1b	Reese, ss
Bauer, rf	Snider, cf
Berra, c	Hodges, 1b
Mantle, cf	Campanella, c
Woodling, lf	Furillo, rf
Martin, 2b	Robinson, lf
Rizzuto, ss	Cox, 3b
Raschi, p	Erskine, p
(13-6)

First Inning Yankees

As the game got under way, Allie Reynolds trotted out to bull pen to join couple of other Yankee relief hurlers.

McDougald took called ball, went out on strikes.

Collins also struck out.

Bauer slapped a 3-2 pitch on ground directly to Reese who threw him out.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

First Inning Dodgers

Gilliam was credited with single when his tricky one bouncer glanced off Martin's chest.

With Reese at bat, Gilliam attempted to steal second, but was cut down on a peg from Berra to Rizzuto. The pitch was a third straight called ball. Reese then looked at three straight strikes.

Snider's hot shot glanced off Raschi's glove to Rizzuto who threw to Collins for the putout.

No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

Second Inning Yankees

Fourth ball to Berra bounced in front of the plate and rolled past Campanella to backstop, enabling Berra to reach first. When Campanella was slow in retrieving ball, Berra continued to second sliding in ahead of catcher's throw. Erskine charged with wild pitch.

Mantle looked at third strike.

Woodling was thrown out at first, Berra advanced to third.

Martin walked on five pitches.

Rizzuto called out on strikes.

No runs, no hits, no errors, two left.

Second Inning Dodgers

Hodges grounded a sizzling single past McDougald into left field. Campanella went down swinging. Furillo rolled into a double play, Rizzuto to Martin to Collins. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

Two Sent to Jail

Samuel Dunn, 22, and Robert Turner, 20, both of Ellenville, were each sentenced to 15 days in jail on Wednesday after they pleaded guilty to petit larceny charges when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel of the town of Wawarsing. State police of Ellenville, who made the arrests, alleged that the two stole clothing and costume jewelry from a suitcase owned by Jeanette Meade and stored at the Shan-Gri-La Country Club at Napanoch. The articles, valued at about $50, have been recovered, troopers said.

Will Address Women

President Exhorts Civil Defense Heads

Washington, Oct. 2 (AP) — Civil Defense leaders, sharply split over how to go about their task, were exhorted by President Eisenhower yesterday: "No matter what things look like at the moment, please keep going."

The President's appeal came when state Civil Defense directors left their annual conference for a White House call.

At the conference, Democratic Mayor Joseph S. Clark, Jr., of Philadelphia said it is up to the President to rouse America from its civil defense apathy. He called on the federal government to assume most of the financial load.

But Arthur S. Flemming, director of the U. S. Office of Defense Mobilization, said the federal government's role is one of leadership and example. He said the "heavy work" must be done at the local level.

Lt. Gov. Wicks

say he didn't know.

"That is all I ever discussed with Mr. Fay.

Never Had Strike

"All I know is that we never had a strike. The jurisdictional disputes were settled."

Wicks said he did not know whether Fay settled them or whether they would have been settled in any case.

The acting lieutenant governor said he was "proud" that none of the projects had been delayed in his district by strikes.

Wicks estimated that he had seen Fay once this year, once last year and on three or four occasions previously.

Wicks Not at Series

Wicks vigorously denied a statement in the published report that he conferred at Yonkers Raceway with former Supreme Court Justice William F. Bleakley, now the raceway counsel, and State Sen. William F. Condon of Yonkers after attending a World Series game Wednesday.

Wicks asserted he had not attended a World Series game this year and had not conferred with either Bleakley or Condon recently.

"I am a Giant fan," he said.

He said he hadn't seen Condon since the last special session of the state Assembly ended and that he had not seen Bleakley in more than a year.

Wicks hasn't been to the Yonkers Raceway "since heaven knows when," he said.

Fay is serving a 7½ to 15 year term at Sing Sing.

In Albany, Corrections Commissioner Edward J. Donovan said Fay had been convicted of extortion and threatening to extort. He went to Sing Sing after serving a one-year term in New York city jail.

Fay, formerly vice president of the AFL International Union of Operating Engineers, was given no special privileges at Sing Sing "during my time," Donovan said. Donovan became deputy commissioner of correction in 1951.

The commissioner said visitors to Sing Sing wer not required to state the purpose of their visits, and no record was kept of their interviews with the inmates.

Milk Contracts

Pratt Boice, secretary of the Kingston Milk Council, advised the board by letter that the following members of the Council would supply milk during 1953-54: Kingston High School, Simmons Dairy; MJM School, Foordmore Farms; Geo. Washington School, Carnright Dairy; School 2, Babcock Farms Dairy; School 3, Simmons Dairy; School 4, Perry Dairy; School 5, Vogel's Dairy; School 6, Jones Dairy, and School 7, Beatty Farm Dairy.

The price of Grade A pasteurized milk in one-half pints to the high school, George Washington and Myron J. Michael Schools will be six cents in paper containers for the fall term. All grade schools will pay 6¼ cents for one-half pints in glass bottles and 6½ cents for one-half pint in paper containers.

George Kernochan of the General Ice Cream Corporation of 96 Prince street, in a letter to the board, pointed out that it would furnish ice cream products to Kingston High School during the year and that the Ambrose Brothers would furnish ice cream products to the MJM School and the George Washington School cafeterias.

In these, first voters will be able to register between 7 a. m. and 10 p. m. tomorrow and from 1 p. m. to 10 p. m., Oct. 10.

Held for Vagrancy

Alton Teator, 66, and his wife, Daphne L. Teator, 55, were arrested yesterday on vagrancy charges and authorities said they had been "camping out" at Forsyth Park. Daphne was arrested by Lt. William Messing of the local police and Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk at about 4:30 p. m., and her husband was picked up at 6:45 p. m., by Officers Louis Sapp, Jr., and Edward Edwards. Each was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail when they appeared today before City Judge Raymond . Mino.

5 Air Force Men Killed

Columbus, Ga., Oct. 2 (AP)—Five air force men were killed and four others, along with a hitch-hiking sailor, escaped in separate crashes of a twin engine B25 and a P11 trainer last night. The B25, based across the Potomac river from Washington at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., was returning from Elgin AFB, Fla., in heavy fog when it crashed into the top of Pine Mountain, about 35 miles north of here. All five crewmen were killed, but Richard K. Schmidt, 19, of Rumson, N. J., a sailor stationed at the Whiting Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Milton, Fla., escaped with a possible hip fracture and lacerations. The crew of the P11 twin-engine trainer parachuted to safety before it crashed near Seale, Ala., about 30 miles west of here.

Sabre Jet Sprays Town With Bullets

Farrell, Pa., Oct. 2 (AP)—An air force Sabre jet plane, its electric firing device out of order, sprayed this western Pennsylvania town with machine gun bullets for several terror-filled seconds.

The whining .50 caliber slugs riddled 12 autos, setting two afire, and tore into nearly 30 buildings and homes yesterday. No one was hurt although several persons had narrow escapes.

"Something happened to one of its machine guns," Police Chief John J. Stosito said after a conference with Maj. A. F. Martin, Jr., of the Vienna Air Force Base near Warren, Ohio.

The plane was on a routine flight from the base. Name of the pilot was withheld. Witnesses said the craft was several thousand feet up as it zoomed over the city.

Martin, who came here to conduct an investigation, said there is "only about one chance in a million" of such a thing happening and added the air force would pay all damages.

Two Chinese Killed

up the chant for the return of the prisoner and began scaling the barbed wire fences.

The spokesman said the guards repeatedly warned the prisoners to halt.

"We tried persuasion and they would not listen," he said. "The chaps continued to scale the barbed wire. Our guards tried to push and beat them back with sticks but the whole lot of them kept on coming.

Seven Shots Fired

"First we fired one shot in the air as a warning. That had no effect so the guards fired six more shots. A total of only seven shots was fired."

An Indian spokesman said Indian troops fired on the demonstrating Chinese after about 100 of them broke down a compound gate.

The Indian said that two of the five injured men were hurt by sticks wielded by the Indians and the other three were gunshot wounds.

After the demonstration, the Indians broadcast in Korean and Chinese a message "regretting" the death of one Korean Thursday.

Diplomats at the United Nations Headquarters in New York expressed surprise at the bloodshed after being assured earlier this week by India's delegate, V. K. Krishna Menon, that the guards were unarmed.

The two flareups followed delays in the start of "explanations" to the prisoners by officers who will attempt to persuade them to return home.

Many of the reluctant anti-Red POWs object violently to forced meetings with the Communist "explanation" teams, as decreed by the Repatriation Commission.

Autopsy Is Reported

Roy Homer Spence, Jr., 37, of Ellenville who was killed in an automobile accident Thursday morning in Wawarsing, suffered fractured ribs, a fractured jaw and a right hemothorax the autopsy disclosed, it was reported at the Kingston Laboratory this morning. Although Coroner Francis J. McCardle was called out of town before he was able to issue his verdict, it was believed on the basis of the autopsy that a verdict of accidental death will be issued.

George Washington founded the Military Order of the Purple Heart, the medals now given to wounded soldiers.

Greenlease Denies Kidnaper Contact

Kansas City, Oct. 2 (AP)—A spokesman for the family of Robert C. Greenlease, father of kidnaped 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease, today denied published reports that contact had been made with the kidnapers and a ransom demand received.

Several newspapers in other cities have published reports the family has been in contact with the kidnapers through a newspaper want ad, and that a demand for $500,000 ransom had been received. The report also was broadcast on a television program today.

"No figure has been mentioned. We have not been in contact with the kidnaper," said Robert Ledterman, business associate of Greenlease and spokesman for the family.

Ignorant About Ad

The ad which caused speculation appeared in the personal column of the Wednesday afternoon Kansas City Star and read: "M: Will meet you in Chicago Sunday. G."

Ledterman, speaking for the family, said.

"I don't know anything about the ad. I haven't seen it."

Some of the published and broadcast reports speculated that the ad was part of a "good faith" test to which the family was being subjected.

As the wait dragged into the fifth day since Bobby was taken from an exclusive private school by a woman posing as his aunt, the wealthy parents were showing signs of desperation for some break.

Ledterman said the family indicated a new approach would be taken in the case unless word about Bobby was taken in the next few days.

Colonial Bid High For Razing Houses

Colonial Construction Company, of this city, bid high at $2,500 for the razing of the veterans' emergency housing development in Loughran Park, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk said after opening of bids this morning.

The project calls for razing of the 50-apartment development and restoration of the grounds so that they may again be used for recreational purposes. The construction company was one of three bidders.

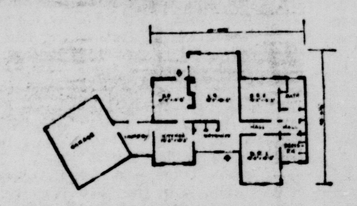
HOUSE of the MONTH
THE TYLER



Pictured here is a delightful five-room one story home—perfect for the successful young married couple both of whom are building their separate careers. Such couples usually entertain a lot and more than likely need a 2-car garage.

Later on when the family grows—as usually happens even in the best "career" families—there is preplanned provision for a child's room at the end of the bedroom hall.

This design, the first House-of-the-Month by Architect Clement Ford of Atlanta, Ga., is typical of the fine homes of that area. It would be equally at home in Pennsylvania, or Westchester county, New York or in Connecticut.

It calls for a good sized plot. It is not for those who must build on a tight budget. But for families who can afford a few luxuries, the design provides a huge entrance-foyer with two coat closets, over-sized rooms, fireplaces in both living and dining rooms, master's dressing room and a separate laundry. It has 1,755 sq. ft. of living area and cubes approximately 25,570 cu. ft.

To get further information about this house or scores of other smaller ones including some real budget homes, or to secure architect's working drawings, consult the local sponsor of the House-of-the-Month in our community.

Parking Lot Awaits Enforcement Man

Although traffic barriers have been removed, and motorists are able to get into the county parking grounds on John street, the area has not been officially opened to the public.

Parking meters are still covered, and there is no charge being made at present, but when the lot is officially opened the fee will be five cents an hour, with provision on the meters for three coins, enabling parkers to remain for three hours.

Three Hour Limit

It is presumed that the free parking privilege will continue until the Ulster County Board of Supervisors designates an attendant to enforce the three hour limit, beginning at 8 a. m.

Outside appointment of an attendant, the lot appears ready for official opening, the paving job having been completed.

Entrance to the lot is from John street and the exit is on Crown street.

The new driveway on Wall street is for official cars parking in the separate section near the court house.

State and Federal Irrigation

State and federal irrigation experiments in the James river valley of South Dakota boosted corn production from about 22 to over 81 bushels per acre.

Sullivan Grand Jury Indicts Three Men

Monticello, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Sullivan county grand jury today indicted three Bronx men for the Labor Day slaying of prosperous Brooklyn butcher Israel Present.

Charged with first degree murder were Raymond Rico, 23, Matthew Terrigno, 21, and Thomas O'Hara, 17.

Present, 48, head of the Brooklyn Kosher Butcher Assn., died after being robbed of $150. Badly beaten, gagged and his legs bound with his own belt, his body was found on the lawn of his summer cottage Labor Day morning.

An autopsy report said Present had been strangled by the gag.

The trio, now in Sullivan county jail, will be arraigned Monday morning. District Attorney Benjamin Newberg said he would move for trial in the November term of county court.

Baptists to Meet Here on Saturday

An estimated 120 delegates from 17 Baptist churches in the Hudson River Central Baptist Association will meet at the First Baptist Church of Kingston for the 95th annual meeting of the association Saturday.

The program will begin with registration of delegates at 9:45 and close with the fellowship banquet, served by the ladies of First Baptist, at 5:30. During the course of the program, delegates will hear Dr. Allan R. Knight, president of the Missionary Convention of the State of New York, in the annual sermon as well as reports from member churches and committees. The Women's Auxiliary, the Pastor's Conference and the Laymen's Conference will meet in separate sessions at 11:30. A basket lunch will be held at noon.

Missionary to Talk

Miss Helen Tufts, American Baptist Missionary to Moulmein, Burma, will address the association at 3:30. Following the address, the choir of the New Central Baptist Church of Kingston will sing.

A meeting of the Hudson River Central Youth Fellowship will be held at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. Earl Spencer of the First Baptist Church of Poughkeepsie will address the group.

Local Baptists prominent in the affairs of the association are: George Matthews, lay member of the Missionary Committee; Mrs. Nellie Klothe, clerk and corresponding secretary of the association; Mrs. Joseph W. Frankel, of Saugerties, member of the board of trustees; and the Rev. Donald E. Brown, chairman of the Pastor's Conference.

Bulldog Not Rabid, Veterinarian Reports

A Boston bulldog which was picked up on West Chestnut street by Dog Warden Henry VanSteenburg Wednesday and suspected of having rabies, is not a rabid dog, Dr. G. F. Hoppenstedt, of the county health department, said today.

The dog, frothing at the mouth, went up on the porch of the John N. Cordts house on West Chestnut street. He was subdued there by the dog warden and brought to Dr. Hoppenstedt. Meanwhile, its owner has been discovered and it will be returned.

Mrs. Phebe Cheshire Dimmler

Mrs. Phebe Cheshire Dimmler of Flatbush died today in Kingston following a short illness. Mrs. Dimmler taught in the Flatbush schools for 35 years retiring five years ago. She was a member of Lake Katrine Grange, 1065, Lake Katrine Home Bureau and the TXT Club of Flatbush. She also was a member of the Flatbush Reformed Church. Mrs. Dimmler is survived by her husband, John A. Dimmler. Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. from the Henry J. Bruck Funeral Home, 27 Smith avenue. The Rev. Herbert I. Killinder will officiate. Burial will be in Mt. Marion Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home any time from Saturday afternoon on.

Roscoe J. Perry, Jr.

The funeral of Roscoe J. Perry, Jr., of 2 Ponckhockie street, was held Thursday at 9 a. m. from the Frank H. Simpson Funeral Home, 411 Albany avenue, thence to St. Mary's Church where at 9:30 a. m. a Missa Cantata Mass was offered by the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly for the repose of his soul. Responses to the Mass were sung by the children's choir under the direction of Theodore Riccobono. While the body reposed at the funeral home, hundreds of friends and relatives called. There were many floral tributes and spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards. Tuesday night the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Martin J. Drury, PRVF, called and said prayers for the dead. Wednesday night the Ladies' Society, Santa Maria, called in a body and was led in the recitation of the Rosary by Father Farrelly. The Mass was largely attended by relatives and friends. Burial took place in St. Mary's Cemetery where Msgr. Drury gave the final absolution and blessing. Bearers were Charles Brocco, Thomas Turck, Louis Perry and Joseph Sottile, all uncles of the deceased.

Raymond V. Leahy

The funeral of Raymond V. Leahy, retired New York city patrolman, was held this morning at 9 o'clock from the Jenson and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street, and 9:30 at St. Joseph's Church where a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul by the Rev. John D. Simmons. A large number of relatives and friends attended the services. The children's choir sang responses during the Mass and the soloist was Martin Kelly who sang Pie Jesu at the offertory. Following the last blessing, he sang In Paradisum. During the bereavement hundreds called at the chapel to express words of sympathy to the members of the family and to offer prayers. Wednesday evening the Rev. James Dunnigan of St. Ann's Church recited the Holy Rosary and last evening at 8 o'clock Msgr. Stephen P. Connelly also led in recitation of the Holy Rosary. Many beautiful floral tributes and scores of Mass cards testified to the high esteem in which he was held. Bearers were Edward Murphy, Edward Leahy, Michael Haggerty, Francis Dougherty, Edward McCaffery and John Ormond. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, where Father Simmons gave the final absolution at the grave.

employers group, the New York Shipping Association (NYSA), in a contract dispute over wages and welfare benefits. It seeks a 13-cent hourly wage raise. The NYSA has offered 8½ cents. The current basic wage for longshoremen is $2.27 an hour. Sixty thousand longshoremen are affected.

It's What They Want

AFL union officials were not pleased by the President's invocation of the Taft-Hartley Act. Said Paul Hall, AFL Seafarers International Union secretary-treasurer:

"An injunction is just the sort of thing the Ryan-Anastasia group wants. They were forced into this strike to perpetuate themselves in power. An injunction will take them off the hook."

Hall was referring to Joseph P. Ryan, ILA president under indictment for alleged larceny of union funds and currently ill in a hospital, and Anthony (Tough Tony) Anastasia, supporting Ryan's union in Brooklyn.

New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey drew wrath from the independent ILA yesterday when he arrived here to confer with heads of the ILA-AFL and officials of the New York-New Jersey Waterfront Commission, organized to clean up and supervise the docks.

Dodgers Stiffen, In Two Innings In Home Opener

Brooklyn, Oct. 2 (AP) — Roy Campanella disregarded a painful hand injury and insisted on remaining in the Brooklyn starting lineup today as the Dodgers returned to Ebbets Field, fighting to come back after dropping the first two World Series games to the New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium.

Campanella, hit on the right hand by Allie Reynolds in the opener, took whirlpool treatments after yesterday's game, soaked the hand in epsom salts and slept with a heating pad on the hand.

Until Campanella turned up, insisting he would be ready to go, Manager Chuck Dressen had expected to start Al (Rube) Walker behind the plate.

The fans were slow in arriving as the park had been sold out to its capacity for days. The only tickets sold today were 3,000 standing room at $4 a copy. The house was expected to total about 34,000, half the Stadium attendance.

The lineups:

New York, (AL)	Brooklyn (NL)
McDougald, 3b	Gilliam, 2b
Collins, 1b	Reese, ss
Bauer, rf	Snider, cf
Berra, c	Hodges, 1b
Mantle, cf	Campanella, c
Woodling, lf	Furillo, rf
Martin, 2b	Robinson, lf
Rizzuto, ss	Cox, 3b
Raschi, p	Erskine, p
(13-6)

First Inning Yankees

As the game got under way, Allie Reynolds trotted out to bull pen to join couple of other Yankee relief hurlers.

McDougald took called ball, went out on strikes.

Collins also struck out.

Bauer slapped a 3-2 pitch on ground directly to Reese who threw him out.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

First Inning Dodgers

Gilliam was credited with single when his tricky one bouncer glanced off Martin's chest.

With Reese at bat, Gilliam attempted to steal second, but was cut down on a peg from Berra to Rizzuto. The pitch was a third straight called ball. Reese then looked at three straight strikes.

Snider's hot shot glanced off Raschi's glove to Rizzuto who threw to Collins for the putout.

No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

Second Inning Yankees

Fourth ball to Berra bounced in front of the plate and rolled past Campanella to backstop, enabling Berra to reach first. When Campanella was slow in retrieving ball, Berra continued to second sliding in ahead of catcher's throw. Erskine charged with wild pitch.

Mantle looked at third strike.

Woodling was thrown out at first, Berra advanced to third.

Martin walked on five pitches.

Rizzuto called out on strikes.

No runs, no hits, no errors, two left.

Second Inning Dodgers

Hodges grounded a sizzling single past McDougald into left field. Campanella went down swinging. Furillo rolled into a double play, Rizzuto to Martin to Collins. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

Deaths Reported

(By The Associated Press)

Tuxedo Park—Mrs. Price Collier, 93, last survivor of the Delano family, a sister of the late Sarah Delano Roosevelt, mother of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Died Thursday.

Addison, Me.—John Marin, 81, noted watercolor artist whose work hangs in many American and European galleries. Born in Rutherford, N. J. Died Thursday.

Pipersville, Pa.—Leslie L. Forgrave, 71, cartoonist and creator of the King Features Syndicate's comic strip "Big Sister." Born in Leon, Iowa. Died Thursday.

Santa Monica, Calif.—Mrs. Ida Monda Jennings Manion, a Broadway ingenue and vaudeville performer in the early 1900s who with her husband, Raymond Manion, performed as the vaudeville team of "Glendower and Manion." Died Thursday.

Arlington, Va.—Homer Gross Murphy, 73, former Montana homesteader and attorney and at one time with the Home Loan Corporation and Home Loan Bank Board in Washington. Died Thursday.

Two Sent to Jail

Samuel Dunn, 22, and Robert Turner, 20, both of Ellenville, were each sentenced to 15 days in jail on Wednesday after they pleaded guilty to petit larceny charges when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Herbert Poppel of the town of Wawarsing. State police of Ellenville, who made the arrests, alleged that the two stole clothing and costume jewelry from a suitcase owned by Jeanette Meade and stored at the Shan-Gri-La Country Club at Napanoch. The articles, valued at about $50, have been recovered, troopers said.

Will Address Women

Washington, Oct. 2 (AP)—President Eisenhower will fly to Atlantic City, N. J., next Tuesday morning to address the United Church Women of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A.

Bifocal glasses appear to have been made first by Benjamin Franklin.

President Exhorts Civil Defense Heads

Washington, Oct. 2 (AP) — Civil Defense leaders, sharply split over how to go about their task, were exhorted by President Eisenhower yesterday: "No matter what things look like at the moment, please keep going."

The President's appeal came when state Civil Defense directors left their annual conference for a White House call.

At the conference, Democratic Mayor Joseph S. Clark, Jr., of Philadelphia said it is up to the President to rouse America from its civil defense apathy. He called on the federal government to assume most of the financial load.

But Arthur S. Flemming, director of the U. S. Office of Defense Mobilization, said the federal government's role is one of leadership and example. He said the "heavy work" must be done at the local level.

Lt. Gov. Wicks

say he didn't know.

"That is all I ever discussed with Mr. Fay.

Never Had Strike

"All I know is that we never had a strike. The jurisdictional disputes were settled."

Wicks said he did not know whether Fay settled them or whether they would have been settled in any case.

The acting lieutenant governor said he was "proud" that none of the projects had been delayed in his district by strikes.

Wicks estimated that he had seen Fay once this year, once last year and on three or four occasions previously.

Wicks Not at Series

Wicks vigorously denied a statement in the published report that he conferred at Yonkers Raceway with former Supreme Court Justice William F. Bleakley, now the raceway counsel, and State Sen. William F. Condon of Yonkers after attending a World Series game Wednesday.

Wicks asserted he had not attended a World Series game this year and had not conferred with either Bleakley or Condon recently.

"I am a Giant fan," he said.

He said he hadn't seen Condon since the last special session of the state Assembly ended and that he had not seen Bleakley in more than a year.

Wicks hasn't been to the Yonkers Raceway "since heaven knows when," he said.

Fay is serving a 7½ to 15 year term at Sing Sing.

In Albany, Corrections Commissioner Edward J. Donovan said Fay had been convicted of extortion and threatening to extort. He went to Sing Sing after serving a one-year term in New York city jail.

Fay, formerly vice president of the AFL International Union of Operating Engineers, was given no special privileges at Sing Sing "during my time," Donovan said. Donovan became deputy commissioner of correction in 1951.

The commissioner said visitors to Sing Sing wer not required to state the purpose of their visits, and no record was kept of their interviews with the inmates.

Milk Contracts

Pratt Boice, secretary of the Kingston Milk Council, advised the board by letter that the following members of the Council would supply milk during 1953-54: Kingston High School, Simmons Dairy; MJM School, Foordmore Farms; Geo. Washington School, Carnright Dairy; School 2, Babcock Farms Dairy; School 3, Simmons Dairy; School 4, Perry Dairy; School 5, Vogel's Dairy; School 6, Jones Dairy, and School 7, Beatty Farm Dairy.

The price of Grade A pasteurized milk in one-half pints to the high school, George Washington and Myron J. Michael Schools will be six cents in paper containers for the fall term. All grade schools will pay 6¼ cents for one-half pints in glass bottles and 6½ cents for one-half pints in glass bottles and 6½ cents for one-half pint in paper containers.

George Kernochan of the General Ice Cream Corporation of 96 Prince street, in a letter to the board, pointed out that it would furnish ice cream products to Kingston High School during the year and that the Ambrose Brothers would furnish ice cream products to the MJM School and the George Washington School cafeterias.

Registration Begins

Albany, Oct. 2 (AP)—Personal registration of voters opened today in the counties outside New York city and Westchester county. The city and Westchester will have six days for registration and the rest of the state four. Registration hours: New York and Westchester—3:30 p. m. to 10:30 p. m., Oct. 5-9 inclusive and 7 a. m. to 10 p. m., Oct. 10. Elsewhere in cities and villages of 5,000 population or more—10 a. m. to 10 p. m. today, tomorrow and Oct. 9, and from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m., Oct. 10. Personal registration is not required in communities of fewer than 5,000 persons. In these, first voters will be able to register between 7 a. m. and 10 p. m. tomorrow and from 1 p. m. to 10 p. m., Oct. 10.

Held for Vagrancy

Alton Teator, 66, and his wife, Daphne L. Teator, 55, were arrested yesterday on vagrancy charges and authorities said they had been "camping out" at Forsyth Park. Daphne was arrested by Lt. William Messing of the local police and Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk at about 4:30 p. m., and her husband was picked up at 6:45 p. m., by Officers Louis Sapp, Jr., and Edward Edwards. Each was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail when they appeared today before City Judge Raymond . Mino.

5 Air Force Men Killed

Columbus, Ga., Oct. 2 (AP)—Five air force men were killed and four others, along with a hitch-hiking sailor, escaped in separate crashes of a twin engine B25 and a P11 trainer last night. The B25, based across the Potomac river from Washington at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., was returning from Elgin AFB, Fla., in heavy fog when it crashed into the top of Pine Mountain, about 35 miles north of here. All five crewmen were killed, but Richard K. Schmidt, 19, of Rumson, N. J., a sailor stationed at the Whiting Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Milton, Fla., escaped with a possible hip fracture and lacerations. The crew of the P11 twin-engine trainer parachuted to safety before it crashed near Seale, Ala., about 30 miles west of here.

Sabre Jet Sprays Town With Bullets

Farrell, Pa., Oct. 2 (AP)—An air force Sabre jet plane, its electric firing device out of order, sprayed this western Pennsylvania town with machine gun bullets for several terror-filled seconds.

The whining .50 caliber slugs riddled 12 autos, setting two afire, and tore into nearly 30 buildings and homes yesterday. No one was hurt although several persons had narrow escapes.

"Something happened to one of its machine guns," Police Chief John J. Stosito said after a conference with Maj. A. F. Martin, Jr., of the Vienna Air Force Base near Warren, Ohio.

The plane was on a routine flight from the base. Name of the pilot was withheld. Witnesses said the craft was several thousand feet up as it zoomed over the city.

Martin, who came here to conduct an investigation, said there is "only about one chance in a million" of such a thing happening and added the air force would pay all damages.

up the chant for the return of the prisoner and began scaling the barbed wire fences.

The spokesman said the guards repeatedly warned the prisoners to halt.

"We tried persuasion and they would not listen," he said. "The chaps continued to scale the barbed wire. Our guards tried to push and beat them back with sticks but the whole lot of them kept on coming.

Seven Shots Fired

"First we fired one shot in the air as a warning. That had no effect so the guards fired six more shots. A total of only seven shots was fired."

An Indian spokesman said Indian troops fired on the demonstrating Chinese after about 100 of them broke down a compound gate.

The Indian said that two of the five injured men were hurt by sticks wielded by the Indians and the other three were gunshot wounds.

After the demonstration, the Indians broadcast in Korean and Chinese a message "regretting" the death of one Korean Thursday.

Diplomats at the United Nations Headquarters in New York expressed surprise at the bloodshed after being assured earlier this week by India's delegate, V. K. Krishna Menon, that the guards were unarmed.

The two flareups followed delays in the start of "explanations" to the prisoners by officers who will attempt to persuade them to return home.

Many of the reluctant anti-Red POWs object violently to forced meetings with the Communist "explanation" teams, as decreed by the Repatriation Commission.

Autopsy Is Reported

Roy Homer Spence, Jr., 37, of Ellenville who was killed in an automobile accident Thursday morning in Wawarsing, suffered fractured ribs, a fractured jaw and a right hemothorax the autopsy disclosed, it was reported at the Kingston Laboratory this morning. Although Coroner Francis J. McCardle was called out of town before he was able to issue his verdict, it was believed on the basis of the autopsy that a verdict of accidental death will be issued.

Pagan Due Saturday

Greenlease Denies Kidnaper Contact

Kansas City, Oct. 2 (AP)—A spokesman for the family of Robert C. Greenlease, father of kidnaped 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease, today denied published reports that contact had been made with the kidnapers and a ransom demand received.

Several newspapers in other cities have published reports the family has been in contact with the kidnapers through a newspaper want ad, and that a demand for $500,000 ransom had been received. The report also was broadcast on a television program today.

"No figure has been mentioned. We have not been in contact with the kidnaper," said Robert Ledterman, business associate of Greenlease and spokesman for the family.

Ignorant About Ad

The ad which caused speculation appeared in the personal column of the Wednesday afternoon Kansas City Star and read: "M: Will meet you in Chicago Sunday. G."

Ledterman, speaking for the family, said.

"I don't know anything about the ad. I haven't seen it."

Some of the published and broadcast reports speculated that the ad was part of a "good faith" test to which the family was being subjected.

As the wait dragged into the fifth day since Bobby was taken from an exclusive private school by a woman posing as his aunt, the wealthy parents were showing signs of desperation for some break.

Ledterman said the family indicated a new approach would be taken in the case unless word about Bobby was taken in the next few days.

Colonial Bid High For Razing Houses

Colonial Construction Company, of this city, bid high at $2,500 for the razing of the veterans' emergency housing development in Loughran Park, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk said after opening of bids this morning.

The project calls for razing of the 50-apartment development and restoration of the grounds so that they may again be used for recreational purposes. The construction company was one of three bidders.

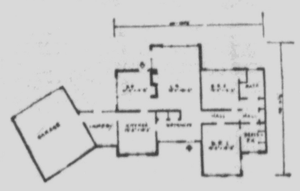
HOUSE of the MONTH
THE TYLER



Pictured here is a delightful five-room one story home—perfect for the successful young married couple both of whom are building their separate careers. Such couples usually entertain a lot and more than likely need a 2-car garage.

Later on when the family grows—as usually happens even in the best "career" families—there is preplanned provision for a child's room at the end of the bedroom hall.

This design, the first House-of-the-Month by Architect Clement Ford of Atlanta, Ga., is typical of the fine homes of that area. It would be equally at home in Pennsylvania, or Westchester county, New York or in Connecticut.

It calls for a good sized plot. It is not for those who must build on a tight budget. But for families who can afford a few luxuries, the design provides a huge entrance-foyer with two coat closets, over-sized rooms, fireplaces in both living and dining rooms, master's dressing room and a separate laundry. It has 1,755 sq. ft. of living area and cubes approximately 25,570 cu. ft.

To get further information about this house or scores of other smaller ones including some real budget homes, or to secure architect's working drawings, consult the local sponsor of the House-of-the-Month in our community.

Despite Propaganda, Classes Are Found in Soviet Union

BY TOM WHITNEY

London, Oct. 2 (AP)—A jewelry store on Moscow's Petrovka street recently displayed an emerald of several carats, priced at 35,000 rubles.

That is about as much as an average Russian would earn in 4½ years. It is officially $8,750.

The store displayed the jewel because it knew there were potential customers.

Soviet propaganda contends Soviet society is "classless." Anyone who has seen Soviet citizens riding around Moscow in big, black Zis or Zim limousines will realize this is not so.

Small Cars $4,000

Small Pobeda automobiles are priced at 16,000 rubles ($4,000) each. The demand is such that a long line of prospective purchasers assembles each morning at Moscow's one auto store. This means certain Russians can lay down in cash as much as the average worker earns in two years (there is no installment buying).

The evidence that some Russians live a lot better than others is all about in Moscow.

Who are these well-heeled citizens.

First of all, the upper class includes officers, particularly the senior officers in the armed services, and of militarized and semi-militarized organizations such as the police.

High-Ranking Men

There are high-ranking industrial and economic executives, scientists and research men. There are responsible government and party officials, and successful people from the literary and artistic world. A certain number of technicians and workers, for reason of special skills or work in particular regions, benefit from special bonus payment schemes. Certain collective farm executives and farmers benefit from special bonus schemes for particular crops. Finally, some doctors and other professional men have lucrative private practice.

Oftentimes big apartments costing nothing or almost nothing, the use of an official car at all times, and like privileges go with jobs the regime considers important.

Increasing in Size

This upper class is certainly increasing in size. As the state grows larger and more complex it needs more and more executives and specialists.

Some Soviet citizens make fantastic amounts of money. This applies particularly to the more renowned doctors with private practice. Writers, if successful, earn so much money they don't know how to spend it. Top scientists and generals are said to make very big salaries. And income tax rates are low—the top surtax rate is 13 per cent for "workers and employes"—A category which includes most of the upper class.

How do people get into the upper class?

Starts With Education

The main factor to start with is education. Talent, hard work and occasional intrigue also play vital roles.

Some sprang from the pre-revolutionary upper and middle class. Most of the present members, however, were brought up by the revolution from families of workers and peasants. These people are particularly strong for the Soviet regime, of course, since it gave them their opportunities.

Access of the upper class is still not closed to talented and hard working youths from families of workers and farmers. But the new upper class tends to recruit its ranks from among children of families already upper class. Naturally, well-to-do Soviet citizens can provide better for their children's education than ordinary Russian families.

Of course, it is not only education that counts. Teachers and most doctors live worse even than many workers. They form an intellectual proletariat. It is logical to suppose that among this element of Soviet society in particular there is much discontent.

Land of Contrasts

The Soviet Union is a land of contrasts. There is glaring inefficiency all about and sometimes surprising technical accomplishment.

May Day and other holidays bring out massed flights of Soviet jet fighters which according to all accounts are among the world's best. How can the Russians make, maintain and fly these aircraft in a country in which I could not even get my gas water heater properly adjusted?

I watched a Russian road-building operation for three summers. The road was only a few miles long. Yet it never got finished. And the waste of materials and fuel in that operation was unbelievable.

And yet, this same country makes and explodes atom bombs.

There is no pat or simple answer to the question of how efficient the Russians are, or how good they are on the technical side. The Russians do everything possible to confuse the subject.

Russians have a natural mechanical aptitude which comes out with training and experience. At any rate that is my personal impression. They are not slow to understand modern machinery and techniques.

The industrial revolution in Russia is of course still young. But the distance Russia must travel before she can be counted as one of the world's more efficient countries is still very great.

Abraham Lincoln participated as a volunteer in the Black Hawk War, which began in Illinois, against the Sauk chief of that name.

Register tonight or Saturday so you can vote in the general election to be held in November. You have to register, if you want to vote. The polls will be open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Speaks Saturday

DELLMAR SMITH

The Rev. Dellmar R. Smith will speak and show slides of Africa when he appears at the missionary convention of the local Alliance Gospel Church Saturday at 7:45 p. m., the Rev. Virgil R. Brisco announced today.

He served two years among the Samago people in the hot, desolate waste lands of Central Soudan, a year among pagan tribes near the source of the Niger river in French Guinea and a year in the Home at Mamou for the church's missionary children attending school.

The Rev. Mr. Smith also will display his collection of curios and costumes during his service Saturday night.

Two Face Charges Of Looting Bank

New Market, Va., Oct. 2 (AP)—A self-styled ex-sheriff and a former mayor of this Shenandoah valley town faced charges today they cleaned out the vault of a bank where they were officers and fled across the Canadian border with $114,500.

One of the men returned later. The money has not been recovered.

News of FBI charges against the hitherto respected pair swept through town with teletype speed and caused folks to scratch their heads in amazement.

Former Mayor Theodore Roosevelt Beahm Sr., 56, was "just about one of the nicest guys you ever saw," a local police officer said. Beahm had been with the town's only bank about 20 years and had risen to the posts of vice president and cashier.

Comparative Newcomer

Don R. Simpson, 55, a bank director, was a comparative newcomer "but he seemed real pleasant," police said. Officers said Simpson came here 2½ years ago, bought a fashionable estate and told folks he was a former sheriff in Somerset county, Pa.

Both Beahm and Simpson were charged with bank embezzlement. Accused of aiding the two men to flee to Canada is Simpson's nephew, Charles R. Simpson, 30, described by town officials as a "nice lad." The FBI said he chauffeured the other two to Canada.

The FBI said Beahm flew back Monday and complained he'd been forced at gunpoint to open the vault Saturday and give the money to an unknown man and the elder Simpson, who then kidnaped him and took him to Canada.

Couldn't Back Story

But the FBI said Beahm was unable to substantiate his story and, on further questioning, admitted he and Simpson followed a preconceived plan to clean out the bank's funds and take off. Beahm was quoted by the FBI as saying he last saw Simpson in Toronto, Canada.

The FBI said none of the $35,500 in cash and $79,000 in negotiables had been recovered. Beahm told agents he didn't get any of it.

Beahm was quoted as saying he and the Simpson's simply took the money Saturday and drove off to Canada, but that he decided to fly back Monday. He posted $2,500 bond yesterday.

At Toronto, police officials said they had received no word asking them to be on the lookout for the two Simpsons.

Reuter Tribute Paid

Berlin, Oct. 2 (AP)—West Berlin's common folk trudged slowly past a simple coffin on City Hall Square today in silent tribute to their departed champion against Communist tyranny, Mayor Ernst Reuter. Long lines waited patiently for the one-second trip past the closed coffin. They filed past at the rate of 2,500 an hour. The body will lie in state until tomorrow afternoon, when funeral services are expected to draw more than a million persons to the city square.

MarbletownSchool Club Picks Officers

The Parent, Teachers and Friends Club of Marbletown Central School held its first informal meeting of the fall term Wednesday, Sept. 23 at 8 p. m. in the cafeteria of the school.

The officers for the club are: President, Cloyd Elias; vice-president, Mrs. Lansing Hunt; recording secretary, Mrs. Clyde Roosa; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John Lester; treasurer, Wallace Fulford.

The following committees will function for the coming year:

Fund raising committee—Wallace Fulford, temporary chairman; Mrs. Fulford, Mr. and Mrs. John Basten; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Knudsen.

Refreshment committee — the Mmes. Sheil, Elias, Clifford Sheeley, Roy Webber and Schoonmaker.

Mrs. Ruth Roosa's fourth grade won the September banner for a 33 per cent attendance of parents at the meeting.

The club donated $50 toward a speaker's stand for the school.

A discussion on What We Expect From Our School revealed that overcrowded class rooms cut down on the individual attention desired by parents and the club is planning to overcome the situation.

There was a social hour with refreshments and accordion selections by William Paetow of High Falls.

Bank Call Issued

Washington, Oct. 2 (AP)—The comptroller of the currency today issued a call for a statement of the condition of all national banks at the close of business Wednesday, Sept. 30. The Federal Reserve System issued a similar call for statements from its member banks.

I watched a Russian road-building operation for three summers. The road was only a few miles long. Yet it never got finished. And the waste of materials and fuel in that operation was unbelievable.

And yet, this same country makes and explodes atom bombs.

There is no pat or simple answer to the question of how efficient the Russians are, or how good they are on the technical side. The Russians do everything possible to confuse the subject.

Russians have a natural mechanical aptitude which comes out with training and experience. At any rate that is my personal impression. They are not slow to understand modern machinery and techniques.

The industrial revolution in Russia is of course still young. But the distance Russia must travel before she can be counted as one of the world's more efficient countries is still very great.

Abraham Lincoln participated as a volunteer in the Black Hawk War, which began in Illinois, against the Sauk chief of that name.

Speaks Saturday

DELLMAR SMITH

The Rev. Dellmar R. Smith will speak and show slides of Africa when he appears at the missionary convention of the local Alliance Gospel Church Saturday at 7:45 p. m., the Rev. Virgil R. Brisco announced today.

He served two years among the Samago people in the hot, desolate waste lands of Central Soudan, a year among pagan tribes near the source of the Niger river in French Guinea and a year in the Home at Mamou for the church's missionary children attending school.

The Rev. Mr. Smith also will display his collection of curios and costumes during his service Saturday night.

Two Face Charges Of Looting Bank

New Market, Va., Oct. 2 (AP)—A self-styled ex-sheriff and a former mayor of this Shenandoah valley town faced charges today they cleaned out the vault of a bank where they were officers and fled across the Canadian border with $114,500.

One of the men returned later. The money has not been recovered.

News of FBI charges against the hitherto respected pair swept through town with teletype speed and caused folks to scratch their heads in amazement.

Former Mayor Theodore Roosevelt Beahm Sr., 56, was "just about one of the nicest guys you ever saw," a local police officer said. Beahm had been with the town's only bank about 20 years and had risen to the posts of vice president and cashier.

Comparative Newcomer

Don R. Simpson, 55, a bank director, was a comparative newcomer "but he seemed real pleasant," police said. Officers said Simpson came here 2½ years ago, bought a fashionable estate and told folks he was a former sheriff in Somerset county, Pa.

Both Beahm and Simpson were charged with bank embezzlement. Accused of aiding the two men to flee to Canada is Simpson's nephew, Charles R. Simpson, 30, described by town officials as a "nice lad." The FBI said he chauffeured the other two to Canada.

The FBI said Beahm flew back Monday and complained he'd been forced at gunpoint to open the vault Saturday and give the money to an unknown man and the elder Simpson, who then kidnaped him and took him to Canada.

Couldn't Back Story

But the FBI said Beahm was unable to substantiate his story and, on further questioning, admitted he and Simpson followed a preconceived plan to clean out the bank's funds and take off. Beahm was quoted by the FBI as saying he last saw Simpson in Toronto, Canada.

The FBI said none of the $35,500 in cash and $79,000 in negotiables had been recovered. Beahm told agents he didn't get any of it.

Beahm was quoted as saying he and the Simpson's simply took the money Saturday and drove off to Canada, but that he decided to fly back Monday. He posted $2,500 bond yesterday.

At Toronto, police officials said they had received no word asking them to be on the lookout for the two Simpsons.

Reuter Tribute Paid

Berlin, Oct. 2 (AP)—West Berlin's common folk trudged slowly past a simple coffin on City Hall Square today in silent tribute to their departed champion against Communist tyranny, Mayor Ernst Reuter. Long lines waited patiently for the one-second trip past the closed coffin. They filed past at the rate of 2,500 an hour. The body will lie in state until tomorrow afternoon, when funeral services are expected to draw more than a million persons to the city square.

MarbletownSchool Club Picks Officers

The Parent, Teachers and Friends Club of Marbletown Central School held its first informal meeting of the fall term Wednesday, Sept. 23 at 8 p. m. in the cafeteria of the school.

The officers for the club are: President, Cloyd Elias; vice-president, Mrs. Lansing Hunt; recording secretary, Mrs. Clyde Roosa; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John Lester; treasurer, Wallace Fulford.

The following committees will function for the coming year:

Fund raising committee—Wallace Fulford, temporary chairman; Mrs. Fulford, Mr. and Mrs. John Basten; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Knudsen.

Refreshment committee — the Mmes. Sheil, Elias, Clifford Sheeley, Roy Webber and Schoonmaker.

Mrs. Ruth Roosa's fourth grade won the September banner for a 33 per cent attendance of parents at the meeting.

The club donated $50 toward a speaker's stand for the school.

A discussion on What We Expect From Our School revealed that overcrowded class rooms cut down on the individual attention desired by parents and the club is planning to overcome the situation.

There was a social hour with refreshments and accordion selections by William Paetow of High Falls.

Bank Call Issued

Washington, Oct. 2 (AP)—The comptroller of the currency today issued a call for a statement of the condition of all national banks at the close of business Wednesday, Sept. 30. The Federal Reserve System issued a similar call for statements from its member banks.

NEW SPANISH BASES

Since 1949 the idea of an accord giving America the use of military bases in Spain has been debated. For a long time, unfavorable political considerations blocked the way, but eventually military factors overrode, and a 10 to 20-year pact now has been signed.

Under the agreement, this country will proceed to develop three major air bases in Spain, and two principal naval bases, one on the Mediterranean and the other on the Atlantic. In a second phase, minor naval facilities and airports will be built up at various points.

In return, the U. S. will grant military and economic aid to Spain, with the aim of beefing up the 350,000-man Spanish army. That force is now very badly equipped, most of its armament dating from the 1937-39 civil war. Its air force has but 300 planes, not all of them certainly air-worthy. Congress already has voted $226 million for this purpose, and probably will approve more next year.

This event is measured by western military men as of high strategic importance. The reasons:

1. Bringing Spain into the Western defense orbit (even though not into NATO or the UN) will complete a defense chain reaching from Turkey and Greece in the east to the Iberian Peninsula in the west. Thereby, the security of the vital Mediterranean waterway will be enhanced.

2. The agreement will give us air bases behind the protective land barrier of the Pyrenees Mountains and beyond range of the present Russian MIGs. Furthermore, Soviet planes would have to fly over much more western soil than now to reach them, making these aircraft easier to intercept.

Military men believe atomic weapons and guided missiles have greatly reduced the value of Britain as a base and staging area. Spain, on the other hand, is like a giant aircraft carrier permanently moored at the Pyrenees border.

3. The Spanish bases will enable the U.S. to supplement the striking power of its intercontinental B-52 bombers, which will be fairly scarce until 1957. From Spanish points, our more numerous B-47's, intermediate in range, could shuttle back and fourth to Russia easily with atomic loads.

We have similar intermediate bases in France and North Africa, but U. S. Strategists have worried in recent months over France's unstable government and North Africa's political turbulence.

4. This gives America its first major naval base in the Mediterranean. This will mean a haven for repair and refueling. Moreover, it will provide a secure storage place for large military cargoes which otherwise would take much shipping in wartime.

To gain all this, we are giving aid but no formal, published commitment to defend Spanish soil. Yet it seems clear that if war came and the bases were imperiled we would hardly stand idly by. To do so might be to lose the best supply base and jumping-off point we could find on the continent of Europe.

A controversy is in progress in the British press as to whether it is proper to address a man's mail to "Mr. So and So" or to "So and So, Esquire." Which gives us the chance to revive the old chestnut that it's all right to call us anything except late for meals.

EISENHOWER AND THE PRESS

By the testimony of both his friends and critics, President Eisenhower is a successful practitioner of the art of the press conference. Nevertheless, he is not matching his recent predecessor in the frequency of his appearances before newsmen.

President Roosevelt held an average of 80 conferences a year, and President Truman about 40 annually. In his ninth month in the White House, Mr. Eisenhower has met the press 14 times. If he continues at that pace, he will have held less than 30 conferences in his first year.

In the interest of maintaining the health and worth of this vital institution of government, we must hope that hereafter the President sees fit to make himself available to newsmen more often.

In all the confusion over charges of a "one-party press" the really important question of the decline of the two-pants suit seems to have been forgotten.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

FREE NEWSPAPERS

It has become customary to give over a week for special purposes, such as a week for apples or for the Community Chest or for the county fair. This week has been designated "Newspaper Week," which, I presume, was invented to stimulate a greater interest in the press.

The American people probably devote themselves to newspaper reading more than any other people on earth, and neither radio nor television has markedly interfered with the habit. Also, the American newspaper is unlike the press in any other country: it not only carries news and comment, but it has become a vehicle for entertainment, in the form of comic strips, crossword puzzles, etc.; and a vehicle for instruction in such devices as how to sew, cook, care for one's health, and even advice to those who are in love and those who have made a failure of their marriages.

Again, in no other country does the newspaper depend so much for graphic reporting upon pictures, charts and maps. The newspaper photographer has become ubiquitous, taking millions of photographs each year, not all of which, fortunately, are printed or there would be room for little else.

Even the advertisements are regarded as news and often are read first and most ardently. Women, who constitute the bulk of consumer purchasers, have never found a substitute for the newspaper as a guide to shopping, nor could the department or chain stores have developed to their present dimensions as distributors of so varied and changing lines of commodities if the newspapers were not available to advertise their wares. Advertising is therefore and in that sense news.

The omnibus character of the American newspaper often diverts attention from its two main features, which are the provision of accurate news and the presentation of a variety of views on the subjects of the day. In a free society, the people are entitled to information, unfettered by censorship, and unpolluted at the source either by government direction or corruption of self-interested propaganda.

For two decades, the tendency on the part of government to direct the nature and trend of the news has continuously increased until it has become something of a problem. Every department of government issues mimeographed sheets which are supposed to provide "official" information. Some of this "official" data also comes in beautifully printed brochures.

Little of it is news. Most of it is propaganda designed to color the news and requires the most careful scrutiny and analysis. In time of war, some felt that it was an act of patriotism to support the Government in its own appraisal of what it did; good reporting should provide the facts irrespective of whom it pleases or displeases, whom it benefits or hurts.

In the matter of views, our newspapers have, on the whole, been more free than in the collection of news. Views, thought, opinion depend upon argument, debate, controversy for the truth. Thinking in a vacuum rarely produces a constructive idea. American newspapers tend to open their columns to a variety of opinions. The more controversial a newspaper is, the better is serves the public. There are a few American newspapers that insist upon presenting only the views of its owners and editors; such are, in effect, propaganda organs for a particular position. Most American newspapers recognize that the editorial column expresses the newspaper's own attitude, but that in a free society such as ours, the people have a right to access to differing views and opinions.

It is for this reason, for instance, that many newspapers publish the writings of columnists whom they do not particularly like or whose views they actively dislike. In no other country is this possible; yet it is an outstanding public service. For each columnist represents a viewpoint of a segment of the population and, taken together, their writings often present the spectrum of thought of the whole people. Out of this variety of differences come the decisions which are finally made at the polls and in the halls of Congress.

Despite a tendency throughout the world to reduce the press to an organ of government or of a political party, the American newspaper remains free, including every facet of thought and ideal and expression. As long as this remains true, ours will continue to be a free society.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

EARLY OPERATION FOR STOMACH ULCER

When a patient consults his physician about his "indigestion" and the symptoms present for weeks or months, and the patient is from 30 to 40 years old, the physician will usually advise X-rays of stomach and intestine. The X-rays will show whether the indigestion is caused by inflammation of lining of stomach, an ulcer or the stomach or first part of the small intestine, or cancer of the stomach. In some cases, test meals will be given to estimate the percentage of hydrochloric acid present in the stomach digestive juice.

While stomach ulcer is always a serious condition, most cases can be controlled by diet and medicines. However, as an ulcer can develop into cancer, physicians now suspect development of cancer until this has been disproved.

In Minerva Medicine, Turin, Italy, Dr. F. Soave states that during the last four years 378 patients with gastric (stomach) ulcer were seen at the University of Genoa surgical clinic and 352 of these underwent operation. The death rate was low (1.5 per cent). The microscope revealed that in 127 (17 per cent) of these patients the ulcer was malignant (cancer) and yet in all of them only ulcer had been diagnosed. Only 40 per cent of these patients were still living at the time of writing but their general condition was poor and suggested early death.

Dr. Soave suggests that strict diet and medical treatment should be begun whenever X-rays reveal a gastric ulcer 1.5 cm. (about half an inch) in diameter in a person 30 to 40 years old who has had dyspepsia associated with an increase in hydrochloric acid. After 3 to 4 weeks of diet and medical treatment, if the ulcer is benign (not cancer) the patient's symptoms will have disappeared and the X-rays will show that the margins of the ulcer are less evident and its diameter has decreased. In this case, the diet and medical treatment should be continued for 50 to 60 days after which the ulcer should be cured. If, on the other hand, the ulcer picture has not improved after the first few weeks, the patient should be operated on without delay since the growth might be cancer.

"The sooner the decision is taken, the better the late results will be. Early surgical intervention in these patients will avoid perforation of the ulcer, sudden hemorrhage, and development of cancer of the ulcer."

I believe the above suggestions for patients and physicians should mean much in prevention of cancer and its trail of symptoms.

Yeh, Let's Not Be Silly About This

Larsen's Washington News Notebook

Washington—(NEA) — Money is getting cheaper.

When the new administration moved in, the U. S. Treasury was spending $9.73 per thousand to print notes. This seemed expensive to George M. Humphrey, the new secretary, along with a lot of other things the agency was doing. He ordered some economy studies and the results are interesting.

It now costs $8.80 per thousand to print bills, thanks to a cheaper process they discovered. Net saving is $1,450,000 per year.

Then someone raised the question: Why was it necessary for Federal Reserve Banks to send mutilated one-dollar bills to Washington to be burned? They couldn't find a good reason, other than it had always been done that way. Now the banks destroy their own bills and it saves $530,000 per year.

At the Treasury's Bureau of Internal Revenue, the new economy hounds decided it wasn't necessary to require the filing of excise tax returns every month, the quarterly filing would be just as good. They tried it out, with a sample audit to make sure the new system would not inspire abuses. The savings amount to $3,600,000 per year.

William Parsons, Humphrey, administrative aide, has everyone in the Department looking for ways to save money. No saving is too small for him.

Hard-Eyed Penny-Pinchers

Parsons has a counterpart in most of the agencies. The new corps of efficiency experts which the Republicans have brought in are a bunch of hard-eyed penny-pinchers.

James C. Worthy, the Department of Commerce assistant secretary for administration, on loan from Sears Roebuck, is probably the most aggressive of them all. His philosophy on saving a buck goes something like this:

"First you've got to get everybody thinking about ways to save money. Small amounts, too. Then when individuals do come up with economy ideas, see that they get some kind of recognition. In other words, create a kind of economy climate."

Soon after Worthy took his new job, he had to make an official trip to Baltimore, 47 miles away. He asked his secretary to get the $1.55 train ticket for him through regular channels. But he was appalled at the amount of red tape she had to go through.

It aroused his curiosity. The cost of buying one train ticket was $20. Now a plan is about to be installed for a cash account which will cut that expense.

At the Department of Labor, they have set up a cash fund for the use of taxicabs by officials. James Dodson, that agency's money saver, has figured that it's much cheaper to use cabs than maintain a lot of cars. Now only the top man has a car at his disposal, assistant secretaries share one official car, and all other riding is done in cabs. These savings will add up to many thousands of dollars when the final accounting is ended.

Phone to Save $17,000

At the Department of Labor, they've just installed a dial telephone system which will save an estimated $17,000 per year.

Worthy is also doing something about the Department of Commerce fleet of 4693 cars. He claims that's enough automotive power to take every Commerce employe to a Sunday picnic in two shifts.

At first Worthy enjoyed the morning papers and then he discovered it was costing $1059 per year for papers delivered to the secretary's office alone. He put a stop to that. Another item which has come under his axe is $3000 for magazines annually.

All of these cases of big and small savings are just typical examples of what is going on in all of the government agencies. At the end of the year they could add up to hundreds of millions saved, and perhaps make a major contribution to balancing the budget.

Stevenson Suggestion to Eisenhower Is Regarded as Being Somewhat Curious

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 2—Adlai Stevenson made what looks like a curious suggestion to President Eisenhower. The former presidential candidate says he would like to see the United States sign a non-aggression pact with Soviet Russia.

Does this mean that Mr. Stevenson believes it necessary for the United States to make a pledge that hereafter it will not commit acts of aggression against Soviet Russia? Has the United States ever been guilty of aggression heretofore? In the eyes of Stalin, Vishinsky, Mao and the rest of the Communists, the United States crossed the 38th Parallel in Korea with other members of the United Nations and committed acts of aggression against the so-called People's Government in North Korea.

Mr. Stevenson says the objective of the proposed non-aggression pact would be "to deprive Soviet Russia of the peace propaganda it now has and put them on the spot as to their intentions." But if the United States agrees "not to commit acts of aggression any more"—as the Soviet propaganda will phrase it—the step will be tantamount to pleading guilty, of course, to an absurd accusation.

The former Illinois governor isn't quite sure whether his suggested pact of non-aggression would include just Great Britain, France, the United States and Soviet Russia, or whether it would include all the countries behind the Iron Curtain as well as such hypothetical aggressors as now are known as members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The President is reported to have shown an interest in what Mr. Stevenson proposed and also to have listened intently to the story of what the former presidential nominee found on his trip around the world. It is natural for Mr. Eisenhower to be polite about such things and to do so in the interest of a bipartisan front in handling foreign policy. But at the same time the nation is getting a rather confused impression as to what the Eisenhower administration really has in mind in the matter of world policy, especially as it relates to Soviet Russia.

There is a feeling that the President has been unable to formulate a definite policy about what to do as a consequence of the development of the hydrogen bomb by Soviet Russia. From Mr. Eisenhower's press conference on Wednesday came the following official information:

1. The knowledge that the Russians have the bomb is, of course, an acute problem for the Defense Department.

2. This is causing more earnest study than anything which has happened lately.

3. When the President can get sorted in his own mind and with his advisers exactly how the government here should approach this whole subject and its interrelationship with the international situation, the relief of tension in the world and the growing destructiveness of the world's armament—when he can get that all straightened out—he expects to go before the American people and tell them about it. He will be very frank in telling them the facts on which his studies have been based and the conclusions which he and the administration have reached.

The foregoing doesn't sound as if the American government has any plan or program to deal with the Communist menace except to deal with each new situation as it arises. The President feels he should not say anything in his forthcoming speeches that might produce adverse reactions. His reasons as he gave them to the press are these:

1. We have friends abroad and must be very careful that they understand always that we have one intention—namely, peace. We don't want war, and anyone with his war experience would put war at the very last of any possible solutions to the world's difficulties.

2. The President thinks the only possible tragedy greater than winning a war would be losing it. Just war should be ruled out of the calculations of all of us and we should proceed from there.

3. Now America wants all her allies to understand thoroughly that, because we have to take rudimentary precautions for our own security, we will not quail from any sacrifice necessary to provide that security. If you don't look out, these intentions are misunderstood, and badly misunderstood.

4. Some of our friends say we are pugnacious and impulsive or we have last faith in the conference table. Those things are far from the truth.

5. Another thing is that you don't want to frighten anyone to death in the world. Frightened people cannot make good decisions. So you have to understand the strength of the free world and the strength of America at the very same time you are weighing also our dangers and our risks.

This is but another way of saying that talk about the destructiveness of the H-bomb could frighten European peoples and drive them into appeasement policies. Likewise, if too much emphasis is placed on what might happen to our side, it may be overlooked that the free world can deliver retaliatory blows as well.

The formula is still one of threat and counterthreat.

The explusion of Joe Ryan's longshoremen from the American Federation of Labor is a pietistical fake whereby other rackets as bad or worse, including the teamsters' and the operating engineers,' are permitted to get away with an air of virtue. It is true that the working longshoremen have been robbed and degraded for decades by racketeers of their own union and that the harbors of New York, New Orleans and other ports have been turned into political concessions for robber barons, for the most part loyal Democrats. But though Ryan thought noting of closing the port of New York in retaliation for expulsion, the damage already done in the current armament program by Dave Beck's teamsters in the Kansas City area and by the engineers in the Paducah atomic project was ignored in the St. Louis Convention of the AF of L. A citizen who had wrought one-tenth of the harm inflicted in these areas without the slightest pretext of a legitimate grievance by labor would have deserved a long prison term, if not death, for the same reason that the Rosenbergs died in Sing Sing.

The power of the unions is greater today than ever, but Eisenhower seems not to know what flagrant criminality goes on under the great seal of the AF of L. If he does know, he follows strange reasoning in sending the vice president and the secretary of state to the annual convention of the AF of L to propitiate this band of rogues as though they were citizens of good repute and patriotic.

In Kansas City, Al Delaguch and Ray Morgan, reporters for The Star, the paper that broke the Pendergast gang and helped send Harry Truman's patron to prison, began last winter to rip into the wanton rule of O. L. Ring, president of Beck's Local 541, and others of the same vicious circle. While Beck's package goods press-agents in daily journalism across the country were slipping over propaganda praising his enlightened statesmanship, Delaguch and Morgan interviewed individuals and made a cumulative case which was confirmed by a congressional committee consisting of Wint Smith, of Kansas; Clare Hoffman, of Michigan, and Jeffrey Hillelson, of Missouri, Republicans.

Hillelson, by the way, unseated Leonard Irving, of Truman's home town of Independence, who had reigned for years as boss of a particularly wild and brutal local of the hod-carriers' and common laborers' racket and had had two Cadillacs at once, given in grateful affection by his brow-beaten diggers, for his little travels around Washington. Now there are balloons afloat in the gossip columns that Margaret Truman will try to displace Hillelson next time around. A number of construction unions were involved in the turbulence, but it came down to this that Beck's satrap, O. L. Ring, terrorized the whole area. One witness said his construction company paid $156,958 to loafing "stewards" for activities which amounted to nothing more helpful than interference with rearmament projects.

Mr. Morgan wrote that The Star's coverage began in 1952 after Ring of the teamsters had called a one-day strike of five building crafts. Ring was the negotiant for these unions although he held no valid credentials from any building trade. Men who were beaten up kept still until the reporters persuaded them that they had a public duty to speak up and take their chances.

Lake City Arsenal, producing small arms ammunition for Korea, was struck after two of Ring's stewards were chased out by Col. E. M. Serrem, who then chased Ring out too. In January, 1953, a steward for the Hodcarriers working closely with Ring beat up a carpenter at the Grandview Base and the carpenters walked off, closing down construction of a plant which was needed as headquarters of the Central Air Defense. In May, 1953, Ring struck the Sunflower Ordnance Works, producing powder for artillery. Eventually all construction jobs were closed down by strikes of the Teamsters, Laborers and so-called Operating Engineers, the same wanton racket that preyed upon the vast Paducah projects. This total closure dragged on for ten weeks and yet, Eisenhower, himself a military man, kept trying to wheedle cooperation out of Martin Durkin, an old-style, unregenerate AF of L bureaucrat who finally stormed

Since 1949 the idea of an accord giving America the use of military bases in Spain has been debated. For a long time, unfavorable political considerations blocked the way, but eventually military factors overrode, and a 10 to 20-year pact now has been signed.

Under the agreement, this country will proceed to develop three major air bases in Spain, and two principal naval bases, one on the Mediterranean and the other on the Atlantic. In a second phase, minor naval facilities and airports will be built up at various points.

In return, the U. S. will grant military and economic aid to Spain, with the aim of beefing up the 350,000-man Spanish army. That force is now very badly equipped, most of its armament dating from the 1937-39 civil war. Its air force has but 300 planes, not all of them certainly air-worthy. Congress already has voted $226 million for this purpose, and probably will approve more next year.

This event is measured by western military men as of high strategic importance. The reasons:

1. Bringing Spain into the Western defense orbit (even though not into NATO or the UN) will complete a defense chain reaching from Turkey and Greece in the east to the Iberian Peninsula in the west. Thereby, the security of the vital Mediterranean waterway will be enhanced.

2. The agreement will give us air bases behind the protective land barrier of the Pyrenees Mountains and beyond range of the present Russian MIGs. Furthermore, Soviet planes would have to fly over much more western soil than now to reach them, making these aircraft easier to intercept.

Military men believe atomic weapons and guided missiles have greatly reduced the value of Britain as a base and staging area. Spain, on the other hand, is like a giant aircraft carrier permanently moored at the Pyrenees border.

3. The Spanish bases will enable the U.S. to supplement the striking power of its intercontinental B-52 bombers, which will be fairly scarce until 1957. From Spanish points, our more numerous B-47's, intermediate in range, could shuttle back and fourth to Russia easily with atomic loads.

We have similar intermediate bases in France and North Africa, but U. S. Strategists have worried in recent months over France's unstable government and North Africa's political turbulence.

4. This gives America its first major naval base in the Mediterranean. This will mean a haven for repair and refueling. Moreover, it will provide a secure storage place for large military cargoes which otherwise would take much shipping in wartime.

To gain all this, we are giving aid but no formal, published commitment to defend Spanish soil. Yet it seems clear that if war came and the bases were imperiled we would hardly stand idly by. To do so might be to lose the best supply base and jumping-off point we could find on the continent of Europe.

A controversy is in progress in the British press as to whether it is proper to address a man's mail to "Mr. So and So" or to "So and So, Esquire." Which gives us the chance to revive the old chestnut that it's all right to call us anything except late for meals.

EISENHOWER AND THE PRESS

By the testimony of both his friends and critics, President Eisenhower is a successful practitioner of the art of the press conference. Nevertheless, he is not matching his recent predecessor in the frequency of his appearances before newsmen.

President Roosevelt held an average of 80 conferences a year, and President Truman about 40 annually. In his ninth month in the White House, Mr. Eisenhower has met the press 14 times. If he continues at that pace, he will have held less than 30 conferences in his first year.

In the interest of maintaining the health and worth of this vital institution of government, we must hope that hereafter the President sees fit to make himself available to newsmen more often.

In all the confusion over charges of a "one-party press" the really important question of the decline of the two-pants suit seems to have been forgotten.

'These Days'

FREE NEWSPAPERS

It has become customary to give over a week for special purposes, such as a week for apples or for the Community Chest or for the county fair. This week has been designated "Newspaper Week," which, I presume, was invented to stimulate a greater interest in the press.

The American people probably devote themselves to newspaper reading more than any other people on earth, and neither radio nor television has markedly interfered with the habit. Also, the American newspaper is unlike the press in any other country: it not only carries news and comment, but it has become a vehicle for entertainment, in the form of comic strips, crossword puzzles, etc.; and a vehicle for instruction in such devices as how to sew, cook, care for one's health, and even advice to those who are in love and those who have made a failure of their marriages.

Again, in no other country does the newspaper depend so much for graphic reporting upon pictures, charts and maps. The newspaper photographer has become ubiquitous, taking millions of photographs each year, not all of which, fortunately, are printed or there would be room for little else.

Even the advertisements are regarded as news and often are read first and most ardently. Women, who constitute the bulk of consumer purchasers, have never found a substitute for the newspaper as a guide to shopping, nor could the department or chain stores have developed to their present dimensions as distributors of so varied and changing lines of commodities if the newspapers were not available to advertise their wares. Advertising is therefore and in that sense news.

The omnibus character of the American newspaper often diverts attention from its two main features, which are the provision of accurate news and the presentation of a variety of views on the subjects of the day. In a free society, the people are entitled to information, unfettered by censorship, and unpolluted at the source either by government direction or corruption of self-interested propaganda.

For two decades, the tendency on the part of government to direct the nature and trend of the news has continuously increased until it has become something of a problem. Every department of government issues mimeographed sheets which are supposed to provide "official" information. Some of this "official" data also comes in beautifully printed brochures.

Little of it is news. Most of it is propaganda designed to color the news and requires the most careful scrutiny and analysis. In time of war, some felt that it was an act of patriotism to support the Government in its own appraisal of what it did; good reporting should provide the facts irrespective of whom it pleases or displeases, whom it benefits or hurts.

In the matter of views, our newspapers have, on the whole, been more free than in the collection of news. Views, thought, opinion depend upon argument, debate, controversy for the truth. Thinking in a vacuum rarely produces a constructive idea. American newspapers tend to open their columns to a variety of opinions. The more controversial a newspaper is, the better is serves the public. There are a few American newspapers that insist upon presenting only the views of its owners and editors; such are, in effect, propaganda organs for a particular position. Most American newspapers recognize that the editorial column expresses the newspaper's own attitude, but that in a free society such as ours, the people have a right to access to differing views and opinions.

It is for this reason, for instance, that many newspapers publish the writings of columnists whom they do not particularly like or whose views they actively dislike. In no other country is this possible; yet it is an outstanding public service. For each columnist represents a viewpoint of a segment of the population and, taken together, their writings often present the spectrum of thought of the whole people. Out of this variety of differences come the decisions which are finally made at the polls and in the halls of Congress.

Despite a tendency throughout the world to reduce the press to an organ of government or of a political party, the American newspaper remains free, including every facet of thought and ideal and expression. As long as this remains true, ours will continue to be a free society.

That Body of Yours

EARLY OPERATION FOR STOMACH ULCER

When a patient consults his physician about his "indigestion" and the symptoms present for weeks or months, and the patient is from 30 to 40 years old, the physician will usually advise X-rays of stomach and intestine. The X-rays will show whether the indigestion is caused by inflammation of lining of stomach, an ulcer or the stomach or first part of the small intestine, or cancer of the stomach. In some cases, test meals will be given to estimate the percentage of hydrochloric acid present in the stomach digestive juice.

While stomach ulcer is always a serious condition, most cases can be controlled by diet and medicines. However, as an ulcer can develop into cancer, physicians now suspect development of cancer until this has been disproved.

In Minerva Medicine, Turin, Italy, Dr. F. Soave states that during the last four years 378 patients with gastric (stomach) ulcer were seen at the University of Genoa surgical clinic and 352 of these underwent operation. The death rate was low (1.5 per cent). The microscope revealed that in 127 (17 per cent) of these patients the ulcer was malignant (cancer) and yet in all of them only ulcer had been diagnosed. Only 40 per cent of these patients were still living at the time of writing but their general condition was poor and suggested early death.

Dr. Soave suggests that strict diet and medical treatment should be begun whenever X-rays reveal a gastric ulcer 1.5 cm. (about half an inch) in diameter in a person 30 to 40 years old who has had dyspepsia associated with an increase in hydrochloric acid. After 3 to 4 weeks of diet and medical treatment, if the ulcer is benign (not cancer) the patient's symptoms will have disappeared and the X-rays will show that the margins of the ulcer are less evident and its diameter has decreased. In this case, the diet and medical treatment should be continued for 50 to 60 days after which the ulcer should be cured. If, on the other hand, the ulcer picture has not improved after the first few weeks, the patient should be operated on without delay since the growth might be cancer.

"The sooner the decision is taken, the better the late results will be. Early surgical intervention in these patients will avoid perforation of the ulcer, sudden hemorrhage, and development of cancer of the ulcer."

I believe the above suggestions for patients and physicians should mean much in prevention of cancer and its trail of symptoms.

Yeh, Let's Not Be Silly About This

Larsen's Washington News Notebook

Washington—(NEA) — Money is getting cheaper.

When the new administration moved in, the U. S. Treasury was spending $9.73 per thousand to print notes. This seemed expensive to George M. Humphrey, the new secretary, along with a lot of other things the agency was doing. He ordered some economy studies and the results are interesting.

It now costs $8.80 per thousand to print bills, thanks to a cheaper process they discovered. Net saving is $1,450,000 per year.

Then someone raised the question: Why was it necessary for Federal Reserve Banks to send mutilated one-dollar bills to Washington to be burned? They couldn't find a good reason, other than it had always been done that way. Now the banks destroy their own bills and it saves $530,000 per year.

At the Treasury's Bureau of Internal Revenue, the new economy hounds decided it wasn't necessary to require the filing of excise tax returns every month, the quarterly filing would be just as good. They tried it out, with a sample audit to make sure the new system would not inspire abuses. The savings amount to $3,600,000 per year.

William Parsons, Humphrey, administrative aide, has everyone in the Department looking for ways to save money. No saving is too small for him.

Hard-Eyed Penny-Pinchers

Parsons has a counterpart in most of the agencies. The new corps of efficiency experts which the Republicans have brought in are a bunch of hard-eyed penny-pinchers.

James C. Worthy, the Department of Commerce assistant secretary for administration, on loan from Sears Roebuck, is probably the most aggressive of them all. His philosophy on saving a buck goes something like this:

"First you've got to get everybody thinking about ways to save money. Small amounts, too. Then when individuals do come up with economy ideas, see that they get some kind of recognition. In other words, create a kind of economy climate."

Soon after Worthy took his new job, he had to make an official trip to Baltimore, 47 miles away. He asked his secretary to get the $1.55 train ticket for him through regular channels. But he was appalled at the amount of red tape she had to go through.

It aroused his curiosity. The cost of buying one train ticket was $20. Now a plan is about to be installed for a cash account which will cut that expense.

At the Department of Labor, they have set up a cash fund for the use of taxicabs by officials. James Dodson, that agency's money saver, has figured that it's much cheaper to use cabs than maintain a lot of cars. Now only the top man has a car at his disposal, assistant secretaries share one official car, and all other riding is done in cabs. These savings will add up to many thousands of dollars when the final accounting is ended.

Phone to Save $17,000

At the Department of Labor, they've just installed a dial telephone system which will save an estimated $17,000 per year.

Worthy is also doing something about the Department of Commerce fleet of 4693 cars. He claims that's enough automotive power to take every Commerce employe to a Sunday picnic in two shifts.

At first Worthy enjoyed the morning papers and then he discovered it was costing $1059 per year for papers delivered to the secretary's office alone. He put a stop to that. Another item which has come under his axe is $3000 for magazines annually.

All of these cases of big and small savings are just typical examples of what is going on in all of the government agencies. At the end of the year they could add up to hundreds of millions saved, and perhaps make a major contribution to balancing the budget.

Stevenson Suggestion to Eisenhower Is Regarded as Being Somewhat Curious

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 2—Adlai Stevenson made what looks like a curious suggestion to President Eisenhower. The former presidential candidate says he would like to see the United States sign a non-aggression pact with Soviet Russia.

Does this mean that Mr. Stevenson believes it necessary for the United States to make a pledge that hereafter it will not commit acts of aggression against Soviet Russia? Has the United States ever been guilty of aggression heretofore? In the eyes of Stalin, Vishinsky, Mao and the rest of the Communists, the United States crossed the 38th Parallel in Korea with other members of the United Nations and committed acts of aggression against the so-called People's Government in North Korea.

Mr. Stevenson says the objective of the proposed non-aggression pact would be "to deprive Soviet Russia of the peace propaganda it now has and put them on the spot as to their intentions." But if the United States agrees "not to commit acts of aggression any more"—as the Soviet propaganda will phrase it—the step will be tantamount to pleading guilty, of course, to an absurd accusation.

The former Illinois governor isn't quite sure whether his suggested pact of non-aggression would include just Great Britain, France, the United States and Soviet Russia, or whether it would include all the countries behind the Iron Curtain as well as such hypothetical aggressors as now are known as members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The President is reported to have shown an interest in what Mr. Stevenson proposed and also to have listened intently to the story of what the former presidential nominee found on his trip around the world. It is natural for Mr. Eisenhower to be polite about such things and to do so in the interest of a bipartisan front in handling foreign policy. But at the same time the nation is getting a rather confused impression as to what the Eisenhower administration really has in mind in the matter of world policy, especially as it relates to Soviet Russia.

There is a feeling that the President has been unable to formulate a definite policy about what to do as a consequence of the development of the hydrogen bomb by Soviet Russia. From Mr. Eisenhower's press conference on Wednesday came the following official information:

1. The knowledge that the Russians have the bomb is, of course, an acute problem for the Defense Department.

2. This is causing more earnest study than anything which has happened lately.

3. When the President can get sorted in his own mind and with his advisers exactly how the government here should approach this whole subject and its interrelationship with the international situation, the relief of tension in the world and the growing destructiveness of the world's armament—when he can get that all straightened out—he expects to go before the American people and tell them about it. He will be very frank in telling them the facts on which his studies have been based and the conclusions which he and the administration have reached.

Men who were beaten up kept still until the reporters persuaded them that they had a public duty to speak up and take their chances.

Lake City Arsenal, producing small arms ammunition for Korea, was struck after two of Ring's stewards were chased out by Col. E. M. Serrem, who then chased Ring out too. In January, 1953, a steward for the Hodcarriers working closely with Ring beat up a carpenter at the Grandview Base and the carpenters walked off, closing down construction of a plant which was needed as headquarters of the Central Air Defense. In May, 1953, Ring struck the Sunflower Ordnance Works, producing powder for artillery. Eventually all construction jobs were closed down by strikes of the Teamsters, Laborers and so-called Operating Engineers, the same wanton racket that preyed upon the vast Paducah projects. This total closure dragged on for ten weeks and yet, Eisenhower, himself a military man, kept trying to wheedle cooperation out of Martin Durkin, an old-style, unregenerate AF of L bureaucrat who finally stormed

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, Sept. 30—Guests at the home of Mrs. Virgil Gordon the latter part of the week included Mrs. Fred Halyburton, New London, Conn., and her cousin, Mrs. Cole Warner of Newburgh. Mrs. Halyburton and Mrs. Warner, who was Grace Gordon, are granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Gordon, residents of the Winchell's Falls section of Brown's Station many years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Luke Sheeley of Kingston were numbered among the many callers in the hub of the reservoir country Sunday afternoon.

Today marks the completion of 10 years of service by Postmaster Betsy VonderOsten in the local office. Mrs. VanderOsten a few months after taking office transferred the business from the Thomas Matland house on the reservoir road to her new building at the present and more centrally located site on Route 28, and during her tenure has inaugurated several notable improvements to the mail service here. She is actively identified with postmasters associations and is a regular attendant at district, state and national conventions.

Helen Bowre of Saugerties was a caller in the village Saturday.

Birthdays falling Tuesday, Sept. 29, included that of Edward Phillips, one of three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Phillips of Glenford. A former Shokan boy, he was born at West Hurley and is a World War 2 veteran. He is married and has three children.

Mrs. Weidner Davis and daughter, Gertrude, of Kingston, were callers Monday at the local old country store and antique shop. The Davis family formerly had a home at Boiceville and also resided near Old Hurley before going to Kingston.

William Schwartz, a Pine Hill bus line driver, has moved here and is occupying a trailer on an Onteora Trail lot bought of George Giles. Another bus driver. M. Schneider, with his wife and two young daughters has taken up residence in the house recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Burton Tandy. The Schneider place, on the opposite side of the trail from the Schwartz home, reportedly was bought from Philip Smith last summer. Incidentally, the westend of Shokan is now developing at a pace approximating that of the rapidly growing Van-Steenburgh road section of the village. There are signs, too, that there will be a lot of building in the Ridge road environs before another autumn rolls around.

Shokan, Oct. 1—Mr. and Mrs. George F. Cummings of Saugerties were callers in the hub of the reservoir country Saturday. The couple operate a tourist home and boarding house on 9-W at Barclay Heights.

Mrs. Burton Fenny and Mrs. A. Henkel of Boiceville were callers in the village center Tuesday.

Frances Cardinale is occupying the Eugenia Lawlor tenant house on the Onteora Trail. Mrs. Cardinale, who comes from Catskill, plans to live here the year round.

Rudolph Juralek, formerly of Shokan, motored over from Monticello and spent Tuesday here.

Mabel Weidner, tax collector for the Onteora Central School district, will sit at Winchell's store Monday, Oct. 12, for the collection of taxes. The rate this year for Olive is about $40 per thousand.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wells of Modena were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sickler of Van Steenburgh road.

Saturday, there will be a subdistrict Youth Rally at Phoenicia. Anyone wishing to attend this evening rally may contact the Rev. John W. Grob at the Ashokan parsonage for transportation.

Richard Tasse who operates a large dairy farm near Willow was a caller here Tuesday.

Postmaster B. Vonder Osten calls attention to National Letter Writing Week, October 4-10, and urges that servicemen, friends and relatives be remembered upon this occasion.

Birthdays falling Friday, Oct. 2 include that of Mrs. Harry Weeks, local boardinghouse keeper. The former Laura Wohlfit was born in New York and came to Shokan to make her home in 1941.

Work was started Tuesday on an addition to the Thord Fredenholm bungalow along the reservoir road in the village center.

Antique dealers from several states have begun their annual fall scouting trips to the Catskills. Some of them spend several days looking for old stuff, returning home with their suburban cars loaded to the gunwales with second hand things that collectors will scramble for, come next spring.

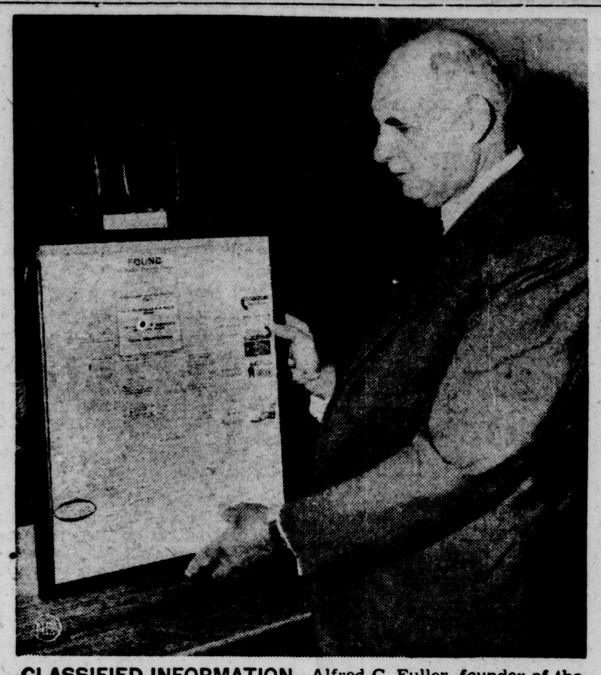
Baptist Men to Hold Layman's HourSaturday

A layman's hour will be held Saturday, Oct. 3, at 11:30 a. m. at the First Baptist Church, corner of Broadway and Albany avenue, during the convention of the Hudson River Central Baptist Association, it was announced today by Sherwood Lasher, secretary of the Men's Club of that church.

All members of the church are requested to attend and participate in a pertinent discussion concerning the challenge Christianity has for them.

George Matthews, key layman, will present to the members of the Men's Club of the church their charter as members of the American Baptist Laymen's Association.

The New England Courant was founded in Boston in 1721. An early issue stated that its chief aim was "to oppose the doubtful and dangerous practice of innoculating for small pox."



CLASSIFIED INFORMATION—Alfred C. Fuller, founder of the brush company that bears his name, paid high compliments to newspaper classified want ads during ceremonies when a photostatic copy of his first want ad was placed in the firm's museum hall. The four-line ad in a Syracuse newspaper, back in 1909, is credited as the turning point that brought sales up from $20,000 a year to its $50,000,000 now. Mr. Fuller has consistently used newspaper want ads ever since the first one, which is circled on the framed copy he holds above.

BABSON on BUSINESS

BABSON DISCUSSES OUR GRANDCHILDREN

Babson Park, Mass., Oct. 1 — Many articles have been written about the continuing rapid increase of U. S. population, which is now over 160,000,000. They all read in a bullish vein and are presented as a cause for great future prosperity. This week—however—I will present another side to this story—namely, what the expected future increase may mean to your children and grandchildren.

The first reason is that there now are more births. The second reason is that there now are fewer deaths proportionately. Deaths among babies are much fewer — while almost everyone is living longer, due to better food, shorter hours, saner habits, and improved medical care. Also the following statistics given me by the editor of Mass Transportation are suggestive.

Since 1940, which was only 13 years ago, a new "public" has come into being. Fourteen million old customers have died. More than 17 million marriages have taken place. More than 30 million babies have been born. More than one-third of all present families in the U. S. have been formed. Of the more than 150 million people in the U. S. today, 63 per cent do not remember World War 1. Until this year, 52 per cent did not remember a Republican administration in the White House.

Don't Be Fooled by Figures

All the above now results in one baby being born every eight seconds and someone dying every twenty-one seconds. In addittion, one immigrant enters the U. S. every two minutes and one emigrant leaves every seventeen minutes. I have no figures on the probable increase in the number of families; but this will be very much less.

These facts would appear to require more schools, more roads, more houses, and even more telephones, automobiles, refrigerators, television sets, etc., etc. I hope this will be true; but not necessarily. Present schoolhouses could take care of the present population by being operated on two shifts. Our roads may now be overbuilt. The number of houses needed depends upon families, not on persons. In the house in which I was born at 58 Middle street, Gloucester, Mass., one of my ancestors had 21 children.

Higher Taxes Possible Some Day

The population increase which comes from living longer presents a problem for our children. When parents or grandparents receive Old-Age Assistance, or Pensions, or even Social Security, the money does not come "from the blue sky." All such benefits must be paid for by the younger people in the form of taxes or a higher price for the goods they are to buy. Taxes should decline somewhat next year, but the decline will not be permanent.

Even the Welfare Funds which organized labor is now commanding will increase prices unless the workers increase their production accordingly. "Security" must always be paid for by someone. Otherwise, it is like depending upon aspirin to cure a disease. These funds will not remedy the real trouble.

Conservation and Character

To have this large increase in population with a high standard of living, we must conserve our natural resources. This means avoiding waste of everything, from oil to trees. Our woodlands and soils must especially be protected—yes, and even the fish of the oceans. It is utterly foolish to talk about "great future prosperity due to increased population" unless we train our children to be less wasteful.

Another thought. We have only to travel in Asia and Africa to know that population alone does not make prosperity. In fact a large population may make poverty. For our grandchildren to enjoy prosperity, much more attention must be devoted to spiritual training, the development of good habits, and the arousing within the souls of all peoples a desire to work and produce. Hence, the great importance of churches.

I AM THE PRINTING PRESS

By ROBERT H. DAVIS

I am the printing press, born of the Mother Earth. My heart is of steel, my limbs of iron, and my fingers are of brass.

I sing the songs of the world, the oratories of history, the symphonies of all time.

I am the voice of today, the herald of tomorrow. I weave into the warp of the past, the woof of the future. I tell the stories of peace and of war alike.

I make the human heart beat with passion of tenderness. I stir the pulse of nations, and make brave men do braver deeds and soldiers die.

I inspire the midnight toiler, weary at his loom, to lift his head again and gaze, with fearlessness, into the vast beyond, seeking the consolation of a hope eternal.

When I speak a myriad people listen to my voice. The Anglo-Saxon, the Celt, the Hun, the Slav, the Hindu, all comprehend me.

I am the tireless clarion of the news. I cry your joys and sorrows every hour. I fill the dullard's mind with thought uplifting. I am light, knowledge and power. I epitomize the conquest of mind over matter.

I am the record of all things mankind has achieved. My offspring comes to you in the candle's glow, amid the dim lamps, of poverty, the splendor of riches; at sunrise, at high noon, and in the waning evening.

I am the laughter and tears of the world, and I shall never die until all things return to the immutable dust.

I am the printing press.

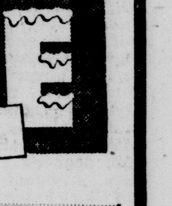
CONSTIPATED?

Read how Walter A. Reynolds of Shamokin, Pa., solved his troubles!



"Most of the laxatives I tried in the past were either too harsh or too slow! Then I discovered gentle, speedy Sal Hepatica . . . and now I feel like a new person! It's the best relief I've ever had from constipation.

"Now, if I wake up with that headachy, logy feeling due to constipation, I take Sal Hepatica before breakfast, and get speedy, gentle relief—usually within an hour!"

Yes, take sparkling Sal Hepatica before breakfast and feel fine again . . . usually within an hour. Or, take it in the evening one-half hour before supper and feel fine again by bedtime! Sweetens sour stomach, too! So keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

Fire Prevention, Hobby Show Are Featured by Cubs

Fire prevention and a hobby show were the combined program presented at the monthly meeting of Cub Pack 15 held Wednesday evening at the Comforter Hall, Wynkoop Place.

The evening's program was inaugurated with a talk concerning fires and fire prevention by Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of the Kingston Fire Department, and this was followed by a fire drill conducted by Chief Murphy.

A hobby show in conjunction with the theme of the month, Hobbies, brought a large display of handiwork practiced by the Cub Scouts. Ribbons were awarded to winners on the basis of five classifications: the most unique hobby, the most interesting hobby, the best travel display, the best prepared hobby, and the best historical presentation.

Many Parents Present

A large delegation of parents were present as Den 3, under the direction of Den Mother Lillian Rittie, presented the opening flag ceremony for the Grand Assembly. An impressive induction ceremony was held for Scott Kennedy, Ronald Thomas, William Senkowicz, W. Guy Bush, and John Kelse who entered into Cub Scouting in Dens 1, 3 and 4. The new Cubs and their parents were received by the Cubmaster and taken to their Dens by the Den Chiefs.

Den 2, Mrs. Henry P. Eighmey, acting Den Mother, presented a two-act skit depicting what happens to young boys who can find little in the line of constructive action, and the same group who have joined the Cub Scouts and participate in a planned spare-time program.

Awards Announced

Awards to the Cub Scouts of Pack 15 for Sept. were: Den 1, Robert Chipchase, silver arrow; Den 2: Karl Glotzl, lion badge, Jeffery Williams, gold arrow, Douglas Eighmey, gold arrow, Charles Rion, silver arrow, Jackie Fabiano, gold arrow; Den 3 (100 per cent awards) silver arrows to Richard Simms, Richard Stillings, Richard Showers, William Hart and William Bodenweber; Den 4: (100 per cent awards) Daniel Scully, denner's stripe, gold arrow, two silver arrows, Charles Hill, assistant denner's stripe and silver arrow, Gregory Furman, wolf badge, and silver arrows to Roger Nickerson, Edmund Yeager, and Roger Murphy; Den 5: Bruce Freer, two silver arrows, Raymond Daniels, bead badge, Paul Noble, lion badge, Robert Gillen, lion badge, John McElrath, denner's stripe, Larry DeCicco, assistant denner's stripe. Den Chief Peter Showers received his one-year service star, as Den Chief of Den 5.

Announcements included participation of Pack 15 in the Saturday camporee at Forsyth Park, and a Halloween party scheduled for Oct. 28 with the Furman family in charge of the program. Copies of the entire year's program were given to all parents in attendance at the meeting.

Completes 49 Years as Railroader

Engineer Jack Zabriskie of Weehawken sits in the cab of his diesel engine on the Hudson River Division of the New York Central System for his final run completing 49 years of service as a railroader. Although he doesn't feel 70, he retired in keeping with the rule among locomotive engineers that they quit their engines during the month in which they reach that age. His train crew, smiling happily for the Freeman photographer, are (l-r) W. H. Matthews and A. L. Wyman, brakemen; Ed Marcella, baggageman; B. J. Rainey, conductor and Eddie Gaston, fireman.

RN's Are Needed For Polio Cases

An urgent appeal for registered nurses for polio duty was made today by Mrs. Samuel J. Adams, chairman of the local Red Cross chapter. Because of a surge in the number of cases of polio, nurses are needed at Rochester and Akron, O. Nurses recruited by the Red Cross are paid by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Mrs. Adams said.

"It is not our intention to draw nurses from our community or from duty in which they are vitally 'needed,'" Mrs. Adams pointed out. "However there are many nurses not active in their profession who can perhaps arrange their personal affairs to serve during the period when death or serious crippling may be prevented."

According to the chairman, the Red Cross recruits the nurses at the request of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the organization that provides expert polio care. The foundation will provide the salary while the nurse is serving in polio work.

All nurses available for polio duty should contact the local Red Cross chapter at 308 Clinton avenue, telephone 7020.

Independents File Nominations in Three Townships

Independent nominations have been filed with the Board of Elections in three townships by members of independent political organizations. In two of the towns, Gardiner and Marbletown, independent nominations have been made for the head of the town ticket, the office of supervisor while in the town of Rochester there was no name presented for supervisor but Oliver Gray, Kerhonkson, was designated for the office of Town Superintendent of Highways.

Last Tuesday was the final day for filing nominations.

Square Deal Candidate

In the town of Rochester, Gray was designated by the "Square Deal" independents for town superintendent of highways with 146 names being signed to the petition. In that township Donald Wise, Claude Christiana and Floyd Countryman were named as a committee to fill vacancies.

In the town of Marbletown Richard F. Mack, former supervisor, was designed on the petition of the "Independent Ticket" as candidate for supervisor. A total of 159 signatures are attached to the petition. Mack was defeated at the Republican town caucus by Harry Snyder, present supervisor, by a vote of 246 to 134. At that time it was reported an independent designation would be made. The committee on vacancies named by the Independents is Daniel Barnhart, Harry O. Scarpati and Clarence Hansen.

Citizens Name Majestic

In the town of Gardiner where for years there has been no opposition at the head of the ticket, the Republicans named Richard Borcherding, tax collector for 16 years, as the candidate for supervisor. He was named by a two to one vote of those appearing at the caucus.

The "Citizen's Party," sponsored by the Town of Gardiner taxpayers group, has nominated George Majestic as candidate for supervisor and Alfred Roehrs for justice of the peace for the two year term. There are 76 signatures attached to the petition. The committee on vacancies is William Watt, Marion Begalspiker and Frank Tantillo.

Register to Vote

Register today so you can vote in the general election to be held next month. If you wan to vote, you have to register. The polls will be open tonight until 10 o'clock.

STATE OF NEW YORK SUPREME COURT: COUNTY OF ULSTER—HARRY H. SILSBY Plaintiff, against CHARLES S. BISHOP, GREENE COUNTY SMALL LOAN CORP., JOSEPH TRNKA & ROSE TRNKA, ROBERT A. WHITE, WHOLESALE HARDWOODS, INC., PITCHER ACCESSORIES INC., OLD CAPITAL MOTORS, INC., Defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above entitled action and bearing date the 18th day of August, 1953, I, the undersigned, the Referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the Ulster County Court House, in the City of Kingston, New York on the 13th day of October, 1953, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of that day, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows.

"ALL THAT CERTAIN PLOT, piece or parcel of land, with the building thereon, erected, situate, lying and being in the Town of Saugerties, County of Ulster and State of New York, bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING at a point on the easterly side of a Private Road 8 feet wide, running along the Ridge on the lands of the grantors distant 445 feet northerly from the side of said Private Road; running thence easterly at right angles to said Private Road, 125 feet; thence northerly and parallel to said Private Road 150 feet; thence westerly and again at right angles to said Private Road 125 feet to the easterly side of said road and thence southerly along the easterly side of said Private Road 150 feet to the point or place of beginning.

Said private road 8 feet wide running along the top of the Ridge on the lands of the grantors and the center line of said private road is a straight line running in a northerly direction from a point in the center of said Ridge on the northerly side of the Evesport Road about 700 feet easterly from the intersection of said Evesport Road with the easterly side of the Road (sometimes often called the Evesport Road) leading north from Route 32 (formerly Malden Turnpike) near the foot of Quarryville Hill, after said easterly side of the said road leading north from Route 32 was continued northerly to the northerly side of said Evesport Road, and which center line of said Private Road runs in a straight line to a point on the center of said Ridge at a point distant 595 feet northerly from the said northerly side of the Evesport Road the Evesport Road above referred to is the road running westerly from the Kings Road at a point north of the Katsbann Church, crossing the Beaverkill, and ending on the easterly side of the road running northerly from Route 32 as aforesaid.

TOGETHER with the right to pass in common with the parties of the first part, their heirs, successors, grantees, or assigns over said private road from the northerly side of said Evesport Road to a point on said private road 595 feet northerly from the Evesport Road for the purpose of egress and ingress to the herein conveyed premises, the fee to said private road on said Ridge to remain in the parties of the first part.

TO HAVE AND TO HOLD, the above granted premises unto the party of the second part, his heirs, successors, and assigns forever, subject nevertheless, to the covenants, conditions and restrictions hereinbefore expressed.

AND the said party of the second part, for himself, his heirs, successors, and assigns, does hereby covenant and agree to and with the parties of the first part, their heirs, successors, grantees and assigns, as follows:

FIRST: That neither the said party of the second part, his heirs, successors or assigns shall or will at any time hereafter erect or permit upon any part of the premises hereby conveyed any slaughter house, smith shop, forge, furnace, steam engine, brass foundry, mill or other foundry nor any manufactory of gun powder, glue, varnish, vitriol, ink, turpentine, oil cloth, glass, soap, candles, oil, starch, or lamp black nor any manufactory for tanning, dressing or preparing of skins, hides, or leather, nor any brewery or distillery or place for manufacture of spitious, vinons, malt or other intoxicating liquors or drinks, nor any dangerous, noxious, unwholesome or offensive establishment or business whatsoever nor any beast house or hospital for contagious diseases, nor any cow stable or hog pen or manufacture or do anything whatsoever so as to create any offensive or obnoxious odors, smoke or noise.

This covenant shall run with the land and shall be construed as a covenant running with the land and binding upon the party of the second part, his heirs, successors, and assigns until January 1st, 2000, when that shall cease and terminate. Nothing herein shall be construed, nor shall there be any obligation upon the parties of the first part, their heirs, successors, or assigns to restrict in any manner any other premises now or hereafter owned by the parties of the first part, their heirs, successors or assigns.

BEING the same premises conveyed by Louis Bishop to Charles S. Bishop, on the 6th day of March, 1952, and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Liber 822 of Deeds at page 89.

Fire Prevention, Hobby Show Are Featured by Cubs

Fire prevention and a hobby show were the combined program presented at the monthly meeting of Cub Pack 15 held Wednesday evening at the Comforter Hall, Wynkoop Place.

The evening's program was inaugurated with a talk concerning fires and fire prevention by Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of the Kingston Fire Department, and this was followed by a fire drill conducted by Chief Murphy.

A hobby show in conjunction with the theme of the month, Hobbies, brought a large display of handiwork practiced by the Cub Scouts. Ribbons were awarded to winners on the basis of five classifications: the most unique hobby, the most interesting hobby, the best travel display, the best prepared hobby, and the best historical presentation.

Many Parents Present

A large delegation of parents were present as Den 3, under the direction of Den Mother Lillian Rittie, presented the opening flag ceremony for the Grand Assembly. An impressive induction ceremony was held for Scott Kennedy, Ronald Thomas, William Senkowicz, W. Guy Bush, and John Kelse who entered into Cub Scouting in Dens 1, 3 and 4. The new Cubs and their parents were received by the Cubmaster and taken to their Dens by the Den Chiefs.

Den 2, Mrs. Henry P. Eighmey, acting Den Mother, presented a two-act skit depicting what happens to young boys who can find little in the line of constructive action, and the same group who have joined the Cub Scouts and participate in a planned spare-time program.

Awards Announced

Awards to the Cub Scouts of Pack 15 for Sept. were: Den 1, Robert Chipchase, silver arrow; Den 2: Karl Glotzl, lion badge, Jeffery Williams, gold arrow, Douglas Eighmey, gold arrow, Charles Rion, silver arrow, Jackie Fabiano, gold arrow; Den 3 (100 per cent awards) silver arrows to Richard Simms, Richard Stillings, Richard Showers, William Hart and William Bodenweber; Den 4: (100 per cent awards) Daniel Scully, denner's stripe, gold arrow, two silver arrows, Charles Hill, assistant denner's stripe and silver arrow, Gregory Furman, wolf badge, and silver arrows to Roger Nickerson, Edmund Yeager, and Roger Murphy; Den 5: Bruce Freer, two silver arrows, Raymond Daniels, bead badge, Paul Noble, lion badge, Robert Gillen, lion badge, John McElrath, denner's stripe, Larry DeCicco, assistant denner's stripe. Den Chief Peter Showers received his one-year service star, as Den Chief of Den 5.

Announcements included participation of Pack 15 in the Saturday camporee at Forsyth Park, and a Halloween party scheduled for Oct. 28 with the Furman family in charge of the program. Copies of the entire year's program were given to all parents in attendance at the meeting.

RN's Are Needed For Polio Cases

An urgent appeal for registered nurses for polio duty was made today by Mrs. Samuel J. Adams, chairman of the local Red Cross chapter. Because of a surge in the number of cases of polio, nurses are needed at Rochester and Akron, O. Nurses recruited by the Red Cross are paid by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Mrs. Adams said.

"It is not our intention to draw nurses from our community or from duty in which they are vitally 'needed,'" Mrs. Adams pointed out. "However there are many nurses not active in their profession who can perhaps arrange their personal affairs to serve during the period when death or serious crippling may be prevented."

According to the chairman, the Red Cross recruits the nurses at the request of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the organization that provides expert polio care. The foundation will provide the salary while the nurse is serving in polio work.

All nurses available for polio duty should contact the local Red Cross chapter at 308 Clinton avenue, telephone 7020.

Independents File Nominations in Three Townships

Independent nominations have been filed with the Board of Elections in three townships by members of independent political organizations. In two of the towns, Gardiner and Marbletown, independent nominations have been made for the head of the town ticket, the office of supervisor while in the town of Rochester there was no name presented for supervisor but Oliver Gray, Kerhonkson, was designated for the office of Town Superintendent of Highways.

Last Tuesday was the final day for filing nominations.

Square Deal Candidate

In the town of Rochester, Gray was designated by the "Square Deal" independents for town superintendent of highways with 146 names being signed to the petition. In that township Donald Wise, Claude Christiana and Floyd Countryman were named as a committee to fill vacancies.

In the town of Marbletown Richard F. Mack, former supervisor, was designed on the petition of the "Independent Ticket" as candidate for supervisor. A total of 159 signatures are attached to the petition. Mack was defeated at the Republican town caucus by Harry Snyder, present supervisor, by a vote of 246 to 134. At that time it was reported an independent designation would be made. The committee on vacancies named by the Independents is Daniel Barnhart, Harry O. Scarpati and Clarence Hansen.

Citizens Name Majestic

In the town of Gardiner where for years there has been no opposition at the head of the ticket, the Republicans named Richard Borcherding, tax collector for 16 years, as the candidate for supervisor. He was named by a two to one vote of those appearing at the caucus.

The "Citizen's Party," sponsored by the Town of Gardiner taxpayers group, has nominated George Majestic as candidate for supervisor and Alfred Roehrs for justice of the peace for the two year term. There are 76 signatures attached to the petition. The committee on vacancies is William Watt, Marion Begalspiker and Frank Tantillo.

Register to Vote

Register today so you can vote in the general election to be held next month. If you wan to vote, you have to register. The polls will be open tonight until 10 o'clock.

STATE OF NEW YORK SUPREME COURT: COUNTY OF ULSTER—HARRY H. SILSBY Plaintiff, against CHARLES S. BISHOP, GREENE COUNTY SMALL LOAN CORP., JOSEPH TRNKA & ROSE TRNKA, ROBERT A. WHITE, WHOLESALE HARDWOODS, INC., PITCHER ACCESSORIES INC., OLD CAPITAL MOTORS, INC., Defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above entitled action and bearing date the 18th day of August, 1953, I, the undersigned, the Referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the Ulster County Court House, in the City of Kingston, New York on the 13th day of October, 1953, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of that day, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

"ALL THAT CERTAIN PLOT, piece or parcel of land, with the building thereon, erected, situate, lying and being in the Town of Saugerties, County of Ulster and State of New York, bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING at a point on the easterly side of a Private Road 8 feet wide, running along the Ridge on the lands of the grantors distant 445 feet northerly from the side of said Private Road; running thence easterly at right angles to said Private Road, 125 feet; thence northerly and parallel to said Private Road 150 feet; thence westerly and again at right angles to said Private Road 125 feet to the easterly side of said road and thence southerly along the easterly side of said Private Road 150 feet to the point or place of beginning.

Said private road 8 feet wide running along the top of the Ridge on the lands of the grantors and the center line of said private road is a straight line running in a northerly direction from a point in the center of said Ridge on the northerly side of the Evesport Road about 700 feet easterly from the intersection of said Evesport Road with the easterly side of the Road (sometimes often called the Evesport Road) leading north from Route 32 (formerly Malden Turnpike) near the foot of Quarryville Hill, after said easterly side of the said road leading north from Route 32 was continued northerly to the northerly side of said Evesport Road, and which center line of said Private Road runs in a straight line to a point on the center of said Ridge at a point distant 595 feet northerly from the said northerly side of the Evesport Road the Evesport Road above referred to is the road running westerly from the Kings Road at a point north of the Katsbann Church, crossing the Beaverkill, and ending on the easterly side of the road running northerly from Route 32 as aforesaid.

TOGETHER with the right to pass in common with the parties of the first part, their heirs, successors, grantees, or assigns over said private road from the northerly side of said Evesport Road to a point on said private road 595 feet northerly from the Evesport Road for the purpose of egress and ingress to the herein conveyed premises, the fee to said private road on said Ridge to remain in the parties of the first part.

TO HAVE AND TO HOLD, the above granted premises unto the party of the second part, his heirs, successors, and assigns forever, subject nevertheless, to the covenants, conditions and restrictions hereinbefore expressed.

AND the said party of the second part, for himself, his heirs, successors, and assigns, does hereby covenant and agree to and with the parties of the first part, their heirs, successors, grantees and assigns, as follows:

FIRST: That neither the said party of the second part, his heirs, successors or assigns shall or will at any time hereafter erect or permit upon any part of the premises hereby conveyed any slaughter house, smith shop, forge, furnace, steam engine, brass foundry, mill or other foundry nor any manufactory of gun powder, glue, varnish, vitriol, ink, turpentine, oil cloth, glass, soap, candles, oil, starch, or lamp black nor any manufactory for tanning, dressing or preparing of skins, hides, or leather, nor any brewery or distillery or place for manufacture of spitious, vinons, malt or other intoxicating liquors or drinks, nor any dangerous, noxious, unwholesome or offensive establishment or business whatsoever nor any beast house or hospital for contagious diseases, nor any cow stable or hog pen or manufacture or do anything whatsoever so as to create any offensive or obnoxious odors, smoke or noise.

This covenant shall run with the land and shall be construed as a covenant running with the land and binding upon the party of the second part, his heirs, successors, and assigns until January 1st, 2000, when that shall cease and terminate. Nothing herein shall be construed, nor shall there be any obligation upon the parties of the first part, their heirs, successors, or assigns to restrict in any manner any other premises now or hereafter owned by the parties of the first part, their heirs, successors or assigns.

BEING the same premises conveyed by Louis Bishop to Charles S. Bishop, on the 6th day of March, 1952, and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Liber 822 of Deeds at page 89.

Followers of tournament bridge were not surprised when Bill Root and Harold Harkavy, both of Miami Beach won the Men's Pair Championship a few weeks ago in the national tournament in St. Louis, but they may have been a bit startled by the margin of victory — fifteen hundredths of a match point.

This weird fraction was produced by the fact that scores made in the two qualifying sessions were reduced (according to a formula) before the final session began.

This may seem highly complicated and mathematical, but don't let that scare you away from tournament bridge. Bill Root, one of the winners, demonstrated with the hand shown today that mathematics is far from everything.

Bill didn't have a "book" bid of one no-trump with the South hand. The count was only 15 points, and practically all experts in the country require 16 to 18 points for an opening bid of one no-trump.

The strong diamond suit might have made up for the missing point, but the weak doubleton in clubs was a second flaw. In short, nobody but Bill Root opened that hand with a bid of one no-trump.

As it happened, the no-trump bid worked out very well. Bill was allowed to play the hand, while at most other tables East and West were playing the hand at spades and making ten tricks.

West opened the deuce of spades, and Root won in his hand with the king. Declarer hoped to get five diamonds, the ace of hearts, and a spade, so he immediately went after the diamonds.

Two rounds of diamonds told the story—the suit was going to block. If South continued with a third top diamond, dummy would be left with the highest diamond, and there would be no way for South to get back to his own hand for the fifth diamond trick.

What to do?

Root found a solution. After two rounds of diamonds he abandoned the suit in order to lead a spade right into the teeth of the enemy! This looked like a nice portion of duck soup to the defenders, so they cheerfully rattled off their three spade tricks.

And Bill just as cheerfully threw a diamond from dummy on the third round of spades, thus unblocking the suit. And now nothing could stop him from winning seven tricks.

East should have led a heart on winning the second round of spades, and South would have been set.

Employes May Hold No Interest

Employes of the Interior Department may not hold any interest in lands administered by the department's Bureau of Land Management, except for five-acre homesites if they live in Alaska.

Between 1940 and 1952 farm employment in the south declined one-fifth, and the number of sharecroppers dropped one-third.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

I recently looked through the Proceedings of the Ulster County Historical Society book of 1947 to 1953 which brings out, as a rule, information, authentic from the source or family of long ago of Ulster county. One article called, Ulster County Animals, Past and Present, by Daniel Smiley, Jr., who has records of some 57 animals found at one time or another in Ulster county, and of these, some 48 he feels are still living here. He tells about the well-known mole who digs a tunnel for itself. "Our moles are designed for efficient living underground. Their forefeet and 'arm' muscls are enlarged for digging. They have short, soft fur and small ears and eyes. Their food consists of worms, grubs and insects. They do not eat vegetable matter. When your lawn grass dies, it is the result of the tunneling activities."

Smiley describes the well-known eastern skunk thus: "The scent is ejected from glands under the tail as a mist up to 10 feet. If you are in range when the tail is held straight up, you have three alternatives: (1) move 10 feet very fast. (2) Pick him up by the tail, in theory he cannot discharge when held off the ground by that appendage; and, or (3) put your clothing in running water for a day, (burying it in dirt for a week is said to do as well). Skunks make interesting pets, if the scent gland is removed, and in the wild are valuable as scavengers and for their fur."

He tells about a lady having a pet chipmunk. As a rule, he says, these ground squirrels hibernate through the winter. As a stunt once she put the chipmunk's cage in her oven, with the oven door open. He soon woke up, ran around the room and took food. Then she moved him to the ice box and he went right back to sleep." The author though cautions experimentally minded folks, not to do this for if it is done too often the chipmunk will die.

He also mentions "facts and fallacies" about our local animals. He writes, that it is not true that "raccoons always wash their food," but that they just "dunk the food for fun," that is if water is handy, othrewise they will gladly eat out of a garbage pail without any washing. Also he claims that porcupines do not throw their quills as often told. He says, "they can move their tail very fast, so don't get within the radius of its swing, which is very short." I saw the famous porcupine, which it is said was also seen at Academy Green some time ago. When I saw it, it was around midnight, and he walked majestically from Meadow street corner across the street to Spring street perhaps going from one park to another. At the moment of his parade, a well-known local cat, known for her combat with any dog her size or larger, was on Meadow street corner. She arched her back and looked at the strange porcupiue, but luckily he did not see her, and so all ended well with the cat. It was one of those moments which never repeats itself, and I wished I had a loaded flash camera, but of course I didn't.

Frank Munn Dies

New York, Oct. 2 (AP)—Frank Munn, 57, who rose from factory boy to become the "Golden Voice of Radio," died yesterday. The Irish tenor retired seven years ago but his fame lingered on as a result of 23 years as a radio and recording artist. During his career he always had a commercial sponsor. Munn collapsed while visiting at the home of his brother-in-law, Carl Weissner, in St. Albans, Queens. The singer's wife, Anne, was with him at the time. The Munns resided in South Hampton Shores on Long Island. Cause of death was not announced. Munn, the son of a Bronx policeman, was orphaned while still an infant. He was reared by his grandmother.

Hull Is 82

Washington, Oct. 2 (AP)—Cordell Hull, who served longer than any other man as secretary of state, celebrates his 82nd birthday today. He ran the State Department from March 1933 to November 1944, when he retired ill and exhausted. He lives here now in an apartment hotel, takes daily auto trips about the countryside and keeps up with world affairs through the newspapers, radio and television.

Wrote Editorial on His Marriage

Employes May Hold No Interest

Employes of the Interior Department may not hold any interest in lands administered by the department's Bureau of Land Management, except for five-acre homesites if they live in Alaska.

Between 1940 and 1952 farm employment in the south declined one-fifth, and the number of sharecroppers dropped one-third.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

I recently looked through the Proceedings of the Ulster County Historical Society book of 1947 to 1953 which brings out, as a rule, information, authentic from the source or family of long ago of Ulster county. One article called, Ulster County Animals, Past and Present, by Daniel Smiley, Jr., who has records of some 57 animals found at one time or another in Ulster county, and of these, some 48 he feels are still living here. He tells about the well-known mole who digs a tunnel for itself. "Our moles are designed for efficient living underground. Their forefeet and 'arm' muscls are enlarged for digging. They have short, soft fur and small ears and eyes. Their food consists of worms, grubs and insects. They do not eat vegetable matter. When your lawn grass dies, it is the result of the tunneling activities."

Smiley describes the well-known eastern skunk thus: "The scent is ejected from glands under the tail as a mist up to 10 feet. If you are in range when the tail is held straight up, you have three alternatives: (1) move 10 feet very fast, (2) Pick him up by the tail, in theory he cannot discharge when held off the ground by that appendage; and, or (3) put your clothing in running water for a day, (burying it in dirt for a week is said to do as well). Skunks make interesting pets, if the scent gland is removed, and in the wild are valuable as scavengers and for their fur."

He tells about a lady having a pet chipmunk. As a rule, he says, these ground squirrels hibernate through the winter. As a stunt once she put the chipmunk's cage in her oven, with the oven door open. He soon woke up, ran around the room and took food. Then she moved him to the ice box and he went right back to sleep." The author though cautions experimentally minded folks, not to do this for if it is done too often the chipmunk will die.

He also mentions "facts and fallacies" about our local animals. He writes, that it is not true that "raccoons always wash their food," but that they just "dunk the food for fun," that is if water is handy, othrewise they will gladly eat out of a garbage pail without any washing. Also he claims that porcupines do not throw their quills as often told. He says, "they can move their tail very fast, so don't get within the radius of its swing, which is very short." I saw the famous porcupine, which it is said was also seen at Academy Green some time ago. When I saw it, it was around midnight, and he walked majestically from Meadow street corner across the street to Spring street perhaps going from one park to another. At the moment of his parade, a well-known local cat, known for her combat with any dog her size or larger, was on Meadow street corner. She arched her back and looked at the strange porcupiue, but luckily he did not see her, and so all ended well with the cat. It was one of those moments which never repeats itself, and I wished I had a loaded flash camera, but of course I didn't.

Frank Munn Dies

New York, Oct. 2 (AP)—Frank Munn, 57, who rose from factory boy to become the "Golden Voice of Radio," died yesterday. The Irish tenor retired seven years ago but his fame lingered on as a result of 23 years as a radio and recording artist. During his career he always had a commercial sponsor. Munn collapsed while visiting at the home of his brother-in-law, Carl Weissner, in St. Albans, Queens. The singer's wife, Anne, was with him at the time. The Munns resided in South Hampton Shores on Long Island. Cause of death was not announced. Munn, the son of a Bronx policeman, was orphaned while still an infant. He was reared by his grandmother.

Hull Is 82

Washington, Oct. 2 (AP)—Cordell Hull, who served longer than any other man as secretary of state, celebrates his 82nd birthday today. He ran the State Department from March 1933 to November 1944, when he retired ill and exhausted. He lives here now in an apartment hotel, takes daily auto trips about the countryside and keeps up with world affairs through the newspapers, radio and television.

Wrote Editorial on His Marriage

OFFICE CAT

(Trade Mark Reg.)

By Junius

I was born election day; my father was born on Easter; my mother was born on Memorial Day; my sister was born on Christmas, and my oldest brother was born on May Day.—Harry F. Russell, Howard, Pa.

The woman of the house was reporting on new neighbors who had moved in that day.

Woman—They have an old car, a very small television set, and old fashioned ice box and no piano. Guess it won't be difficult for us to keep up with them.

Hubby—I'm not so sure. Did you see them unload their bank account?

Humor! Smiling wisdom.

The dealer met his bandaged customer.

Dealer—How could you have had an accident with that used car I sold you?

Bandaged Customer—I couldn't put my hand out while I was pushing the car around the corner.

Pal—Has your wife changed much since you married her?

Hal—Quite a lot — she's changed my habits, my friends, and my hours.

Day and Knight are just across the street from each other at New Hampton, Iowa.

Bob Day, secretary of the New Hampton Chamber of Commerce, lives on the west side of the street. Directly opposite on the east side is Harry Knight, a car dealer.

One citizen, or a small group, can be a great influence for good in better government if he will but do his part.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

All Right, So I'm a Thief

I've been around Broadway for 30 years, and there aren't 30 people on this balmy boulevard I would trust as far as I can throw the theatre in which I'm writing this piece. One of them, strangely enough, is a man who once robbed another man of $1,500.

Before you tell me it's silly to trust a thief, let me brief you on the details of the crime . . .

Time: 1923, during the bad joke called Prohibition.

Place: A cabaret named the Backstage Club on West 56th Street.

The Thief: A straggle-haired waiter known as "Pops."

The Victim: A gent whom, in lieu of profanity, we'll call Terry Lake.

First, a few words about the Backstage Club. I opened it late in 1922, and when it was jam-packed it seated all of 80 people. Was it a classy joint? I wouldn't say so. Willie Rhinelander Stewart used to drop in once in a while, and so did F. Scott Fitzgerald. But the drop-ins also included bums like Arnold Rothstein and Waxey Gordon.

The biggest spender among the regulars, however, was a minor hoodlum named Terry Lake. It wasn't unusual for him to walk in, put a thousand-dollar bill on a table, set an empty glass on it and keep sending wine around the room until the money was used up. Which didn't take too long in those days with champagne at $25 a quart.

Despite the size of his tabs, Terry wasn't very popular around the club. For one thing, he heckled the acts and made passes at the chorus girls. For another, when drunk, he often got nasty with those who couldn't talk back.

Only two people at the Backstage Club had any use for him—I, it's greedy little owner, and one of my chorines—a button-nosed blonde named Vivian Clark.

The night before Terry was robbed, Vivian keeled over in the middle of a tap-and-torso routine. One of the waiters carried her into my office, and when a doctor examined her a few minutes later he said he was afraid the girl had tuberculosis. She needed at least a year in a sanitarium. When we asked what this would cost, he said his best guess was about $2,000.

"The doc is right about the tuberculosis thing," said the coatroom girl after we had shipped Vivian home in a cab. "She told me about it but made me promise not to let on."

"How's about takin' up a collection for her?" said a musician.

Pops, the waiter, was designated to do the honors, and when the money and pledges were toted up there was about $250 in the kitty.

"I'll match it," I said. "Wish I could do better, but the 'protection' gets most of what the place is taking in."

"Vivian's been seein' a lot of Terry Lake," said the coatroom girl. "He could give us the rest of the dough and never miss it."

When Terry came in the following night, Pops tackled him as he was checking his coat. "Vivian is sick and has to go away," he said. "We're passin' the hat and thought you'd like to chip in."

The hoodlum took out a wad of money and handed Pops a five-dollar bill. "Always glad to help a pal," he said.

That night, as per usual, Terry sent a lot of wine around the room and took on a pretty good cargo of lightning bugs himself. By 4 a. m. he was a few swallows from passing out. Had Pops been a violent man, he probably would have rolled him at this point. Instead, he walked up and handed the sauce-silly bum his check, which came to $460.

"Cheap at halfa price," mumbled Terry as he threw five one-hundred-dollar bills on the table. "Keepa change." Saying which, he passed out.

Pops took the money to the cashier but he kept Terry's tab in his hand. The cashier noticed this and look over at me. I looked over at Pops. "I'm going out for a walk," I said. "I'll be back in time to lock up."

Half an hour later Pops shook Terry awake and handed him the same tab. Terry again threw five one-hundreds on the table. "Drinksh f' th' house," he said, and went back to sleep.

Pops collected the tab twice more before we closed, and when Terry finally wobbled out he didn't know why the band was playing "Ain't We Got Fun." Nor did he notice that Pops was a little tanked up on the drinks the employes had been buying him.

Next day we all went down to the station and wished Vivian luck as she left for Saranac. . . .

This story poses a pretty question:

Is it ever right to steal?

According to Pops and Vivian, it is.

Me, I'm hiding behind the Fifth Amendment.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

All Right, So I'm a Thief

I've been around Broadway for 30 years, and there aren't 30 people on this balmy boulevard I would trust as far as I can throw the theatre in which I'm writing this piece. One of them, strangely enough, is a man who once robbed another man of $1,500.

Before you tell me it's silly to trust a thief, let me brief you on the details of the crime . . .

Time: 1923, during the bad joke called Prohibition.

Place: A cabaret named the Backstage Club on West 56th Street.

The Thief: A straggle-haired waiter known as "Pops."

The Victim: A gent whom, in lieu of profanity, we'll call Terry Lake.

First, a few words about the Backstage Club. I opened it late in 1922, and when it was jampacked it seated all of 80 people. Was it a classy joint? I wouldn't say so. Willie Rhinelander Stewart used to drop in once in a while, and so did F. Scott Fitzgerald. But the drop-ins also included bums like Arnold Rothstein and Waxey Gordon.

The biggest spender among the regulars, however, was a minor hoodlum named Terry Lake. It wasn't unusual for him to walk in, put a thousand-dollar bill on a table, set an empty glass on it and keep sending wine around the room until the money was used up. Which didn't take too long in those days with champagne at $25 a quart.

Despite the size of his tabs, Terry wasn't very popular around the club. For one thing, he heckled the acts and made passes at the chorus girls. For another, when drunk, he often got nasty with those who couldn't talk back.

Only two people at the Backstage Club had any use for him—I, it's greedy little owner, and one of my chorines—a button-nosed blonde named Vivian Clark.

The night before Terry was robbed, Vivian keeled over in the middle of a tap-and-torso routine. One of the waiters carried her into my office, and when a doctor examined her a few minutes later he said he was afraid the girl had tuberculosis. She needed at least a year in a sanitarium. When we asked what this would cost, he said his best guess was about $2,000.

"The doc is right about the tuberculosis thing," said the coatroom girl after we had shipped Vivian home in a cab. "She told me about it but made me promise not to let on."

"How's about takin' up a collection for her?" said a musician.

Pops, the waiter, was designated to do the honors, and when the money and pledges were toted up there was about $250 in the kitty.

"I'll match it," I said. "Wish I could do better, but the 'protection' gets most of what the place is taking in."

"Vivian's been seein' a lot of Terry Lake," said the coatroom girl. "He could give us the rest of the dough and never miss it."

When Terry came in the following night, Pops tackled him as he was checking his coat. "Vivian is sick and has to go away," he said. "We're passin' the hat and thought you'd like to chip in."

The hoodlum took out a wad of money and handed Pops a five-dollar bill. "Always glad to help a pal," he said.

That night, as per usual, Terry sent a lot of wine around the room and took on a pretty good cargo of lightning bugs himself. By 4 a. m. he was a few swallows from passing out. Had Pops been a violent man, he probably would have rolled him at this point. Instead, he walked up and handed the sauce-silly bum his check, which came to $460.

"Cheap at halfa price," mumbled Terry as he threw five one-hundred-dollar bills on the table. "Keepa change." Saying which, he passed out.

Pops took the money to the cashier but he kept Terry's tab in his hand. The cashier noticed this and look over at me. I looked over at Pops. "I'm going out for a walk," I said. "I'll be back in time to lock up."

Half an hour later Pops shook Terry awake and handed him the same tab. Terry again threw five one-hundreds on the table. "Drinksh f' th' house," he said, and went back to sleep.

Pops collected the tab twice more before we closed, and when Terry finally wobbled out he didn't know why the band was playing "Ain't We Got Fun." Nor did he notice that Pops was a little tanked up on the drinks the employes had been buying him.

Next day we all went down to the station and wished Vivian luck as she left for Saranac. . . .

This story poses a pretty question:

Is it ever right to steal?

According to Pops and Vivian, it is.

Me, I'm hiding behind the Fifth Amendment.

P-TA Meeting Will Be Held in Kerhonkson

The first meeting of the Kerhonkson Parent-Teacher Association for 1953 will take place in the Kerhhonkson High School auditorium Wednesday, Oct. 7, at 8 p. m. At that time outgoing president Francis McCauley will be honored for the excellent work he did during the year. The following slate of new officers will be installed: Frank Kelder, president; Mrs. F. W. Harkins, vice-president; Francis McCauley, second vice president; Mrs. Stanley Christiana, secretary; and Mrs. Hamilton Sherman, treasurer.

The program for the first evening will be devoted to a general reorganization and to the drawing up of plans for the coming year. The new members of the faculty will be presented by Roland A. Riegel, principal of the Kerhonkson Public Schools, who will also extend greetings to the assembly.

The theme for the 1953 P-TA meetings is: better homes, better schools and a better community. The objective is to maintain a continuing program to develop a greater sense of civic responsibility among all the citizens of the community.

The budget to be proposed is as follows: Prizes (commencement) —$10; dues for State and National Congress of Parent-Teachers and Foundation Day gift, $25; traveling expenses for speakers, $150; custodian, $25; monthly book award, $15; playground and youth commission, $50; paper cups and plates, $25; refreshments, $45; incidentals, $40; swimming pool fund, $100. Total —$485.

Between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 people have lost their lives through earthquakes since the sixth century.

Cathedrals of Italy Make Use of Various Architectural Types

Sorosis met Monday at the home of Mrs. Conrad J. Heiselman on West Chestnut street. The paper of the afternoon was given by Mrs. William Ochs who spoke about The Cathedrals of Italy.

Mrs. Ochs began by giving the heritage of the cathedral, the significance and the general plan for most cathedrals. She considered the various types such as the palace church, the chapel, the monastery churches and the pilgrimage churches, following with a discussion of the various types of architecture used as the Gothic, Lombard, Byzantine, and Flamboyant.

Much general information was given by Mrs. Ochs as to the kinds of adornment such as mosaics, frescoes, Doric columns, Della Robbia and statues.

Mrs. Ochs described in detail several of the Italian cathedrals. Among them were St. Peter's in Rome, the third largest in Christendom and one which will eventually yield to St. John the Divine, a larger cathedral still under construction; the Milan Cathedral, in Lombardy with its spires topped by figures adorning the roofs; St. Mark's in Venice with its beautiful mosaic patterns and abundance of detail; the one in Florence constructed without support or scaffolding and which uses della Robbia; St. Paul's Beyond the Walls which outranks all in vastness and grandeur of adornment; and finally San Michele in Pavia, an excellent example of Romanesque architecture.

No. 7 School Council Plans Meeting of P-TA

A meeting of the No. 7 School Council was held at the home of the president, Herbert Cutler, 16 John street, with Mrs. Irving Josephson as program chairman presenting various plans for the coming year.

It was decided to present at the first P.T.A. meeting to be held at the school Wednesday, Oct. 7 at 8 p. m., a program entitled Teacher's Big Helpers which will explain what the special teachers, such as those of art, and music do for the children. Plans were also discussed concerning the revamping and enlarging of the school library to be presented at a later meeting.

Townsend Club Will Hold Turkey Supper

Officers and council members of Kingston Townsend Club held a special meeting prior to their recent card party to make final plans for their annual turkey supper and bazaar to be held Wednesday, Oct. 14 at Mechanics Hall, 14 Henry street.

Serving will be from 6 p. m. until all are served. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Luella Ostrander is supper chairman, with Mrs. Mabel Coons in charge of the bazaar. Anyone wishing to donate articles may contact Mrs. Coons, call 30-W-1. Speakers will be announced at a later date.

Fred Scheid, Mail Messenger, Is Honored At Retirement Party by Esopus Residents

Fred Scheid of Esopus, who has been a mail messenger there for 50 years, was guest at a party in his honor Saturday, Sept. 26, at the firehouse, given by the residents of Esopus on the occasion of his retirement.

Beginning in November, 1903, Mr. Scheid has carried the mail with only one brief period off for illness up to the present. Mrs. Alice Jones, the postmaster of Esopus, introduced the speaker, Theodor Oxholm of Esopus, who gave further information about "Fritzie" Scheid's unusual career. Mr. Oxholm estimated that Fred had made 62,500 trips to trains and had walked 30,000 miles during his 50 years of service. Mr. Oxholm noted that the present railroad station was built in 1904 the same year that Judge Parker, from Esopus, ran for the office of president of the United States.

Mr. Oxholm then introduced the Rev. Joseph J. Comyns, rector of Mt. St. Alphonsus Seminary, who praised Mr. Scheid for his loyalty to duty. Father Comyns remarked about the increased quantity of mail for Mt. St. Alphonsus in recent months, causing more frequent trips with the wheelbarrow for Mr. Scheid.

The 150 guests then presented Mr. Scheid with a key to a specially decorated mailbox which contained cards of appreciation from those to whom he has brought mail for so many years.

Miss Mary K. Murphy Weds Robert Tremper At St. James Church

In a ceremony held Sunday, Sept. 27 at 2 p. m. at St. James Methodist Church, Miss Mary Kathleen Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Murphy of Marbletown, became the bride of Robert C. Tremper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Tremper of 52 Elizabeth street. The Rev. Dr. Ralph M. Houston, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The organist, Miss Gloria Massa, accompanied the soloist, Miss Sylvia Kern on the selections, I Love You Truly, If God Left Only You and Because. The church was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and palms.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of chantilly lace over satin with an off the shoulder neckline, embroidered with iridescent sequins and seed pearls, ending in a cathedral train. A crown of tulle leaves, rhinestones and orange blossoms secured a fingertip nylon tulle veil. She carried a cascade of white chrysanthemums.

Miss Genese Sperring of Woodstock was the maid of honor. Her gown was of wood violet silk taffeta styled with a nylon tulle skirt and a bodice of draped velvet with a nylon tulle stole. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums and wore a matching headpiece.

Miss Jean White of Woodstock and Mrs. Charles Weidner 4th of Shokan were the attendants. Their gowns were identical to that of the maid of honor. They wore headpieces of pale purple chrysanthemums and carried matching cascade bouquets.

The best man was Richard Wattman of 69 Lucas avenue. William M. Daum of Ulster Park, and Charles Weidner 4th of Shokan were ushers.

A reception for 80 guests was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

For their wedding journey to New England States, the bride wore a pale grey suit with black velvet accessories and a white chrysanthemum corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School, and was formerly employed in the office of the J. C. Penney Co.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Kingston High School is a veteran of World War 2 having served with the 101st Airborne Division in Europe. He is now employed by International Business Machines Corporation.

The couple plan to make their home in Ulster Park.

Red Cross Chapter Has Board Meeting To Elect Officers

Mrs. Samuel Adams of Saugerties was re-elected chairman of the Ulster County Chapter American Red Cross at the organization meeting of the board of directors held Wednesday evening at the Chapter House on Clinton avenue.

Other officers whose names were presented by Mrs. Frank Thompson, chairman of the nominating committee, were also elected. The nominating committee proposed the addition of a third vice-chairman and this suggestion was approved and the following were unanimously elected.

Vice Chairmen Frederick Hoffman, Mrs. William H. Merrill, Walter T. Tremper; Treasurer Oscar J. Lawatsch; Secretary Mrs. Herbert F. Schwartz.

Officers of the chapter together with Mrs. Leonard J. Flicker, Harry Gold and M. Donald Lane were elected to the executive committee.

New Directors

New members of the board of directors elected at the annual meeting earlier in September are Bev. C. Anderson, Mrs. Walter Jeghers, Ernest Ward, Clyde Wonderly, Jr., of Kingston and Mrs. Charles Boswell of Woodstock, Elbert Ackerman of Hurley, David Corwin of New Paltz, Mrs. Walter Rost of New Paltz, Joseph O'Connor of Rosendale. The new board members present were introduced during the meeting.

The following appointments to committees and chairmen of Service Committees were announced:

Finance committee, Messrs. Hoffman, Gold, Tremper, Lane and Lawatsch.

Personnel committee, Mr. Burnett, Mr. Lane and Mrs. Schwartz.

Home service chairman, Mrs. Gerard W. Betz.

Disaster chairman, Bernard A. Feeney.

Nursing services chairman, Mrs. John Roberts.

Volunteer groups chairman, Mrs. William H. Merrill.

Safety services chairman, Harold Sanford.

Chairmen of the Blood Program committee, Junior Red Cross, and Public Relations will be announced later by Mrs. Adams. Chairmen of committees will name their assistants.

Co-Chairmen of Fund

The names of Mrs. Frank Thompson and Walter T. Tremper were presented as co-chairmen of the fund planning committee and members of this committee will be appointed from the board of director membership. Later the Planning Committee will meet and seek the assistance of other civic minded persons to assist in presenting plans for the annual Fund Campaign.

The budget for the fiscal year July 1, 1954 to June 30, 1955 was presented and adopted. This budget is approximately the same in amount as the 1953-1954 budget and represents the amount which it will be necessary to raise for local expenditures and expenses during the next fund canvass. The total fund required by the chapter for the year July 1, 1954 to June 30, 1955 is $14,284.00.

Servicemen Remember

Mrs. Evelyn D. Hubbard, executive director of the chapter, read letters of appreciation received from service men who were on the high seas last Christmas and who received "High Seas" gift packages from the local chapter. Mrs. Hubbard pointed out that had it not been for the Red Cross packages many of the men on the high seas at Christmas would not have received a remembrance at that time. Last year Ulster County Chapter filled a quota of 100 of these packages and this will be the quota again this year..

Following the business session an eleven minute film presentation of President Eisenhower's welcoming talk at the 1953 Red Cross convention was presented. The film included dramatic scenes high lighting the Red Cross operations from Pearl Harbor to the present time. The scenes, which formed a visual background during portions of President Eisenhower's welcoming remarks, brought vividly to all the work of the Red Cross and the need for wholehearted support of its program.

There are 100,000 soda fountains in the United States.

Home Bureau to Hold Fall Luncheon Rally

The Kingston Day Unit of the Ulster County Home Bureau will meet at the Comforter Hall, Wynkoop Place, Thursday, Oct. 8, for a fall rally. The meeting which will begin at 10 a. m. and end at 3 p. m. will include a covered dish luncheon.

The food lesson under the leadership of Mrs. Gustav Immisch has been unavoidably postponed and in its stead, Mrs. Dorothy Goodman of Lake Katrine who is the sponsor, will be the guest speaker on the subject of the safety kit. Mrs. A. Vernon Kelley will give a book review.

The membership committee will be on hand to receive dues for 1954. Everyone is urged to attend the meeting.

P-TA Meeting Will Be Held in Kerhonkson

The first meeting of the Kerhonkson Parent-Teacher Association for 1953 will take place in the Kerhhonkson High School auditorium Wednesday, Oct. 7, at 8 p. m. At that time outgoing president Francis McCauley will be honored for the excellent work he did during the year. The following slate of new officers will be installed: Frank Kelder, president; Mrs. F. W. Harkins, vice-president; Francis McCauley, second vice president; Mrs. Stanley Christiana, secretary; and Mrs. Hamilton Sherman, treasurer.

The program for the first evening will be devoted to a general reorganization and to the drawing up of plans for the coming year. The new members of the faculty will be presented by Roland A. Riegel, principal of the Kerhonkson Public Schools, who will also extend greetings to the assembly.

The theme for the 1953 P-TA meetings is: better homes, better schools and a better community. The objective is to maintain a continuing program to develop a greater sense of civic responsibility among all the citizens of the community.

The budget to be proposed is as follows: Prizes (commencement) —$10; dues for State and National Congress of Parent-Teachers and Foundation Day gift, $25; traveling expenses for speakers, $150; custodian, $25; monthly book award, $15; playground and youth commission, $50; paper cups and plates, $25; refreshments, $45; incidentals, $40; swimming pool fund, $100. Total —$485.

Between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 people have lost their lives through earthquakes since the sixth century.

Cathedrals of Italy Make Use of Various Architectural Types

Sorosis met Monday at the home of Mrs. Conrad J. Heiselman on West Chestnut street. The paper of the afternoon was given by Mrs. William Ochs who spoke about The Cathedrals of Italy.

Mrs. Ochs began by giving the heritage of the cathedral, the significance and the general plan for most cathedrals. She considered the various types such as the palace church, the chapel, the monastery churches and the pilgrimage churches, following with a discussion of the various types of architecture used as the Gothic, Lombard, Byzantine, and Flamboyant.

Much general information was given by Mrs. Ochs as to the kinds of adornment such as mosaics, frescoes, Doric columns, Della Robbia and statues.

Mrs. Ochs described in detail several of the Italian cathedrals. Among them were St. Peter's in Rome, the third largest in Christendom and one which will eventually yield to St. John the Divine, a larger cathedral still under construction; the Milan Cathedral, in Lombardy with its spires topped by figures adorning the roofs; St. Mark's in Venice with its beautiful mosaic patterns and abundance of detail; the one in Florence constructed without support or scaffolding and which uses della Robbia; St. Paul's Beyond the Walls which outranks all in vastness and grandeur of adornment; and finally San Michele in Pavia, an excellent example of Romanesque architecture.

No. 7 School Council Plans Meeting of P-TA

A meeting of the No. 7 School Council was held at the home of the president, Herbert Cutler, 16 John street, with Mrs. Irving Josephson as program chairman presenting various plans for the coming year.

It was decided to present at the first P.T.A. meeting to be held at the school Wednesday, Oct. 7 at 8 p. m., a program entitled Teacher's Big Helpers which will explain what the special teachers, such as those of art, and music do for the children. Plans were also discussed concerning the revamping and enlarging of the school library to be presented at a later meeting.

Townsend Club Will Hold Turkey Supper

Officers and council members of Kingston Townsend Club held a special meeting prior to their recent card party to make final plans for their annual turkey supper and bazaar to be held Wednesday, Oct. 14 at Mechanics Hall, 14 Henry street.

Serving will be from 6 p. m. until all are served. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Luella Ostrander is supper chairman, with Mrs. Mabel Coons in charge of the bazaar. Anyone wishing to donate articles may contact Mrs. Coons, call 30-W-1. Speakers will be announced at a later date.

Fred Scheid, Mail Messenger, Is Honored At Retirement Party by Esopus Residents

Fred Scheid of Esopus, who has been a mail messenger there for 50 years, was guest at a party in his honor Saturday, Sept. 26, at the firehouse, given by the residents of Esopus on the occasion of his retirement.

Beginning in November, 1903, Mr. Scheid has carried the mail with only one brief period off for illness up to the present. Mrs. Alice Jones, the postmaster of Esopus, introduced the speaker, Theodor Oxholm of Esopus, who gave further information about "Fritzie" Scheid's unusual career. Mr. Oxholm estimated that Fred had made 62,500 trips to trains and had walked 30,000 miles during his 50 years of service. Mr. Oxholm noted that the present railroad station was built in 1904 the same year that Judge Parker, from Esopus, ran for the office of president of the United States.

Mr. Oxholm then introduced the Rev. Joseph J. Comyns, rector of Mt. St. Alphonsus Seminary, who praised Mr. Scheid for his loyalty to duty. Father Comyns remarked about the increased quantity of mail for Mt. St. Alphonsus in recent months, causing more frequent trips with the wheelbarrow for Mr. Scheid.

The 150 guests then presented Mr. Scheid with a key to a specially decorated mailbox which contained cards of appreciation from those to whom he has brought mail for so many years.

Miss Mary K. Murphy Weds Robert Tremper At St. James Church

Wed Sunday

MRS. ROBERT TREMPER

In a ceremony held Sunday, Sept. 27 at 2 p. m. at St. James Methodist Church, Miss Mary Kathleen Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Murphy of Marbletown, became the bride of Robert C. Tremper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Tremper of 52 Elizabeth street. The Rev. Dr. Ralph M. Houston, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The organist, Miss Gloria Massa, accompanied the soloist, Miss Sylvia Kern on the selections, I Love You Truly, If God Left Only You and Because. The church was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and palms.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of chantilly lace over satin with an off the shoulder neckline, embroidered with iridescent sequins and seed pearls, ending in a cathedral train. A crown of tulle leaves, rhinestones and orange blossoms secured a fingertip nylon tulle veil. She carried a cascade of white chrysanthemums.

Miss Genese Sperring of Woodstock was the maid of honor. Her gown was of wood violet silk taffeta styled with a nylon tulle skirt and a bodice of draped velvet with a nylon tulle stole. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums and wore a matching headpiece.

Miss Jean White of Woodstock and Mrs. Charles Weidner 4th of Shokan were the attendants. Their gowns were identical to that of the maid of honor. They wore headpieces of pale purple chrysanthemums and carried matching cascade bouquets.

The best man was Richard Wattman of 69 Lucas avenue. William M. Daum of Ulster Park, and Charles Weidner 4th of Shokan were ushers.

A reception for 80 guests was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

For their wedding journey to New England States, the bride wore a pale grey suit with black velvet accessories and a white chrysanthemum corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School, and was formerly employed in the office of the J. C. Penney Co.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Kingston High School is a veteran of World War 2 having served with the 101st Airborne Division in Europe. He is now employed by International Business Machines Corporation.

The couple plan to make their home in Ulster Park.

Freedom of Press Uppermost

Red Cross Chapter Has Board Meeting To Elect Officers

Mrs. Samuel Adams of Saugerties was re-elected chairman of the Ulster County Chapter American Red Cross at the organization meeting of the board of directors held Wednesday evening at the Chapter House on Clinton avenue.

Other officers whose names were presented by Mrs. Frank Thompson, chairman of the nominating committee, were also elected. The nominating committee proposed the addition of a third vice-chairman and this suggestion was approved and the following were unanimously elected.

Vice Chairmen Frederick Hoffman, Mrs. William H. Merrill, Walter T. Tremper; Treasurer Oscar J. Lawatsch; Secretary Mrs. Herbert F. Schwartz.

Officers of the chapter together with Mrs. Leonard J. Flicker, Harry Gold and M. Donald Lane were elected to the executive committee.

New Directors

New members of the board of directors elected at the annual meeting earlier in September are Bev. C. Anderson, Mrs. Walter Jeghers, Ernest Ward, Clyde Wonderly, Jr., of Kingston and Mrs. Charles Boswell of Woodstock, Elbert Ackerman of Hurley, David Corwin of New Paltz, Mrs. Walter Rost of New Paltz, Joseph O'Connor of Rosendale. The new board members present were introduced during the meeting.

The following appointments to committees and chairmen of Service Committees were announced:

Finance committee, Messrs. Hoffman, Gold, Tremper, Lane and Lawatsch.

Personnel committee, Mr. Burnett, Mr. Lane and Mrs. Schwartz.

Home service chairman, Mrs. Gerard W. Betz.

Disaster chairman, Bernard A. Feeney.

Nursing services chairman, Mrs. John Roberts.

Volunteer groups chairman, Mrs. William H. Merrill.

Safety services chairman, Harold Sanford.

Chairmen of the Blood Program committee, Junior Red Cross, and Public Relations will be announced later by Mrs. Adams. Chairmen of committees will name their assistants.

Co-Chairmen of Fund

The names of Mrs. Frank Thompson and Walter T. Tremper were presented as co-chairmen of the fund planning committee and members of this committee will be appointed from the board of director membership. Later the Planning Committee will meet and seek the assistance of other civic minded persons to assist in presenting plans for the annual Fund Campaign.

The budget for the fiscal year July 1, 1954 to June 30, 1955 was presented and adopted. This budget is approximately the same in amount as the 1953-1954 budget and represents the amount which it will be necessary to raise for local expenditures and expenses during the next fund canvass. The total fund required by the chapter for the year July 1, 1954 to June 30, 1955 is $14,284.00.

Servicemen Remember

Mrs. Evelyn D. Hubbard, executive director of the chapter, read letters of appreciation received from service men who were on the high seas last Christmas and who received "High Seas" gift packages from the local chapter. Mrs. Hubbard pointed out that had it not been for the Red Cross packages many of the men on the high seas at Christmas would not have received a remembrance at that time. Last year Ulster County Chapter filled a quota of 100 of these packages and this will be the quota again this year..

Following the business session an eleven minute film presentation of President Eisenhower's welcoming talk at the 1953 Red Cross convention was presented. The film included dramatic scenes high lighting the Red Cross operations from Pearl Harbor to the present time. The scenes, which formed a visual background during portions of President Eisenhower's welcoming remarks, brought vividly to all the work of the Red Cross and the need for wholehearted support of its program.

There are 100,000 soda fountains in the United States.

Home Bureau to Hold Fall Luncheon Rally

The Kingston Day Unit of the Ulster County Home Bureau will meet at the Comforter Hall, Wynkoop Place, Thursday, Oct. 8, for a fall rally. The meeting which will begin at 10 a. m. and end at 3 p. m. will include a covered dish luncheon.

The food lesson under the leadership of Mrs. Gustav Immisch has been unavoidably postponed and in its stead, Mrs. Dorothy Goodman of Lake Katrine who is the sponsor, will be the guest speaker on the subject of the safety kit. Mrs. A. Vernon Kelley will give a book review.

The membership committee will be on hand to receive dues for 1954. Everyone is urged to attend the meeting.

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

THE BRIDGES AT TOKO-RI
By James A. Michener

This is a book that had to be written—and has to be read—by the thousands who care about what is happening, and has happened to our boys fighting in Korea; and it is hoped, will be widely read by the millions who do not know, or do not care about this so-called "Police Action" which is really war at its toughest and worst.

Written by an ex-naval aviator, author of "Tales of the South Pacific," this is a brilliant little masterpiece about men at war. His description of the high technical skill; hair-trigger decisions in a crisis; split-second timing in manipulating their heavy planes; coolness under fire; their sense of brotherhood toward one another—even toward their enemies; their high courage; their sense of humor, breaking out in tense moments. It all makes an unforgettable picture of our fighting men.

The story centers around a naval task force, operating in the icy waters off the coast of Korea. Their mission, to destroy the heavily guarded bridges of Toko-Ri, over which essential supplies are passing to the enemy. The bridges can be got at only by bombers flying dangerously low into a narrow, mountain-rimmed valley to drop their bombs, and then—if they can—zooming quickly up and out through a narrow pass. This mission is every flier's horror, and the men on the U. S. Carrier, "Savo" were the ones picked to do it.

The "Savo" was commanded by Admiral Tarrant, known throughout the navy as "George, the Tyrant." Tyrant he was in time of stress, but he possessed amazing skill in operating a task force and he could be kind and understanding. His favorite jet pilot was Brubaker, 29-year-old Denver businessman, called back into service, leaving his lovely wife, Nancy, and the two girls, against his will—and for that reason doing a superb job. It wasn't only because Brubaker was his best pilot that the Admiral favored him. He was just the age of one of his two sons, killed in battle, and Brubaker was his compensation for his grief and loneliness.

When the story opens, "Beer Barrel," the big Texas signalman, who always returns from shore leave, bearing two huge golf bags, filled with cans of beer, is standing on his observation platform, expertly waving the returning planes home on the heaving, pitching deck. No one could guide them more safely than he, and they all knew it. His often repeated advice, "Don't fly the deck, Junior, Don't fly the sea. Fly me", brought them home more often than not. Just then Brubaker was reported hit, and downed. Now every man aboard knew that in that icy water a man could live just 25 minutes—no more—then he froze to death. Also everyone knew of the surprise waiting for Brubaker. His wife, Nancy, and the girls had finally made it to Japan and were there waiting for him.

Out goes the order, "Mike, save that guy," Responding is Mike Forney, tough Irish Chicagoan, in his helicopter, wearing as usual and strictly against regulations, his opera hat, painted green, a Kelly green scarf and, clamped between his big teeth—a clay pipe. When that outfit appeared the boys knew they were as good as saved. This time it was tougher than usual. But Mike and Nestor went down into the freezing water and saved both Brubaker and his wigman. "Two copters coming home with two frozen mackerel," he announced triumphantly.

On shore leave Brubaker has a happy re-union with his wife and daughters, but cuts it short to bail Mike out of jail, where he had landed after a fierce brawl over his beautiful, faithless Japanese girl.

The last chapter is a magnificent description of the heroic mission to bomb the bridges. The cool precision with which each man manoeuvers his beautiful slim jet plane through deadly enemy fire; the inspiring spirit of brotherhood between them as each man looks out for his comrades. Their unswerving steadiness as they return a second time into the grim valley, after seeing one of their number vanish into a hillside in a burst of orange flame. And then the final tragic episode when pilot and the copter sent to save him are trapped and together they go forward calmly to meet their fate. To quote the Admiral, "Where do we get such men?"

VFW Day Sets Record for Largest Group To Visit Since Opening of VA Hospital

In addition to the above, the following affiliated organizations were represented: Hudson Valley Pup Tent No. 16, Military Order of the Cootie; Queen Bee Cootiette Club No. 194, Dads' Club No. 114 of Poughkeepsie and Dads' Club No. 143 of Saugerties.

The above organizations represent posts from Dutchess, Hudson Valley counties; Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan and Westchester counties.

The following distinguished guests were present and toured the hospital as a group: Department of New York Commander and Mrs. Edward Papantonio; Mrs. Kathryn Crawford, Jr., vice-president Department of New York Ladies' Auxiliary; Mrs. Mary Houle, director of hospital work, Department of New York Ladies Auxiliary; John P. O'Connell, commander of District No. 2, VFW and many other distinguished guests.

Approximately 30 VAVS (Veterans Administration Volunteer Service) members of the various ladies' auxiliaries served as guides throughout the visit and assisted in every way possible.

Post and ladies auxiliary members passed out 10,000 homemade cookies; 600 baskets of fruit; 120 cartons of cigarettes; hundreds of books; playing cards; stationery; stamps and toilet articles. Each patient in the hospital was visited and presented with gifts. Refreshments were served to all members present for the visit.

Promptly at 3 p. m. the Port Ewen Fife and Drum Corps, Hopewell Junction Fife and Drum Corps, Dutchess Fife and Drum Corps of Beacon and the Halldane High School Band of Cold Spring presented concerts and field maneuvers making a tour of the entire grounds so that each patient could see and hear each musical organization.

Entertainment in the various wards was furnished by the Serenaders of White Plains, the Stylists of Poughkeepsie, and a group from the Wappingers Falls Post.

It was stated by hospital officials that this was the largest turnout of an organization since the opening of the hospital and they expressed their appreciation for the work of the VFW this day and all the work in the past.

They also stated that without the aid of the various organizations it would be impossible to provide the entertainment and gifts to the patients as the budget for this work is very limited. They further stated that the hospital has a capacity of 555 patients and the type of entertainment that must be provided is of wide scope, the reading desires of the patients are varied and the magazine subscriptions purchased each year run into the hundreds of dollars, much of which is borne by the veterans organizations, without the aid of these organizations many of the patients would be without reading material.

The hospital staff is as follows: Frank W. Clayton, manager; C. T. Thomason, asst. manager; John K. Deegan, M.D., chief of professional services; Isabell Maffette, R.N., chief nurse; Robert J. Ryan, chief of special services; Norman Astwood, chief of recreation. The Veterans Administration Volunteer Service representatives from the Veterans of Foreign Wars are J. Clifford Veatch, Mrs. Frances McKeown, and Mrs. Florence Harris.

The South Carolina Assembly appropriated money in 1773 to help pay the debts of John Wilkes, English editor jailed for seditious libel for attacking the king.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

A CASE OF MUST!

A reader today asks me: "How does one decline an invitation to dinner by a member of one's immediate family? I am referring to my sister-in-law who is a very sloppy housekeeper, and I just can't bring myself to eat in her house. Not only is her place very untidy, but her dishes and silverware look half washed. I certainly don't want to cause dissention in the family but my stomach just can't take it. I most certainly hope you have a solution to my problem."

I'm very sorry but the answer is that you have to "take it"—you can't possible do otherwise and not cause dissension in the family.

"Mr. President"

Dear Mrs. Post: I have just started a new job and have been told by one of the secretaries that it is not correct when writing to a man who has an official title, such as President, Vice-President, etc., to prefix his name with Mr. I have never before heard of this and would like to know if this omission of "Mr." is a new rule?

Answer: Not at all, you address him as "Mr. John Smith, Pres."

Wedding Clothes

Dear Mrs. Post: When I was young I ran away and was married. When my parents found out about it they had the marriage annulled. The marriage lasted three days. That was over ten years ago and I doubt whether anyone remembers it. Now I am going to be married to a very fine young man and would like to have a real wedding with bridal dress and veil and all the trimmings. Will you please tell me if this would be proper under the circumstances?

Answer: As your first marriage lasted three days, you cannot wear a bridal veil or orange blossoms but you can wear a white bridal dress, and a wreath.

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her leaflet E-35, "The Well-Dressed Woman," describes clothes for "semi-formal" parties and other occasions. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept EP, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

First Baptist Men Elect New Officers; Hear Census Report

William S. Jackson was elected president of the Men's Club of the First Baptist Church during a supper meeting Wednesday night at the church.

Mr. Jackson succeeds William W. Brady, Jr.

All other officers were reelected including Raymond Whitbeck, vice-president; Sherwood Lasher, secretary and Ferdinand Short, treasurer. George Matthews was again named as layman to the National Layman's Association.

During the business meeting, the Rev. Donald E. Brown, pastor, reported on the progress of the religious census held Sunday afternoon and urged all members to attend tonight's meeting at the church when further action will take place.

He said that the Rev. Earl Spencer of Poughkeepsie, guest leader, would report to the church on the findings of the census and will outline plans for the future in connection with the census..

Tonight's meeting will start at 7:30 o'clock and all members of the church are invited to attend.

Thruway Is Subject Of Talk at Meeting

The Twentieth Century Club met for the first meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Herman Schwenk.

At roll call each member gave an account of her summer vacation. Following the business meeting, Mrs. Warren Russell read her paper A Thruway of Tomorrow. Getting her facts from talks with those in charge of building the Thruway. Mrs. Russell was able to explain much that is not understood by those who watch the progress. Mrs. Russell showed a motion picture illustrating the building of a thruway. Following this, Mrs. Russell projected on a screen, pictures of the trip taken this summer to California.

Miss Frances Osterhoudt took as her topic Stars. She first read a paper written by her mother as a graduation essay, then read her own paper which covered more known facts about the constellations, comets, milky way, shooting stars and the studies made today of the moon and Mars.

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

THE BRIDGES AT TOKO-RI
By James A. Michener

This is a book that had to be written—and has to be read—by the thousands who care about what is happening, and has happened to our boys fighting in Korea; and it is hoped, will be widely read by the millions who do not know, or do not care about this so-called "Police Action" which is really war at its toughest and worst.

Written by an ex-naval aviator, author of "Tales of the South Pacific," this is a brilliant little masterpiece about men at war. His description of the high technical skill; hair-trigger decisions in a crisis; split-second timing in manipulating their heavy planes; coolness under fire; their sense of brotherhood toward one another —even toward their enemies; their high courage; their sense of humor, breaking out in tense moments. It all makes an unforgettable picture of our fighting men.

The story centers around a naval task force, operating in the icy waters off the coast of Korea. Their mission, to destroy the heavily guarded bridges of Toko-Ri, over which essential supplies are passing to the enemy. The bridges can be got at only by bombers flying dangerously low into a narrow, mountain-rimmed valley to drop their bombs, and then—if they can—zooming quickly up and out through a narrow pass. This mission is every flier's horror, and the men on the U. S. Carrier, "Savo" were the ones picked to do it.

The "Savo" was commanded by Admiral Tarrant, known throughout the navy as "George, the Tyrant." Tyrant he was in time of stress, but he possessed amazing skill in operating a task force and he could be kind and understanding. His favorite jet pilot was Brubaker, 29-year-old Denver businessman, called back into service, leaving his lovely wife, Nancy, and the two girls, against his will—and for that reason doing a superb job. It wasn't only because Brubaker was his best pilot that the Admiral favored him. He was just the age of one of his two sons, killed in battle, and Brubaker was his compensation for his grief and loneliness.

When the story opens, "Beer Barrel," the big Texas signalman, who always returns from shore leave, bearing two huge golf bags, filled with cans of beer, is standing on his observation platform, expertly waving the returning planes home on the heaving, pitching deck. No one could guide them more safely than he, and they all knew it. His often repeated advice, "Don't fly the deck, Junior, Don't fly the sea. Fly me", brought them home more often than not. Just then Brubaker was reported hit, and downed. Now every man aboard knew that in that icy water a man could live just 25 minutes—no more—then he froze to death. Also everyone knew of the surprise waiting for Brubaker. His wife, Nancy, and the girls had finally made it to Japan and were there waiting for him.

Out goes the order, "Mike, save that guy." Responding is Mike Forney, tough Irish Chicagoan, in his helicopter, wearing as usual and strictly against regulations, his opera hat, painted green, a Kelly green scarf and, clamped between his big teeth—a clay pipe. When that outfit appeared the boys knew they were as good as saved. This time it was tougher than usual. But Mike and Nestor went down into the freezing water and saved both Brubaker and his wigman. "Two copters coming home with two frozen mackerel," he announced triumphantly.

On shore leave Brubaker has a happy re-union with his wife and daughters, but cuts it short to bail Mike out of jail, where he had landed after a fierce brawl over his beautiful, faithless Japanese girl.

The last chapter is a magnificent description of the heroic mission to bomb the bridges. The cool precision with which each man manoeuvers his beautiful slim jet plane through deadly enemy fire; the inspiring spirit of brotherhood between them as each man looks out for his comrades. Their unswerving steadiness as they return a second time into the grim valley, after seeing one of their number vanish into a hillside in a burst of orange flame. And then the final tragic episode when pilot and the copter sent to save him are trapped and together they go forward calmly to meet their fate. To quote the Admiral, "Where do we get such men?"

VFW Day Sets Record for Largest Group To Visit Since Opening of VA Hospital

In addition to the above, the following affiliated organizations were represented: Hudson Valley Pup Tent No. 16, Military Order of the Cootie; Queen Bee Cootiette Club No. 194, Dads' Club No. 114 of Poughkeepsie and Dads' Club No. 143 of Saugerties.

The above organizations represent posts from Dutchess, Hudson Valley counties; Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan and Westchester counties.

The following distinguished guests were present and toured the hospital as a group: Department of New York Commander and Mrs. Edward Papantonio; Mrs. Kathryn Crawford, Jr., vice-president Department of New York Ladies' Auxiliary; Mrs. Mary Houle, director of hospital work, Department of New York Ladies Auxiliary; John P. O'Connell, commander of District No. 2, VFW and many other distinguished guests.

Approximately 30 VAVS (Veterans Administration Volunteer Service) members of the various ladies' auxiliaries served as guides throughout the visit and assisted in every way possible.

Post and ladies auxiliary members passed out 10,000 homemade cookies; 600 baskets of fruit; 120 cartons of cigarettes; hundreds of books; playing cards; stationery; stamps and toilet articles. Each patient in the hospital was visited and presented with gifts. Refreshments were served to all members present for the visit.

Promptly at 3 p. m. the Port Ewen Fife and Drum Corps, Hopewell Junction Fife and Drum Corps, Dutchess Fife and Drum Corps of Beacon and the Halldane High School Band of Cold Spring presented concerts and field maneuvers making a tour of the entire grounds so that each patient could see and hear each musical organization.

Entertainment in the various wards was furnished by the Serenaders of White Plains, the Stylists of Poughkeepsie, and a group from the Wappingers Falls Post.

It was stated by hospital officials that this was the largest turnout of an organization since the opening of the hospital and they expressed their appreciation for the work of the VFW this day and all the work in the past.

They also stated that without the aid of the various organizations it would be impossible to provide the entertainment and gifts to the patients as the budget for this work is very limited. They further stated that the hospital has a capacity of 555 patients and the type of entertainment that must be provided is of wide scope, the reading desires of the patients are varied and the magazine subscriptions purchased each year run into the hundreds of dollars, much of which is borne by the veterans organizations, without the aid of these organizations many of the patients would be without reading material.

The hospital staff is as follows: Frank W. Clayton, manager; C. T. Thomason, asst. manager; John K. Deegan, M.D., chief of professional services; Isabell Maffette, R.N., chief nurse; Robert J. Ryan, chief of special services; Norman Astwood, chief of recreation. The Veterans Administration Volunteer Service representatives from the Veterans of Foreign Wars are J. Clifford Veatch, Mrs. Frances McKeown, and Mrs. Florence Harris.

Good Taste Today

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

A CASE OF MUST!

A reader today asks me: "How does one decline an invitation to dinner by a member of one's immediate family? I am referring to my sister-in-law who is a very sloppy housekeeper, and I just can't bring myself to eat in her house. Not only is her place very untidy, but her dishes and silverware look half washed. I certainly don't want to cause dissention in the family but my stomach just can't take it. I most certainly hope you have a solution to my problem."

I'm very sorry but the answer is that you have to "take it"—you can't possible do otherwise and not cause dissension in the family.

"Mr. President"

Dear Mrs. Post: I have just started a new job and have been told by one of the secretaries that it is not correct when writing to a man who has an official title, such as President, Vice-President, etc., to prefix his name with Mr. I have never before heard of this and would like to know if this omission of "Mr." is a new rule?

Answer: Not at all, you address him as "Mr. John Smith, Pres."

Wedding Clothes

Dear Mrs. Post: When I was young I ran away and was married. When my parents found out about it they had the marriage annulled. The marriage lasted three days. That was over ten years ago and I doubt whether anyone remembers it. Now I am going to be married to a very fine young man and would like to have a real wedding with bridal dress and veil and all the trimmings. Will you please tell me if this would be proper under the circumstances?

Answer: As your first marriage lasted three days, you cannot wear a bridal veil or orange blossoms but you can wear a white bridal dress, and a wreath.

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her leaflet E-35, "The Well-Dressed Woman," describes clothes for "semi-formal" parties and other occasions. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept EP, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

First Baptist Men Elect New Officers; Hear Census Report

William S. Jackson was elected president of the Men's Club of the First Baptist Church during a supper meeting Wednesday night at the church.

Mr. Jackson succeeds William W. Brady, Jr.

All other officers were reelected including Raymond Whitbeck, vice-president; Sherwood Lasher, secretary and Ferdinand Short, treasurer. George Matthews was again named as layman to the National Layman's Association.

During the business meeting, the Rev. Donald E. Brown, pastor, reported on the progress of the religious census held Sunday afternoon and urged all members to attend tonight's meeting at the church when further action will take place.

He said that the Rev. Earl Spencer of Poughkeepsie, guest leader, would report to the church on the findings of the census and will outline plans for the future in connection with the census.

Tonight's meeting will start at 7:30 o'clock and all members of the church are invited to attend.

Thirty-Six Vets File Entries For Tournament

Speicher Favored In Class E Play

Thirty-six of Ulster county's best know senior golfers, ranging in age from a minimum of 50 years to 70-plus, will tee off in the first annual Ulster County Seniors championship Sunday at Twaalfskill Golf Club.

First off the tee at 11 a. m. will be a threesome made up of Ralph E. Gardner, secretary of the tournament; Anthony J. DeLisio, president of the Woodstock Country Club, and Gus Schrowang.

Floyd W. Flint, who originated the idea of a seniors tournament and is general chairman of this year's premiere, said the entry list might reach 40 by Sunday morning.

Dinner Planned

Trophies will be awarded at a dinner scheduled for 3 p. m. The winner of the low gross will have his name placed on the Jay Rifenbary Memorial plaque which was put in contention by his son, Dr. George Rifenbary.

There are four entries in the coveted Class A section for players 70 years and over. The favorite in the foursome is Eugene Speicher, famous Woodstock artist, who carries a 15 handicap. Rodney Osterhoudt and Frank W. Thompson of Kingston and Bruff Olin of Woodstock complete the group.

The greybeards will play only 9 holes and are scheduled to tee off at 12:30 p. m.

DUSO Football Starts Tonight

Kingston High launches the 1953 DUSO football campaign tonight at Port Jervis.

Coach G. Warren Kias announced this morning the game would start at 8:15 p. m., and the team would be accompanied by a couple bus loads of rooters.

The Maroon is at top strength and Coach Bill Burke is expected to start Charlie Johnson in the Orville Giles' halfback spot.

A secondary opener, but one with significant implication on the overall DUSO picture, is scheduled Saturday afternoon at Newburgh between NFA and the Poughkeepsie Blues, the No. 1 favorites of the circuit.

According to reports from Newburgh, ace halfback Paul Suto and end Jack White might miss the game because of injuries suffered in the opener with Oyster Bay.

While playing football for Illinois, Harold (Red) Grange scored 31 touchdowns, gained 3,637 yards and threw 42 passes for 643 yards.

New York, Oct. 2 (AP)—Mickey Mantle, ordinarily one of the least talkative players in baseball, coined a new word in the New York Yankees dressing room to describe the pitch he hit for game-winning home run—"it was some sort of a scroogie."

"I don't know if it was a curve or a change-up," he said of the Preacher Roe pitch which sailed from his bat into the left field stands for the Yanks' 4-2 victory in yesterday's second game. "It might have been over the plate or just outside. I don't know. It was some sort of a scroogie."

Over in the gloomy Brooklyn Dodgers quarters, a disconsolate Roe confirmed Mantle's description.

"It was a changeup screwball," the pitcher said. "I thought it was a good pitch and it went just where I wanted it to go. He just got hold of it and slammed it out of the park."

How about the pitch that Billy Martin slugged for a home run to tie the game at 2-2 in the seventh inning?

Mistake to Martin

"It was a mistake," the Ash Flat, Ark., resident said. "It was a high curve. Nobody ought to pitch anybody a high curve."

But Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn's jack of all positions who is playing left field in the series for the first time, said it was his mistake, not Roe's.

"I should have caught it," Jackie said bluntly. "When it left the bat I knew the ball was hit pretty good so I went back, figuring I'd catch it here (holding his hands shoulder high)."

"But it kept carrying, and it carried over my head. I guess an experienced leftfielder would have gone back to the wall right away instead of trailing the ball."

Yankees Calm

The Yankee dressing room, as always, was quiet and orderly. The baseball business men who make it their business to win pennants and world series changed their clothes calmly, looking almost like white collar workers washing up to catch the 4:45 train for the suburbs.

Mantle and Eddie Lopat, the slow-balling lefthander, who bested Roe yesterday, manufactured victory smiles for the photographers, but the Yankees were neither celebrating nor predicting a quick end to the series.

"Do you think you can take four straight," Manager Casey Stengel was asked.

Stengel, looking at his questioner as though he thought the man was crazy, replied with a big smile and his well-known wink:

"I'm just planning for tomorrow."

Dressen Overwhelmed

Reporters who seldom have trouble hearing Charley Dressen had to strain their ears to catch the quiet words of the Dodger manager.

"We're in bad shape, that's for sure," Dressen said. "But if Erskine can win tomorrow maybe we'll be all right." He had announced earlier that Carl Erskine, knocked out of the first game after yielding four runs in the first inning, would come back in today's third game.

"How many men did we leave on base today?" Dressen continued. "Ten? And it was 12 yesterday.

"And what did we do? We get nine hits and they get five. We get a triple in the first inning and can't score. They don't get a hit in the first inning and get one run. It's been that kind of series for us."

Erskine Victory Is Must To Keep Dodgers Alive

Lopat Bested Roe in Battle of Junk Men

Brooklyn, Oct. 2 (AP)—Unless Carl Erskine, the collar ad man, can subdue his World Series jitters and pitch a regular scorcher against the Yankees today, it might very well be all over at an early hour tomorrow evening and the boys on their way home.

And Erskine's pitching will have to be very good in his own Ebbets Field, for the man who opposes him on the hill is Vic Raschi. Raschi, when rested and ready, is about as tough as they come. The job he did on the Dodgers in the second series game a year ago still is fresh in memory.

The Yankees might not complete the four-game sweep. The odds against it would have been long begore the playoff began. But when Mickey Mantle, the phenom from Oklahoma, poled his eighth inning home run deep into the shirtsleeved crowd in left field to wrap up yesterday's second game at 4-2, a few million witnesses on TV must have shared the thought that Brooklyn was through.

The National Leaguers had done their best. They had overcome a 1-0 Yankee lead and had hustled their tormentor, Ed Lopat, for a pair of scores in the fourth inning. Their pitcher, Elwin (Preacher) Roe, was working like a champion. And then, so easily that it didn't seem quite fair, the Yanks had knocked two into the crowd and the contest was over.

Yanks Riding High

Having won the first two, Casey Stengel's team holds an almost overwhelming advantage. Not since they made it a best four of seven games back in 1922 has any club ever lost the first pair and then rallied to win the championship.

Even if Erskine should break the Yankee spell today, the Dodgers still could look forward to nothing more entertaining than trying to beat young Whitey Ford, one of the game's better southpaws, tomorrow. To find a suitable opponent for Ford, manager Charlie Dressen probably would have to choose between Billy Loes and Russ Meyer, a couple of large question marks. It looks like the Yanks in four, frankly.

Erskine faced quite a mental block today. The handsome youngster, who alone of the World Series pitchers won 20 victories during the regular season, was bound to have it on his mind that the Yanks jumped him for four runs in the first inning at the stadium two days back.

Under the circumstances, Allie Reynolds' aching back lost steadily in importance. After all, the American Leaguers won the game the Chief started, thanks to Johnny Sain's fine work in relief, and with their 2-0 lead in games they appeared to be in no urgent need for pitching help.

Lopat Adamant

As a matter of plain fact Reynolds probably did a whole lot toward winning the series before his back began to creak. Yahoo didn't mean to do it, of course. But when the stout Cherokee busted up Roy Campanella's throwing hand with a fast ball in the second inning of the opener he really dealt one to the Dodgers.

The Brooklyn catcher, key man of the club, was a pitiful figure yesterday as he failed to knock the ball out of the infield in four tries. Even though he had an inch thickness of sponge rubber between his hands, the popular Negro star could not take a proper swing.

The last anyone heard from him, Campanella did not feel he would be up to playing today. He said he did not want to hold his team back. The catcher who would take his place, name of Rube Walker, receives excellently but is not known for his hitting. It is doubtful that anyone would have selected the Dodgers to win the series if they had known Campanella would miss a game.

Lopat was the man who stood out yesterday, even though he needed a little help toward the last from those two brash youngsters, Billy Martin and Mantle. In scoring his 17th victory against only four defeats for 1953, the chubby portsider gave a classic demonstration of what it is to do without speed, strictly on guile.

You would have sworn you could hit anything the man tossed up to the plate. As they like to say, he couldn't have broken a plate. The fastest ball he threw was in snapping a runner out at first, a Brooklyn batter who had bunted, apparently under the mistaken impression that Lopat couldn't throw that far.

Roe Tragic Figure

The tragic figure was Roe, who always before had been able to win in Yankee Stadium's great expanses. The thin man from Arkansas fidgeted and fretted and nearly drove everybody nuts before he finally consented to guide his soft stuff across. He had the Yankees talking to themselves, too, before they finally solved the riddle.

Martin, the Yankee brat, caught on first. Leading off the seventh, his team a run behind, the tough kid from San Francisco took a full stride forward from the box and laid onto a Roe change-up and laid it just inside the left field stands for the tying run.

Jackie Robinson might have misplayed it a trifle. Some thought the former great infielder might have made the catch if he had been against the fence a bit quicker and had jumped exactly at the right time.

At any rate, there was no argument over the one that Mantle hit in the next inning with two out and one on to chill the game.

Nice Try for Yogi

Ulster County Seniors Golf Tourney Sunday at Twaalfskill

Speicher Favored In Class E Play

Thirty-six of Ulster county's best know senior golfers, ranging in age from a minimum of 50 years to 70-plus, will tee off in the first annual Ulster County Seniors championship Sunday at Twaalfskill Golf Club.

First off the tee at 11 a. m. will be a threesome made up of Ralph E. Gardner, secretary of the tournament; Anthony J. DeLisio, president of the Woodstock Country Club, and Gus Schrowang.

Floyd W. Flint, who originated the idea of a seniors tournament and is general chairman of this year's premiere, said the entry list might reach 40 by Sunday morning.

Dinner Planned

Trophies will be awarded at a dinner scheduled for 3 p. m. The winner of the low gross will have his name placed on the Jay Rifenbary Memorial plaque which was put in contention by his son, Dr. George Rifenbary.

There are four entries in the coveted Class A section for players 70 years and over. The favorite in the foursome is Eugene Speicher, famous Woodstock artist, who carries a 15 handicap. Rodney Osterhoudt and Frank W. Thompson of Kingston and Bruff Olin of Woodstock complete the group.

The greybeards will play only 9 holes and are scheduled to tee off at 12:30 p. m.

Schedule Listed

11—Ralph E. Gardner (18), A. DeLisio (26), Gus Schrowang (13).

11:05—Lou Smith (6), Dr. Joseph Jacobson (15), Robert Umpleby (23).

11:10 — Eugene Freer (12), Floyd Flint (15), Fred Ertel (16).

11:20—Harry Green (23), Bernard Forst (26), Claude Needes (22).

11:25— John D. Schoonmaker, Jr. (24), Thomas Hogan Dendy (21), Kenneth Wood (22).

11:30 — Emil Boessneck (30), Walter Elston (30), Irving Poppa (30).

11:40 — Walter Seaton (6), Frank McCahill (6), Ed Modjeska (11).

11:50—Roy Vogt (7), George Schick (12).

12—Maurice Davenport (7), Ed Remmert (7), Fred Allen (7).

12:10—Harold F. King (24), Ed Tongue (17), Wilson C. Ingalls (23).

12:30—Rodney Osterhoudt (26), Bruff Olin (25).

12:35—Eugene Speicher (15), Frank W. Thompson (25).

12:40—Fabian L. Russell (15), Ernest LeFevre (15), Burt Haver (13).

But when Mickey Mantle, the phenom from Oklahoma, poled his eighth inning home run deep into the shirtsleeved crowd in left field to wrap up yesterday's second game at 4-2, a few million witnesses on TV must have shared the thought that Brooklyn was through.

The National Leaguers had done their best. They had overcome a 1-0 Yankee lead and had hustled their tormentor, Ed Lopat, for a pair of scores in the fourth inning. Their pitcher, Elwin (Preacher) Roe, was working like a champion. And then, so easily that it didn't seem quite fair, the Yanks had knocked two into the crowd and the contest was over.

Yanks Riding High

Having won the first two, Casey Stengel's team holds an almost overwhelming advantage. Not since they made it a best four of seven games back in 1922 has any club ever lost the first pair and then rallied to win the championship.

Even if Erskine should break the Yankee spell today, the Dodgers still could look forward to nothing more entertaining than trying to beat young Whitey Ford, one of the game's better southpaws, tomorrow. To find a suitable opponent for Ford, manager Charlie Dressen probably would have to choose between Billy Loes and Russ Meyer, a couple of large question marks. It looks like the Yanks in four, frankly.

Erskine faced quite a mental block today. The handsome youngster, who alone of the World Series pitchers won 20 victories during the regular season, was bound to have it on his mind that the Yanks jumped him for four runs in the first inning at the stadium two days back.

Under the circumstances, Allie Reynolds' aching back lost steadily in importance. After all, the American Leaguers won the game the Chief started, thanks to Johnny Sain's fine work in relief, and with their 2-0 lead in games they appeared to be in no urgent need for pitching help.

Lopat Adamant

As a matter of plain fact Reynolds probably did a whole lot toward winning the series before his back began to creak. Yahoo didn't mean to do it, of course. But when the stout Cherokee busted up Roy Campanella's throwing hand with a fast ball in the second inning of the opener he really dealt one to the Dodgers.

The Brooklyn catcher, key man of the club, was a pitiful figure yesterday as he failed to knock the ball out of the infield in four tries. Even though he had an inch thickness of sponge rubber between his hands, the popular Negro star could not take a proper swing.

The last anyone heard from him, Campanella did not feel he would be up to playing today. He said he did not want to hold his team back. The catcher who would take his place, name of Rube Walker, receives excellently but is not known for his hitting. It is doubtful that anyone would have selected the Dodgers to win the series if they had known Campanella would miss a game.

Lopat was the man who stood out yesterday, even though he needed a little help toward the last from those two brash youngsters, Billy Martin and Mantle. In scoring his 17th victory against only four defeats for 1953, the chubby portsider gave a classic demonstration of what it is to do without speed, strictly on guile.

You would have sworn you could hit anything the man tossed up to the plate. As they like to say, he couldn't have broken a plate. The fastest ball he threw was in snapping a runner out at first, a Brooklyn batter who had bunted, apparently under the mistaken impression that Lopat couldn't throw that far.

Roe Tragic Figure

The tragic figure was Roe, who always before had been able to win in Yankee Stadium's great expanses. The thin man from Arkansas fidgeted and fretted and nearly drove everybody nuts before he finally consented to guide his soft stuff across. He had the Yankees talking to themselves, too, before they finally solved the riddle.

Martin, the Yankee brat, caught on first. Leading off the seventh, his team a run behind, the tough kid from San Francisco took a full stride forward from the box and laid onto a Roe change-up and laid it just inside the left field stands for the tying run.

Jackie Robinson might have misplayed it a trifle. Some thought the former great infielder might have made the catch if he had been against the fence a bit quicker and had jumped exactly at the right time.

At any rate, there was no argument over the one that Mantle hit in the next inning with two out and one on to chill the game.

Ferraro Hits 631 Series To Lead City's Bowlers

It took a couple weeks but the Old Pro moved into the bowling headlines last night in Major League action at the Bowlodrome.

Johnny Ferraro relinquished high single honors to Bill Lawrence and Angelo Ferraro, who fired 236s, but he put together lines of 193-227-211 for high series honors of 631. It was the first time this season he had rolled high triple in a league he invariably leads in high average.

Distaff honors went to Mae McCaffrey of the Central Rec circut with 203 and Nellie Alverson of the Nite Cap League of New Paltz with 517. She also fired a 201 solo.

Davis Cracks 613

There were only three "600" sets besides Ferraro's 631 in the major circuit. Bruce Davis sandwiched a 158 with 230 and 225 for 613; Harold Broskie toppled 213-210-611 and Bill Lawrence shot 600 on the nose with 208-236.

Charlie Grunenwald accounted for 225-596, Larry Weishaupt hit 212-202-593, Cliff Davis 571, George Shufeldt 203-579, Joe Ausanio 215-574, Ralph Garafola 203-571, Millie Berardi 204-578; Lou Guadagnola 224-564, Len Freer 569, John Swint 560, Huck Svirsky 217-560.

Team results:

Petersen's 2, Smith Ave. Storage 1; Old Capital Motors 3, Jay's Shoe Store 0; United Pharmacy 2, Rafalowsky's 1; Silsby Motors 3, Mannie's Barber Shop 0; Tony's Pizzeria 2, Elston Sport Shop 1; SRS Home 2, Jones Dairy 1.

Two Tied At 516

Mike Milano strung lines of 154-188-176 to lead the Electrol Night Shift, with Tommy Sickler and Irving Wheatcroft (204) firing 516 for the runnerup slots. George Barringer posted 506. E. Taxter 499, John Raible 492, J. Nau 477 and Ben Schwartz 474. Team results: Assembly 3, Inspection 0; Turrets 2, Drilling 1; Foremen 2, Plating 1; Grinding 2, Dispatch 1.

Tenedini Shoots 466

Livia Tenedini reeled off 466 for second best series in the Nite Cap circuit at New Paltz, with Betty Schulte hitting 433, R. Brown 419, L. Mostransky 409, F. La Porte 408, G. Hotaling 403, J. Knickerbocker 401, Lillian Bloomer 400. Team results: Amocoettes 3, Lorenzens 0; Pete's Meat Market 2, New Paltz Saving Bank 1; Downtown Market 3, Venetians 0; Mobil-Flame 3, Coppola's Service 0.

Ellen Hutton and Mae McCaffrey each powered 495s in the Central Rec women's loop. Emma Pratt bombed 468, Amy Mauro 431, Ann Dittmar 421, Marge Jansen 450, June Korth 435, Betty Ostrander 424, T. Reis 486, Jessie Burnet 431, N. Winnie 434, A. Wrinn 427 and Jennie Spada 481. Team results: Fuller Shirts 3, Old Capital Motors 0; Vanderlyn Battery 2, Bowery Dugout 1; Regina's 1½, Stone Ridge Ladies 1½; Jones Dairy 2, Team No. 2 (1).

Syracuse University's Archbold Stadium, one of the oldest concrete bowls in the country, is now in its 47th season. The first game was played there in 1907.

Sande, Once King Plans Comeback

New York, Oct. 2 (AP)—Earl Sande, turf idol of the golden twenties, has applied for a riding license and plans a comeback at the age of 54—probably during the current Belmont Park meeting.

It's been 21 years since the popular little "handy guy," winner of three Kentucky Derbies, hung up his tack for a brief night club singing career followed by several years as a successful trainer.

In 1948, Sande's stable numbered 20 horses. A year later he had five.

Today it is down to one, a well-bred unraced two-year-old filly by the name of Cygni and the one-time toast of the turf finds himself in need of money.

"I want to pay off some debts and this is the trade I know," he said. "I hope I can be riding before the present Belmont meeting closes." The meeting ends Oct. 10.

Sande said he had been assured by Marshall Cassidy, steward of the Jockey Club, that he could get a license if desired.

Will Attend Series

New York, Oct. 2 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will take time off today from executive affairs to attend the Yankees-Dodgers World Series game. The governor said yesterday he was taking his two sons, Thomas Jr. and John, to the game and told newsmen: "I am neutral and my sons are Giant fans." Both sons are students at Princeton University, Thomas a senior and John a freshman.

Jack Houghtaling Cops Second Place

Kingston High's cross country Jayvees yielded first place to Montgomery High's Walt Honkola in a dual meet here yesterday but grabbed the next three spots to score a 25-30 victory over the Orange county runners.

Honkola flashed across the tape a step ahead of the Maroon's Jack Houghtaling in 13 minutes 37 seconds. Houghtaling was clocked in 13:38, followed by Robert Coale and Lionel Kogan in that order in 13:45 and 13:51.

The Jayvees resume their schedule next Thursday at Onteora Central, while Coach G. Warren Kias' varsity was scheduled to entertain Middletown High in the DUSO League opener today at 4 p. m. at municipal stadium.

The order of finish yesterday:
1. Honkola, Montgomery, 13:37
2. Houghtaling, K, 13:38
3. Coale, Kingston, 13:45
4. Kogan, Kingston, 13:51
5. Funk, Montgomery, 14:04
6. Conroy, Montgomery, 14:12

Newspapers Must Meet Obligations

Any newspaper is faced with three responsibilities: one to its owner, one to the public, and one to good journalism.

Before any newspaper can fulfill its debt to the public it must first meet its obligation to its owner. It must make money.

A newspaper is a business as well as a public service. It must be a business which pays its own way without government subsidy or gift from class or industry. It must put out material worth the price of subscription and advertising.

If it does this and maintains its self-respect, in that it prints the news as it happens with respect to its importance, it is a public service. Otherwise it might become a private service sold to the highest bidder. The greatest shame here is that the ignorant will accept its front page as the truth and the informed will lose respect for all honest journalism. Because of this, truth is the greatest virtue of journalism. Truth in newspaper writing is not an idealistic goal, but a thing which must be attained and kept.

The newspaper must speak the truth, not as the publisher sees it, but as it happened. Cold fact and commentary must be separated.

A newspaper must print all the news, not what appeals to the majority or slights the minority. For this is prejudice, and the shame of a public service. Creation is not the responsibility of the newspaper. Reproduction is. A good newspaper contains a full, unbiased account of what happened.

If it is written in a manner which will induce thinking it approaches literature. If it is written in a clear style, bringing action to the reader, making him feel the situation, and written so that all who subscribe to it can understand, it is literature. And it is fulfilling its responsibilities to its owner, public, and itself.

Schafer Becomes Secretary of YMCA

LOUIS H. SCHAFER

Louis H. Schafer, associated with the local YMCA since 1943, is its new general secretary, according to an announcement from Elmer Rylance, president of the board of directors.

Schafer succeeds Burton S. Tandy who resigned as secretary to accept a job with the New York State Thruway Authority.

George McElroy of Oyster Bay has joined the staff of the YM in the capacity of physical director to succeed Schafer.

A graduate of Springfield College in 1924, Schafer, before coming to this city served 14 years in the YMCA in New London and previous to that for six years in Greenwich, Conn.

It was through his association with Burt Tandy that Schafer came to Kingston.

Was High School Coach

Prior to entering YMCA activities through Springfield College, Schafer served three years as physical director in the high school at LeRoy, and while there attended summer sessions at Cornell University summer school of physical education.

Schafer has boosted the membership of the Y during his 10 years of service here and the gymnasium and swimming pool are busy places every day in the week. He has instituted special activities such as the basketball tournament and Old Timers night.

Taught 6,000 to Swim

As a certified basketball official he has become known throughout the Hudson Valley, and his other projects have made him acquainted with thousands. It is estimated that Schafer has taught 6,000 boys and girls how to swim. He has conducted life saving classes for both the YMCA and Red Cross.

His YM day camp at DeWitt Lake has grown from 50 campers in 1943 to 150, who visit it every day during the summer.

Schafer is not entirely new in the secretarial post, he having exercised such duties in the past, especially during the period since March 1, during which he served as associate general secretary with responsibility for success of the annual financial campaign to support the organization.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

School Drills Are Set to Observe Fire Prevention

Woodstock, Oct. 1—With the approach of Fire Prevention Week, beginning Monday, Oct. 5, Fire Chief George Haythorne has announced that fire drills have been arranged for the Woodstock, Zena and Bearsville Schools during that week. A fire drill has already been performed at Mrs. Pauline Baldwin's nursing home in Lake Hill.

Aaron Van De Bogart, Jr., of the Conservation Department has reminded residents that fire permits are necessary for burning of brush. No burning, however, is permitted on Sunday. Permits may be obtained through Van De Bogart in Wittenberg, or from Haythorne in Woodstock. Van De Bogart urges residents to plan to burn brush and refuse before the leaves fall and during wet weather. Burning during the fall dry season should be avoided.

The hunting season, which will soon be open, also produces another fire hazard, according to Van De Bogart. Extreme caution should be taken with the disposal of cigarettes, matches, cigars and ashes by hunters in the woods.

Since all fire fighting personnel in the area, with the exception of the Conservation Department, is volunteer, residents are urged to cooperate with their local fire department and the Conservation Department in the prevention of fire, and to observe the regulations outlined for safety.

Has Cooperation

In his district Van De Bogart says he is assured of excellent cooperation from the fire departments, and Chief Haythorne is always confident of the support given by the Conservation Department in the event of an emergency. The recent fire at the Mead Mountain House provided an excellent example of how the two groups combine their efforts. The Conservation Department stationed a large number of men working in surrounding woods with Indian tanks while the Woodstock and West Hurley Fire Companies combatted the flames in the barn.

Maintaining a constant vigil during the critical summer months are Barnet Howland at the Conservation Department's Overlook Mountain fire tower and Harry Baldwin at the Mt. Tremper tower. From Overlook the towns of Woodstock, Bearsville, Sawkill and West Hurley are under constant observation while the Mt. Tremper tower guards Phoenicia, Boiceville, West Shokan, Willow, Mt. Tremper and Wittenberg.

Building Permits Total $174,679

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy issued 58 building permits at a total estimated cost of $174,679 in September.

This was $106,423 above the August total when 53 permits were issued.

Of the total last month nine permits were issued for new dwellings at an estimated total cost of $79,000. Permits for non-residential structures included one for a diner (near Empire Market) at $50,000. Nine permits were issued for private garages at $8,550 and one for a shed at $250.

The chief issued seven permits for alterations, additions and repairs on residential buildings at $5,947 and three for the same purpose on non-residential structures at $14,300. For oil tanks and burners 28 permits were issued at $16,632.

O & W Cars Overturn

Fulton, Oct. 2 (AP)—Two cars of a New York, Ontario & Western freight train overturned last night while being switched onto a siding. No one was injured. The cause of the wreck was not determined immediately. About 400 feet of track was torn up but the single-track line was not blocked.

Ferraro Hits 631 Series To Lead City's Bowlers

It took a couple weeks but the Old Pro moved into the bowling headlines last night in Major League action at the Bowlodrome.

Johnny Ferraro relinquished high single honors to Bill Lawrence and Angelo Ferraro, who fired 236s, but he put together lines of 193-227-211 for high series honors of 631. It was the first time this season he had rolled high triple in a league he invariably leads in high average.

Distaff honors went to Mae McCaffrey of the Central Rec circut with 203 and Nellie Alverson of the Nite Cap League of New Paltz with 517. She also fired a 201 solo.

Davis Cracks 613

There were only three "600" sets besides Ferraro's 631 in the major circuit. Bruce Davis sandwiched a 158 with 230 and 225 for 613; Harold Broskie toppled 213-210-611 and Bill Lawrence shot 600 on the nose with 208-236.

Charlie Grunenwald accounted for 225-596, Larry Weishaupt hit 212-202-593, Cliff Davis 571, George Shufeldt 203-579, Joe Ausanio 215-574, Ralph Garafola 203-571, Millie Berardi 204-578; Lou Guadagnola 224-564, Len Freer 569, John Swint 560, Huck Svirsky 217-560.

Tony's Pizzeria, the professional team in the circuit, led with high single of 1056 and high triple of 2887. Petersen's pounded 1005.

Team results:

Petersen's 2, Smith Ave. Storage 1; Old Capital Motors 3, Jay's Shoe Store 0; United Pharmacy 2, Rafalowsky's 1; Silsby Motors 3, Mannie's Barber Shop 0; Tony's Pizzeria 2, Elston Sport Shop 1; SRS Home 2, Jones Dairy 1.

Two Tied At 516

Mike Milano strung lines of 154-188-176 to lead the Electrol Night Shift, with Tommy Sickler and Irving Wheatcroft (204) firing 516 for the runnerup slots. George Barringer posted 506, E. Taxter 499, John Raible 492, J. Nau 477 and Ben Schwartz 474. Team results: Assembly 3, Inspection 0; Turrets 2, Drilling 1; Foremen 2, Plating 1; Grinding 2, Dispatch 1.

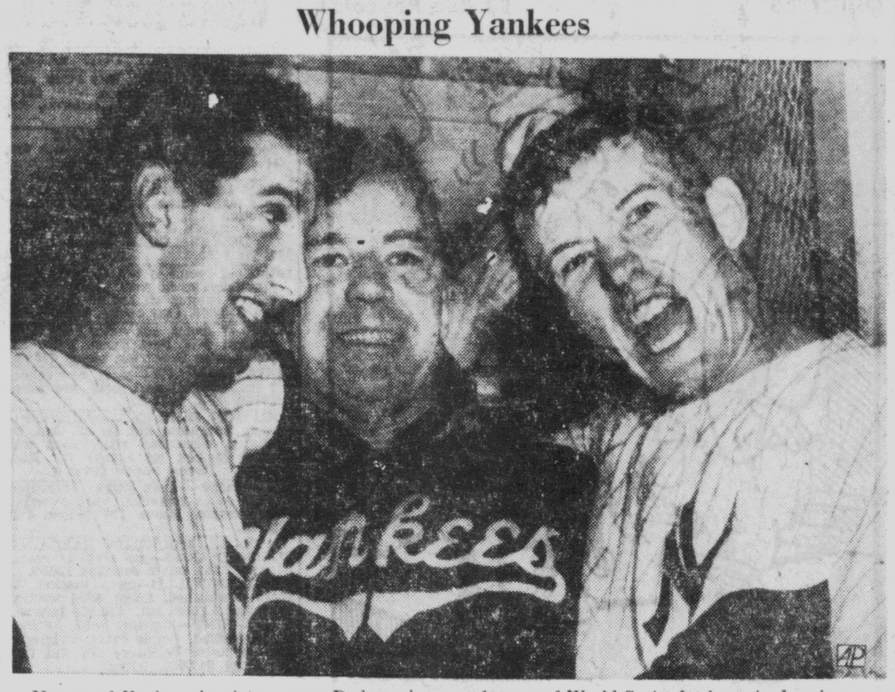
Tenedini Shoots 466

Livia Tenedini reeled off 466 for second best series in the Nite Cap circuit at New Paltz, with Betty Schulte hitting 433, R. Brown 419, L. Mostransky 409, F. La Porte 408, G. Hotaling 403, J. Knickerbocker 401, Lillian Bloomer 400. Team results: Amocoettes 3, Lorenzens 0; Pete's Meat Market 2, New Paltz Saving Bank 1; Downtown Market 3, Venetians 0; Mobil-Flame 3, Coppola's Service 0.

Ellen Hutton and Mae McCaffrey each powered 495s in the Central Rec women's loop. Emma Pratt bombed 468, Amy Mauro 431, Ann Dittmar 421, Marge Jansen 450, June Korth 435, Betty Ostrander 424, T. Reis 486, Jessie Burnet 431, N. Winnie 434, A. Wrinn 427 and Jennie Spada 481. Team results: Fuller Shirts 3, Old Capital Motors 0; Vanderlyn Battery 2, Bowery Dugout 1; Regina's 1½, Stone Ridge Ladies 1½; Jones Dairy 2, Team No. 2 (1).

Syracuse University's Archbold Stadium, one of the oldest concrete bowls in the country, is now in its 47th season. The first game was played there in 1907.

Whooping Yankees



Heroes of Yankees in victory over Dodgers in second game of World Series let loose in dressing room at Yankee Stadium after 4-2 win. From left are Billy Martin, whose homer tied the score; winning pitcher Ed Lopat; and Mickey Mantle, who cracked a two-run homer in eighth inning to give the Yankees their second straight win.

Jayvee Cross Country Squad Wins Over Montgomery, 25-30

Jack Houghtaling Cops Second Place

Kingston High's cross country Jayvees yielded first place to Montgomery High's Walt Honkola in a dual meet here yesterday but grabbed the next three spots to score a 25-30 victory over the Orange county runners.

Honkola flashed across the tape a step ahead of the Maroon's Jack Houghtaling in 13 minutes 37 seconds. Houghtaling was clocked in 13:38, followed by Robert Coale and Lionel Kogan in that order in 13:45 and 13:51.

The Jayvees resume their schedule next Thursday at Onteora Central, while Coach G. Warren Kias' varsity was scheduled to entertain Middletown High in the DUSO League opener today at 4 p. m. at municipal stadium.

The order of finish yesterday:
1. Honkola, Montgomery, 13:37
2. Houghtaling, K, 13:38
3. Coale, Kingston, 13:45
4. Kogan, Kingston, 13:51
5. Funk, Montgomery, 14:04
6. Conroy, Montgomery, 14:12
7. Culjak, Kingston, 14:20
8. Jennings, Montgomery, 14:36

Sande, Once King Plans Comeback

New York, Oct. 2 (AP)—Earl Sande, turf idol of the golden twenties, has applied for a riding license and plans a comeback at the age of 54—probably during the current Belmont Park meeting.

It's been 21 years since the popular little "handy guy," winner of three Kentucky Derbies, hung up his tack for a brief night club singing career followed by several years as a successful trainer.

In 1948, Sande's stable numbered 20 horses. A year later he had five.

Today it is down to one, a well-bred unraced two-year-old filly by the name of Cygni and the one-time toast of the turf finds himself in need of money.

"I want to pay off some debts and this is the trade I know," he said. "I hope I can be riding before the present Belmont meeting closes." The meeting ends Oct. 10.

Sande said he had been assured by Marshall Cassidy, steward of the Jockey Club, that he could get a license if desired.

Will Attend Series

New York, Oct. 2 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will take time off today from executive affairs to attend the Yankees-Dodgers World Series game. The governor said yesterday he was taking his two sons, Thomas Jr. and John, to the game and told newsmen: "I am neutral and my sons are Giant fans." Both sons are students at Princeton University, Thomas a senior and John a freshman.

Newspapers Must Meet Obligations

Any newspaper is faced with three responsibilities: one to its owner, one to the public, and one to good journalism.

Before any newspaper can fulfill its debt to the public it must first meet its obligation to its owner. It must make money.

A newspaper is a business as well as a public service. It must be a business which pays its own way without government subsidy or gift from class or industry. It must put out material worth the price of subscription and advertising.

If it does this and maintains its self-respect, in that it prints the news as it happens with respect to its importance, it is a public service. Otherwise it might become a private service sold to the highest bidder. The greatest shame here is that the ignorant will accept its front page as the truth and the informed will lose respect for all honest journalism. Because of this, truth is the greatest virtue of journalism. Truth in newspaper writing is not an idealistic goal, but a thing which must be attained and kept.

The newspaper must speak the truth, not as the publisher sees it, but as it happened. Cold fact and commentary must be separated.

A newspaper must print all the news, not what appeals to the majority or slights the minority. For this is prejudice, and the shame of a public service. Creation is not the responsibility of the newspaper. Reproduction is. A good newspaper contains a full, unbiased account of what happened.

If it is written in a manner which will induce thinking it approaches literature. If it is written in a clear style, bringing action to the reader, making him feel the situation, and written so that all who subscribe to it can understand, it is literature. And it is fulfilling its responsibilities to its owner, public, and itself.

Schafer Becomes Secretary of YMCA

LOUIS H. SCHAFER

Louis H. Schafer, associated with the local YMCA since 1943, is its new general secretary, according to an announcement from Elmer Rylance, president of the board of directors.

Schafer succeeds Burton S. Tandy who resigned as secretary to accept a job with the New York State Thruway Authority.

George McElroy of Oyster Bay has joined the staff of the YM in the capacity of physical director to succeed Schafer.

A graduate of Springfield College in 1924, Schafer, before coming to this city served 14 years in the YMCA in New London and previous to that for six years in Greenwich, Conn.

It was through his association with Burt Tandy that Schafer came to Kingston.

Was High School Coach

Prior to entering YMCA activities through Springfield College, Schafer served three years as physical director in the high school at LeRoy, and while there attended summer sessions at Cornell University summer school of physical education.

Schafer has boosted the membership of the Y during his 10 years of service here and the gymnasium and swimming pool are busy places every day in the week. He has instituted special activities such as the basketball tournament and Old Timers night.

Taught 6,000 to Swim

As a certified basketball official he has become known throughout the Hudson Valley, and his other projects have made him acquainted with thousands. It is estimated that Schafer has taught 6,000 boys and girls how to swim. He has conducted life saving classes for both the YMCA and Red Cross.

His YM day camp at DeWitt Lake has grown from 50 campers in 1943 to 150, who visit it every day during the summer.

Schafer is not entirely new in the secretarial post, he having exercised such duties in the past, especially during the period since March 1, during which he served as associate general secretary with responsibility for success of the annual financial campaign to support the organization.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

School Drills Are Set to Observe Fire Prevention

Woodstock, Oct. 1—With the approach of Fire Prevention Week, beginning Monday, Oct. 5, Fire Chief George Haythorne has announced that fire drills have been arranged for the Woodstock, Zena and Bearsville Schools during that week. A fire drill has already been performed at Mrs. Pauline Baldwin's nursing home in Lake Hill.

Aaron Van De Bogart, Jr., of the Conservation Department has reminded residents that fire permits are necessary for burning of brush. No burning, however, is permitted on Sunday. Permits may be obtained through Van De Bogart in Wittenberg, or from Haythorne in Woodstock. Van De Bogart urges residents to plan to burn brush and refuse before the leaves fall and during wet weather. Burning during the fall dry season should be avoided.

The hunting season, which will soon be open, also produces another fire hazard, according to Van De Bogart. Extreme caution should be taken with the disposal of cigarettes, matches, cigars and ashes by hunters in the woods.

Since all fire fighting personnel in the area, with the exception of the Conservation Department, is volunteer, residents are urged to cooperate with their local fire department and the Conservation Department in the prevention of fire, and to observe the regulations outlined for safety.

Has Cooperation

In his district Van De Bogart says he is assured of excellent cooperation from the fire departments, and Chief Haythorne is always confident of the support given by the Conservation Department in the event of an emergency. The recent fire at the Mead Mountain House provided an excellent example of how the two groups combine their efforts. The Conservation Department stationed a large number of men working in surrounding woods with Indian tanks while the Woodstock and West Hurley Fire Companies combatted the flames in the barn.

Maintaining a constant vigil during the critical summer months are Barnet Howland at the Conservation Department's Overlook Mountain fire tower and Harry Baldwin at the Mt. Tremper tower. From Overlook the towns of Woodstock, Bearsville, Sawkill and West Hurley are under constant observation while the Mt. Tremper tower guards Phoenicia, Boiceville, West Shokan, Willow, Mt. Tremper and Wittenberg.

Building Permits Total $174,679

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy issued 58 building permits at a total estimated cost of $174,679 in September.

This was $106,423 above the August total when 53 permits were issued.

Of the total last month nine permits were issued for new dwellings at an estimated total cost of $79,000. Permits for non-residential structures included one for a diner (near Empire Market) at $50,000. Nine permits were issued for private garages at $8,550 and one for a shed at $250.

The chief issued seven permits for alterations, additions and repairs on residential buildings at $5,947 and three for the same purpose on non-residential structures at $14,300. For oil tanks and burners 28 permits were issued at $16,632.

O & W Cars Overturn

Fulton, Oct. 2 (AP)—Two cars of a New York, Ontario & Western freight train overturned last night while being switched onto a siding. No one was injured. The cause of the wreck was not determined immediately. About 400 feet of track was torn up but the single-track line was not blocked.

Olive Candidates Picked by Parties

Claude Bell was renominated for supervisor of the town of Olive by acclamation at a large and harmonious Republican town caucus held at Olive Bridge IOOF Hall on September 26. The meeting was presided over by the Town of Olive Republican Club chairman, H. Edgar Timmerman. Justice of the Peace Frank C. Carle, Jr., was secretary. Tellers were Helen Lang and former Justice of the Peace Jesse B. Shurter.

Howard Trowbridge, present town superintendent of highways and Alva Buley were nominated for the office. On the vote Mr. Trowbridge received 90 votes and Mr. Buley 31. This was the only contest, the remaining nominations being by acclamation.

Other Nominations

Homer Markle, Jr., present assessor and Mrs. Pauline Lortz were named for town clerk but the latter withdrew before the nomination was seconded. Mrs. Jessie DuBois was re-nominated for collector. Otis Barringer was re-nominated for assessor for the full term and Elwyn C. Davis for a two year term. John Addis and Bradford Kelder, both World War 2 veterans, were named for justice of the peace for the four year terms and Deputy Sheriff Claude N. Beidler for the two years to fill out the unexpired term of Lester S. Davis who resigned after receiving the temporary appointment as West Shokan postmaster.

Democrat Slate

On Monday evening the Democratic caucus for the town of Olive was held with Joe Friedburg, World War 1 marine veteran as chairman. This caucus was also held in the Olive Bridge Hall. Donald F. Bishop was named candidate for supervisor; Grant Avery, superintendent of highways; Mrs. Delia Lewis, renominated for town clerk; collector, Miss Gladys Van DeMark; assessor for full term, Charles Gustavson, re-nominated for his third term; John B. Davis, former collector and assessor, was named for the two year term as assessor; Raymond Bell re-nominated for his third term, justice for the full term; James McGlocklin, justice for full term and Mrs. Catherine Carlson of Shokan, justice for two year term.

June Haver Out Of Religious Life

Santa Monica, Calif., Oct. 2 (AP)—June Haver's mother says she believes "Junie realized almost from the start—months ago—that she had made a mistake" in deciding to become a nun.

The mother, Mrs. Andrew Ottestad, expressed belief yesterday that the former film star's return home from a Kansas convent is permanent.

"All her life she has been devoted to her family—a real home girl," Mrs. Ottestad continued. "You can certainly understand this made her homesick, made it difficult for her to readjust to the schedule of a religious life."

The former $3,500-a-week star returned Tuesday night from the Sisters of Charity convent, Xavier, Kan., which she entered 7½ months ago.

Mrs. Ottestad said of Miss Haver's statement upon her return that her leave was only temporary:

"I believe June was advised to give that explanation. In leaving the convent she went through regular withdrawal channels. The fact that she left in street clothing is proof that her training to become a nun is over."

Register to Vote

Register tonight or Saturday so you can vote in the general election to be held in November. You have to register, if you want to vote. The polls will be open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

The total school registration is 168. He also announced that the American Legion was purchasing a new flag for the school. A letter of resignation as music director by Mrs. Florence Christman was read. Mrs. Cleon Robinson, president, gave the report on the coupons. She said with the money earned a tape recorder was purchased for the school, new silverware for the association and educational trips financed for the school children. It was announced that more Den Mothers are needed if the Cub Scouts are to continue. Anyone interested may call Mrs. Robinson. Mrs. Florence Ellsworth was presented with a gift in appreciation of the 10 years of service as secretary. The October meeting will be held Oct. 28. Refreshments will be in charge of Room 4. The award for having the most parents in attendance went to Room 4. Refreshments and a social hour were enjoyed at the conclusion of the meeting.

After 16 Weeks

diary of the trip, wrote every day, but wasn't sure about writing a book.

Cayla swept a comb through her blonde hair and passed it to Miss Galpin. Flash bulbs popped.

The adventurous cowpokes were looking good but the reporter thought the horses looked a little sleepy.

"They're not really tired," Miss Hitzig said, "though everybody thinks so." She said they "eat all night."

Miss Hitzig, noted for her horsemanship, was a little perturbed at the thought of riding into Woodstock today with a western style saddle. Seems she used to pan it, preferring the English saddle.

"After running down the western saddle," she moaned, "now I'm going to ride into Woodstock on one." The Western saddle is larger and more comfortable for the kind of riding Miss Hitzig and her chums have been doing for nigh going on four months.

"I thought you didn't like horses," the photographer said to Rupert, who was reading a magazine as he rode.

"That still goes," Rupert replied with a grin.

"Well," said Miss Hitzig, saying goodbye, "I guess we'll stagger on in!"

"Regulation of Printing"

All Colonial governors sent by England to her American colonies between 1686 and 1730 were instructed to regulate all printing strictly "forasmuch as great inconvenience may arise by liberty of printing."

As Pegler Sees It

out of the cabinet calling him a liar.

The work of Morgan and Delaguch finally emboldened a group of Kansas City citizens to visit Washington and plead for a congressional inquiry. After the hearings, the building trades department of the AF of L reorganized its local council and work slowly resumed. But the point was not given any emphasis by Ike in his cringing approach to the AF of L, that the master organization itself had the ultimate responsibility and had been guilty of terrible sabotage by its own indifference. Now it has thrown out Ryan but it hasn't even admonished Beck, or William E. Maloney of the Engineers.

The congressional report said the Building Trades Council was dominated by Beck's local bosses holding charters from the teamsters and sent the evidence to the Department of Justice and the local U. S. district attorney. The department will do nothing but the local grand jury did indict Ring in two batches of charges including robbery, felonious assault and embezzlement. Two others of the same group, Floyd Hayes, president, and Stanley Clevenger, business agent of Teamsters' Local 41, were indicted as perjurors before the grand jury.

A maximum of 25,000 men were out of work at one time in the Kansas City area simply because Ring was claiming jurisdiction over work that didn't properly belong to his union. There had been "an appalling amount of inter-union and intra-union violence with members of some craft, fearful for their safety, refusing to work" or even to meet with other men in the same general line of work. At Lake City Arsenal 171 calendar days were lost by strikes since 1951 and 17 strikes at Sunflower had thrown the schedule back 20 weeks. The jet wing plant at Claycomo (Clay county, Missouri) was shut from Jan. 2 to Feb. 26 because two unions claimed the right to push a button to start an automatic heater.

Altogether four jurisdictional strikes cost 250,000 man-hours at Claycomo. In one of these rows, Ring led a gang of 100 men in automobiles to drive off a bunch of workmen who claimed the right to unload pipe from a truck. Ring's authority came straight from Dave Beck, who has been strongly promoted in print to succeed Joe Ryan on the docks.

Columbia Sheriff

there was not adequate evidence of an indictable offense either by the sheriff or by merchants with whom he dealt."

Saulpaugh, 56, declined to comment last night on the report. His term expires this year and he is not seeking re-election.

Saulpaugh and the others appeared before the extraordinary grand jury conducting the 21-month-old inquiry.

Refused Answers

In December, 1951, Saulpaugh testified at a public hearing held here by the State Crime Commission. He refused to answer questions about jail operations on the ground that his answers might incriminate him.

A Hudson food merchant, Harvey K. Neibergall, testified that he made what he termed a $500 political contribution to Saulpaugh. But he maintained that it had no bearing on an arrangement under which he said he supplied about 50 per cent of the food for the jail.

Saulpaugh resigned Jan. 3, 1952, as Republican county chairman.

The report was submitted by Robert E. Moore of New York, a member of the State Correction Commission, and George F. Venter Jr., senior inspector of the Correction Department.

Part of the study analyzed meat purchases for 1950, 1951 and the first eight months of 1952.

"If all the meat paid for had been delivered to the jail and served to the prisoners, each prisoner would have consumed well over one pound of meat per meal," it said.

Saulpaugh has been sheriff since 1935 and also held the post in 1930-1933.

Olive Candidates Picked by Parties

Claude Bell was renominated for supervisor of the town of Olive by acclamation at a large and harmonious Republican town caucus held at Olive Bridge IOOF Hall on September 26. The meeting was presided over by the Town of Olive Republican Club chairman, H. Edgar Timmerman. Justice of the Peace Frank C. Carle, Jr., was secretary. Tellers were Helen Lang and former Justice of the Peace Jesse B. Shurter.

Howard Trowbridge, present town superintendent of highways and Alva Buley were nominated for the office. On the vote Mr. Trowbridge received 90 votes and Mr. Buley 31. This was the only contest, the remaining nominations being by acclamation.

Other Nominations

Homer Markle, Jr., present assessor and Mrs. Pauline Lortz were named for town clerk but the latter withdrew before the nomination was seconded. Mrs. Jessie DuBois was re-nominated for collector. Otis Barringer was re-nominated for assessor for the full term and Elwyn C. Davis for a two year term. John Addis and Bradford Kelder, both World War 2 veterans, were named for justice of the peace for the four year terms and Deputy Sheriff Claude N. Beidler for the two years to fill out the unexpired term of Lester S. Davis who resigned after receiving the temporary appointment as West Shokan postmaster.

Democrat Slate

On Monday evening the Democratic caucus for the town of Olive was held with Joe Friedburg, World War 1 marine veteran as chairman. This caucus was also held in the Olive Bridge Hall. Donald F. Bishop was named candidate for supervisor; Grant Avery, superintendent of highways; Mrs. Delia Lewis, renominated for town clerk; collector, Miss Gladys Van DeMark; assessor for full term, Charles Gustavson, re-nominated for his third term; John B. Davis, former collector and assessor, was named for the two year term as assessor; Raymond Bell re-nominated for his third term, justice for the full term; James McGlocklin, justice for full term and Mrs. Catherine Carlson of Shokan, justice for two year term.

June Haver Out Of Religious Life

Santa Monica, Calif., Oct. 2 (AP)—June Haver's mother says she believes "Junie realized almost from the start—months ago—that she had made a mistake" in deciding to become a nun.

The mother, Mrs. Andrew Ottestad, expressed belief yesterday that the former film star's return home from a Kansas convent is permanent.

"All her life she has been devoted to her family—a real home girl," Mrs. Ottestad continued. "You can certainly understand this made her homesick, made it difficult for her to readjust to the schedule of a religious life."

The former $3,500-a-week star returned Tuesday night from the Sisters of Charity convent, Xavier, Kan., which she entered 7½ months ago.

Mrs. Ottestad said of Miss Haver's statement upon her return that her leave was only temporary:

"I believe June was advised to give that explanation. In leaving the convent she went through regular withdrawal channels. The fact that she left in street clothing is proof that her training to become a nun is over."

At the September meeting of the Port Ewen School Association the following officers were elected: Mrs. Cleon Robinson, president; Mrs. William Ferguson, vice-president; Mrs. Walter Schussler, secretary; Mrs. Bernard Darling, treasurer. The president also appointed as committee chairmen: Robert Graves, finance; Mrs. Charles Montifia, membership; Mrs. John Houghtaling, program; Mrs. Walter Schussler, publicity; Mrs. J. R. Short, coupon finance. East teacher will serve as chairman of the refreshment committee for her room. Principal Robert Graves reported school registration as follows: Kindergarten, 38, Mrs. Schussler; Room 1, 38, Mrs. Ellsworth; Room 2, 39, Mrs. Cole; Room 3, 23, Mrs. Rightmyer; Room 4, 29, Mr. Graves. The total school registration is 168. He also announced that the American Legion was purchasing a new flag for the school. A letter of resignation as music director by Mrs. Florence Christman was read. Mrs. Cleon Robinson, president, gave the report on the coupons. She said with the money earned a tape recorder was purchased for the school, new silverware for the association and educational trips financed for the school children. It was announced that more Den Mothers are needed if the Cub Scouts are to continue. Anyone interested may call Mrs. Robinson. Mrs. Florence Ellsworth was presented with a gift in appreciation of the 10 years of service as secretary. The October meeting will be held Oct. 28. Refreshments will be in charge of Room 4. The award for having the most parents in attendance went to Room 4. Refreshments and a social hour were enjoyed at the conclusion of the meeting.

After 16 Weeks

diary of the trip, wrote every day, but wasn't sure about writing a book.

Cayla swept a comb through her blonde hair and passed it to Miss Galpin. Flash bulbs popped.

The adventurous cowpokes were looking good but the reporter thought the horses looked a little sleepy.

"They're not really tired," Miss Hitzig said, "though everybody thinks so." She said they "eat all night."

Miss Hitzig, noted for her horsemanship, was a little perturbed at the thought of riding into Woodstock today with a western style saddle. Seems she used to pan it, preferring the English saddle.

"After running down the western saddle," she moaned, "now I'm going to ride into Woodstock on one." The Western saddle is larger and more comfortable for the kind of riding Miss Hitzig and her chums have been doing for nigh going on four months.

"I thought you didn't like horses," the photographer said to Rupert, who was reading a magazine as he rode.

"That still goes," Rupert replied with a grin.

"Well," said Miss Hitzig, saying goodbye, "I guess we'll stagger on in!"

"Regulation of Printing"

All Colonial governors sent by England to her American colonies between 1686 and 1730 were instructed to regulate all printing strictly "forasmuch as great inconvenience may arise by liberty of printing."

As Pegler Sees It

out of the cabinet calling him a liar.

The work of Morgan and Delaguch finally emboldened a group of Kansas City citizens to visit Washington and plead for a congressional inquiry. After the hearings, the building trades department of the AF of L reorganized its local council and work slowly resumed. But the point was not given any emphasis by Ike in his cringing approach to the AF of L, that the master organization itself had the ultimate responsibility and had been guilty of terrible sabotage by its own indifference. Now it has thrown out Ryan but it hasn't even admonished Beck, or William E. Maloney of the Engineers.

The congressional report said the Building Trades Council was dominated by Beck's local bosses holding charters from the teamsters and sent the evidence to the Department of Justice and the local U. S. district attorney. The department will do nothing but the local grand jury did indict Ring in two batches of charges including robbery, felonious assault and embezzlement. Two others of the same group, Floyd Hayes, president, and Stanley Clevenger, business agent of Teamsters' Local 41, were indicted as perjurors before the grand jury.

A maximum of 25,000 men were out of work at one time in the Kansas City area simply because Ring was claiming jurisdiction over work that didn't properly belong to his union. There had been "an appalling amount of inter-union and intra-union violence with members of some craft, fearful for their safety, refusing to work" or even to meet with other men in the same general line of work. At Lake City Arsenal 171 calendar days were lost by strikes since 1951 and 17 strikes at Sunflower had thrown the schedule back 20 weeks. The jet wing plant at Claycomo (Clay county, Missouri) was shut from Jan. 2 to Feb. 26 because two unions claimed the right to push a button to start an automatic heater.

Altogether four jurisdictional strikes cost 250,000 man-hours at Claycomo. In one of these rows, Ring led a gang of 100 men in automobiles to drive off a bunch of workmen who claimed the right to unload pipe from a truck. Ring's authority came straight from Dave Beck, who has been strongly promoted in print to succeed Joe Ryan on the docks.

Columbia Sheriff

there was not adequate evidence of an indictable offense either by the sheriff or by merchants with whom he dealt."

Saulpaugh, 56, declined to comment last night on the report. His term expires this year and he is not seeking re-election.

Saulpaugh and the others appeared before the extraordinary grand jury conducting the 21-month-old inquiry.

Refused Answers

In December, 1951, Saulpaugh testified at a public hearing held here by the State Crime Commission. He refused to answer questions about jail operations on the ground that his answers might incriminate him.

A Hudson food merchant, Harvey K. Neibergall, testified that he made what he termed a $500 political contribution to Saulpaugh. But he maintained that it had no bearing on an arrangement under which he said he supplied about 50 per cent of the food for the jail.

Saulpaugh resigned Jan. 3, 1952, as Republican county chairman.

The report was submitted by Robert E. Moore of New York, a member of the State Correction Commission, and George F. Venter Jr., senior inspector of the Correction Department.

Part of the study analyzed meat purchases for 1950, 1951 and the first eight months of 1952.

"If all the meat paid for had been delivered to the jail and served to the prisoners, each prisoner would have consumed well over one pound of meat per meal," it said.

Saulpaugh has been sheriff since 1935 and also held the post in 1930-1933.

Gun Sales Boom And Clamor Grows For End of Terror

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 2 (AP)—Public clamor for an end to Dallas' reign of sex terror rose today as gun sales boomed and talk of vigilante action increased.

The Negro rapist who Wednesday night killed a pretty dime store clerk—Mrs. H. C. Parker, 29—remained at large. Police reported no progress in efforts to nab a nude prowler whose bedroom raids left Dallas women terrified.

Police reported a flurry of minor sex crimes. Three women and four children reported sex offenders had accosted them. Police blamed the flurry on emotional excitement over the Parker slaying Wednesday night.

One To Be Questioned

One Negro fondler was jailed and was to be questioned in the rape-slaying of Mrs. Parker, at Rylie, on the southeast outskirts of the city. Mrs. Louis Amos, 35, was scratched, cut and bruised by an assailant who finally fled, apparently frightened away by her screams.

Gun stores, locksmiths, dog pounds and kennels were doing a landslide business. Two "neighborhood vigilante patrols" were organized.

"It looks like open warfare for sure," a gun dealer said grimly. Other dealers said they had never seen so many people buying guns and ammunition as the mobs in their stores yesterday.

Meanwhile, the harried Dallas Police Department, headed by Chief Carl Hansson, told angry Dallasites to "let the police handle the situation."

Hansson asked that women not go out at night unescorted, to keep their doors locked, and to identify callers before opening doors.

Register to Vote

Register tonight or Saturday so you can vote in the general election to be held in November. You have to register, if you want to vote. The polls will be open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Kiwanis Observes Newspaper Week At Dinner Program

The Kiwanis Club of Kingston observed National Newspaper Week, Oct. 1 to 8, with a special program Thursday noon at its regular meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Joseph Kelly, assistant city editor of The Freeman and Kingston's alderman-at-large, was the guest speaker.

Kelly outlined the steps taken in producing a newspaper, tracing the flow of copy from the reporter, to the city desk where it is edited and given a headline, to the composing room. He then traced the story as it was set in type, placed in page forms or chases, pressed into a matrix from which the cylinder-like plates are made which are placed on the press.

Demonstrates Processes

A number of page mats, photo-engravings, Associated Press teletype stories, promotional releases, and newspapers from other communities in the Hudson Valley were exhibited by Kelly at the meeting.

Chester A. Baltz, Jr., Kiwanis program chairman who introduced Kelly, pointed out that the speaker joined the staff of The Freeman 28 years ago, first working in the job department and later transferring to the sports department. He later became sports editor and held that position until he was promoted to his present job as assistant city editor.

Baltz also read a statement from Donald T. Forsythe, president of Kiwanis International, which pointed out that Kiwanis has championed the cause of the free press for many years, and subscribed to this year's slogan, "An Informed Press Means on Informed People."

Salute to Free Press

The statement continued, in part:

"Again, we salute the newspaper profession for its vigorous and vigilant leadership in alerting the public to extravagance, waste, dishonesty, subversion and other insidious elements tending to undermine our way of life.

"'Freedom of Information' has long been stressed by Kiwanis International through resolutions adopted by delegates at our annual convention and through educational programs activated by most of our 3,600 Kiwanis Clubs. We are deeply grateful that our newspapers present a united and determined front against all efforts directed toward intimidation and repression of the press.

"We staunchly support the Fourth Estate in its forthright, stand to print all of the news for public information, and we assure the news agencies of the continued cooperation and support of more than 218,000 Kiwanians who are vitally interested in this important phase of preserving our freedoms."

International President Forsythe is himself a newspaper publisher, his paper being The Handcock County Journal of Carthage, Ill.

Thursday's High Temperature 78

Yesterday's high temperature of 78 degrees at 2:15 p. m., was unusual for Oct. 1, but it was no kind of a record for the date by the city engineer's records.

The mercury hit 80 degrees on Oct. 1, 1948 and again in 1950. It hit 92 degrees on Oct. 5, 1941 and on the 6th that year it went up to 87.

Even late October can produce warm days and one such day came on Oct. 22, 1947 when the mercury reached 85.

The high here on Sept. 30, was 80 degrees at 3 p. m.

Report on Two Men

The condition of Harold Basralian, 17, of Dumont, N. J., was reported as "fair" and that of William Anderson, 21, of Hillsdale as "good" at the Benedictine Hospital this morning. State police reported they were injured Sept. 28 in a one-car accident on Route 9W a mile north of Malden.

To Dedicate Convent

Newburgh, Oct. 2 (AP)—The mother house and convent of the Order of St. Helena, of the Protestant Episcopal Church, will be dedicated today by Bishop Horace W. B. Donegan of the New York diocese. The structure is adjacent to the Revolutionary War headquarters of Gen. Henry Knox. The order for Episcopal women does teaching and visiting. It was founded in 1945 at Versailles, Ky.

Muller Company Files Bankruptcy

New York, Oct. 1 (Special)—A petition in bankruptcy was filed today in United States District Court here by Charles Frederick Muller, a construction contractor, of West Shokan, who has been in business as the Muller Contracting Company there.

He lists liabilities totaling $72,864, of which $34,751 represents unsecured debts. His assets amount to $11,025, in addition to some insurance.

Among his creditors in Kingston are the Homeseekers' Savings and Loan Association, with secured claims amounting to $23,250, Island Dock, Inc., owed $5,000, Di Donna, of Saugerties road, owed $6,315, and David Gill of 222 East Strand, owed $2,967.

About three tons of bituminous coal per capita are consumed annually in the United States.

Western New York—Continued pleasant fall weather, sunny, warmer today and tomorrow. High today in the mid 70s. Clear, not as cool tonight, low about 50. Variable winds 5-15 miles per hour becoming south-easterly today and southerly 15-30 miles per hour tomorrow.

Gun Sales Boom And Clamor Grows For End of Terror

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 2 (AP)—Public clamor for an end to Dallas' reign of sex terror rose today as gun sales boomed and talk of vigilante action increased.

The Negro rapist who Wednesday night killed a pretty dime store clerk—Mrs. H. C. Parker, 29—remained at large. Police reported no progress in efforts to nab a nude prowler whose bedroom raids left Dallas women terrified.

Police reported a flurry of minor sex crimes. Three women and four children reported sex offenders had accosted them. Police blamed the flurry on emotional excitement over the Parker slaying Wednesday night.

One To Be Questioned

One Negro fondler was jailed and was to be questioned in the rape-slaying of Mrs. Parker, at Rylie, on the southeast outskirts of the city. Mrs. Louis Amos, 35, was scratched, cut and bruised by an assailant who finally fled, apparently frightened away by her screams.

Gun stores, locksmiths, dog pounds and kennels were doing a landslide business. Two "neighborhood vigilante patrols" were organized.

"It looks like open warfare for sure," a gun dealer said grimly. Other dealers said they had never seen so many people buying guns and ammunition as the mobs in their stores yesterday.

Meanwhile, the harried Dallas Police Department, headed by Chief Carl Hansson, told angry Dallasites to "let the police handle the situation."

Hansson asked that women not go out at night unescorted, to keep their doors locked, and to identify callers before opening doors.

Kiwanis Observes Newspaper Week AtDinnerProgram

The Kiwanis Club of Kingston observed National Newspaper Week, Oct. 1 to 8, with a special program Thursday noon at its regular meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Joseph Kelly, assistant city editor of The Freeman and Kingston's alderman-at-large, was the guest speaker.

Kelly outlined the steps taken in producing a newspaper, tracing the flow of copy from the reporter, to the city desk where it is edited and given a headline, to the composing room. He then traced the story as it was set in type, placed in page forms or chases, pressed into a matrix from which the cylinder-like plates are made which are placed on the press.

Demonstrates Processes

A number of page mats, photoengravings, Associated Press teletype stories, promotional releases, and newspapers from other communities in the Hudson Valley were exhibited by Kelly at the meeting.

Chester A. Baltz, Jr., Kiwanis program chairman who introduced Kelly, pointed out that the speaker joined the staff of The Freeman 28 years ago, first working in the job department and later transferring to the sports department. He later became sports editor and held that position until he was promoted to his present job as assistant city editor.

Baltz also read a statement from Donald T. Forsythe, president of Kiwanis International, which pointed out that Kiwanis has championed the cause of the free press for many years, and subscribed to this year's slogan, "An Informed Press Means on Informed People."

Salute to Free Press

The statement continued, in part:

"Again, we salute the newspaper profession for its vigorous and vigilant leadership in alerting the public to extravagance, waste, dishonesty, subversion and other insidious elements tending to undermine our way of life.

"'Freedom of Information' has long been stressed by Kiwanis International through resolutions adopted by delegates at our annual convention and through educational programs activated by most of our 3,600 Kiwanis Clubs. We are deeply grateful that our newspapers present a united and determined front against all efforts directed toward intimidation and repression of the press.

"We staunchly support the Fourth Estate in its forthright, stand to print all of the news for public information, and we assure the news agencies of the continued cooperation and support of more than 218,000 Kiwanians who are vitally interested in this important phase of preserving our freedoms."

International President Forsythe is himself a newspaper publisher, his paper being The Handcock County Journal of Carthage, Ill.

Thursday's High Temperature 78

Yesterday's high temperature of 78 degrees at 2:15 p. m., was unusual for Oct. 1, but it was no kind of a record for the date by the city engineer's records.

The mercury hit 80 degrees on Oct. 1, 1948 and again in 1950. It hit 92 degrees on Oct. 5, 1941 and on the 6th that year it went up to 87.

Even late October can produce warm days and one such day came on Oct. 22, 1947 when the mercury reached 85.

The high here on Sept. 30, was 80 degrees at 3 p. m.

Report on Two Men

The condition of Harold Basralian, 17, of Dumont, N. J., was reported as "fair" and that of William Anderson, 21, of Hillsdale as "good" at the Benedictine Hospital this morning. State police reported they were injured Sept. 28 in a one-car accident on Route 9W a mile north of Malden.

To Dedicate Convent

Newburgh, Oct. 2 (AP)—The mother house and convent of the Order of St. Helena, of the Protestant Episcopal Church, will be dedicated today by Bishop Horace W. B. Donegan of the New York diocese. The structure is adjacent to the Revolutionary War headquarters of Gen. Henry Knox. The order for Episcopal women does teaching and visiting. It was founded in 1945 at Versailles, Ky.

Muller Company Files Bankruptcy

New York, Oct. 1 (Special)—A petition in bankruptcy was filed today in United States District Court here by Charles Frederick Muller, a construction contractor, of West Shokan, who has been in business as the Muller Contracting Company there.

He lists liabilities totaling $72,864, of which $34,751 represents unsecured debts. His assets amount to $11,025, in addition to some insurance.

Among his creditors in Kingston are the Homeseekers' Savings and Loan Association, with secured claims amounting to $23,250, Island Dock, Inc., owed $5,000, Di Donna, of Saugerties road, owed $6,315, and David Gill of 222 East Strand, owed $2,967.

About three tons of bituminous coal per capita are consumed annually in the United States.
